New subpoena limit pleases fraternities

AUSTIN (AP) — A state judge limited the scope of subpoenas issued for fraternities in a hazing investigation, but his ruling still requires the fraternities to produce information.

District Judge Bob Perkins on Monday struck phrasing from the subpoenas which demanded information from the University of Texas fraternities on any "misconduct." He ruled that only information on hazing or other illegal activity could be obtained.

Perkins also ordered fraternities to produce records of internal investigations dating back to Oct. 15, 1988, rather than Jan. 1 of that year. A grand jury investigating fraternhazing issued the subpoenas for all 29 UT fraternities on Nov. 14.

The investigation, directed by Travis County Attorney Ken Oden, began after allegations were reported of assaults, hazing and other illegal activity involving fraternities.

Some fraternities complied with the subpoenas before Monday's ruling, and several were dropped from the investigation because there were no pending complaints involving them.

Perkins' ruling involved six fraternities that still were objecting to portions of the subpoenas.

Oden and lawyers for the fraternities said they were pleased with the ruling.

of the students," she said.

Students who received measles, mumps or rubella immunizations before 1980 need to have their records updated. The shot costs $26 at the health center. The vaccination will last for life.

Tetanus and diphtheria need to be updated every 10 years. The tetanus immunization is $3 and the diphtheria immunization is $2.

All international students, except those from Canada, are required to receive a tuberculosis skin test at the health center. The test costs $3.

Students younger than 19 also are required to have their polio series updated. The health center, however, does not provide this service.

Gonzalez-Lima recommended that students come in between 8 a.m.
