He refused to identify her because he did not want to get her in trouble. He filed the report for record purposes only.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF:

• The center door on the east side of the Doherty Building was shattered and red paint was dripped from the door to the men's restroom.

• Someone entered the Corps Center construction site by tampering with the construction fence and gate. The suspect broke out a window on one of the construction trailers.

• An individual observed a pair of legs with black tennis shoes dangling from the ceiling tiles in the Academic Building. He immediately called 911. The suspect was not located.

• An individual reported someone punctured the left side tires on his 1990 Nissan pick-up truck while parked in Parking Area 56.

• An individual reported someone damaged the antenna on his 1988 Honda Civic.

• Unknown persons turned over the candy machine in the Hart Hall lounge. A representative of Bryan Coca-Cola inspected the machine and found no damage.

MISDEMEANOR THEFT:

• Four bicycles, three backpacks and three license plates were reported missing during the week.

CRIMINAL TRESPASS

• Two Bryan juveniles were detected inside the closed Mt. Aggie and were advised that entry into the area is prohibited without authorization.

• A man found working on a computer in the Veterinary Medical Administration was given a criminal trespass warning.

BURGLARY OF VEHICLE:

HARASSMENT:

• Two people reported receiving harassing phone calls.

RECKLESS DAMAGE OR DESTRUCTION:

• Someone drove a vehicle into the stop sign and pole at the intersection of North Bizell Street and East Main Circle. The sign was temporarily raised into position until repairs could be made.

Act Now

Crime increases during the holiday season, say Crime Prevention Unit officers from Texas A&M's University Police Department.

Most thefts and burglaries occur because of unsecured property or unlocked windows and doors.

The crime prevention unit offers the following tips to advise students, faculty and staff members how to secure their property and reduce the risk of becoming a crime victim:

• Engrave or mark your property, even backpacks and books. Never leave property unattended. Take it with you or lock it up.

• Take pictures of jewelry. Keep jewelry and money locked up.

• Make sure your bicycle is registered, engraved and secured.

• Lock gifts and valuables in the trunk of your vehicle.

• Keep all windows and doors locked and curtains closed. Check again before you leave town.

• Make arrangements for pets, whether feathered, furred or planted. Stop delivery of newspapers and have mail held. Put timers on lights.

Electronic equipment, computers and big-ticket items are quick change for a thief. You might come home and find even the food missing from your refrigerator if you don't take precautions before you leave. When you leave, take all items of value with you.

Check automotive belts, hoses, tires, battery and antifreeze. Plan your route in advance before traveling. Increased awareness of personal safety can ensure your safe and happy holiday season.
