Williams wins Butkus

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado linebacker Alfred Williams went from best in the Big Eight to best in the country in one season.

On Tuesday, Williams was named winner of the Butkus Award for his play in No. 1 Colorado's 10-1-1 season. The outside linebacker had 88 tackles and 12½ sacks.

"It was a surprise to see myself as the winner with so many great names and universities on the list," Williams, a senior from Houston, said. "I'm accepting this award with great appreciation for the committee for recognizing me."

Williams edged Illinois' Darrick Brownlow for the award, in balloting by a panel of sports journalists and football experts. Both players received six first-place votes, but Williams topped Brownlow 31-28 in points. Players received three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Notre Dame's Michael Stonebreaker received the other first-place vote and finished third with 12 points, followed by Miami's Maurice Crum with five points and Clemson's Levon Kirkland with two.

Williams, 6-foot-6 and 236 pounds, consistently disrupted the passing games of most opponents during his four years with the Buffaloes. He gets another chance to play for a national championship when Colorado meets Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.

Williams led the Buffaloes in sacks for four years and finished with a school-record 35. He also forced two fumbles, recovered one and blocked a kick.

"This is a proud moment for our program and our fans," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "It's one of the finest hours in Colorado football. Alfred has been a lot of fun to coach and to be around for four years."

Williams, expected to be among the top picks in next spring's NFL draft, will be honored Saturday at the Downtown Athletic Club of Orlando, which sponsors the award.

The award is named for Dick Butkus, the former standout linebacker at Illinois and with the Chicago Bears, who is scheduled to make the presentation.

Tickets go on sale

Tickets for the Sea World Holiday Bowl are now on sale at the Athletic Ticket Office, in room 110 G. Rollie White Coliseum.

The game, featuring Texas A&M and Brigham Young, will be played at 6:30 CST on December 29 in San Diego, Cal.

Ticket office hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sports Information Director Alan Cannon said no student I.D. or all-sports pass will be required to buy tickets.

Cannon also said that due to numerous ticket requests by non-students, any remaining tickets will be offered to the public at the end of the week.

Pavlas honored

Senior quarterback Lance Pavlas was honored yesterday by the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame. Pavlas, along with 10 other football scholar-athletes, were guests at the 33rd Annual Hall of Fame Dinner at the New York City's Waldorf-Astoria.

Pavlas, who has a 3.4 GPA in sociology, will graduate in two weeks. The award qualifies him for a $10,000 graduate scholarship.

"Lance is very deserving of this honor," A&M Head Coach R. C. Slocum said. "He has worked hard in the classroom as well as on the playing field."

Pavlas completed 62.9 percent of his passes this season for eight touchdowns and 871 yards. His passing efficiency rating of 159.1 was the best in the Southwest Conference.

down during the Aggies defeat in Death Valley.

On the other side of the ball, the Aggies have defensive talent that Lou Holtz would love to find in his Christmas stocking.

Because most of the defense will be back next season, A&M's depth will keep injuries from destroying the 1991 season.

Starting middle linebackers Quentin Coryatt and Anthony Williams, both juniors, are backed up by sophomore Trent Lewis and red-shirt freshman Jason Atkinson.

Marcus Buckley, a sophomore, took over right outside linebacker after Tyrone Malone, another sophomore failed to make an impact while subbing for an injured James Webb.

Malone, who lost a year of eligibility after transferring from Louisiana State University, never could get into the flow of the defense after sitting out of football for two years, but is regarded as a fierce hitter.

Thomas, the Aggies' sack machine, will be leaving, but in limited action backup Otis Nealy has shown great promise.

The wealth of A&M's talent is the reason why they will be competitive next year and in the years to come even with the loss of All-Americans.

This season's injury-riddled defensive line is an example of how a team like A&M can suffer a number of injuries at crucial positions and remain competitive all year long.

The Aggies even have the opportunity to go to a bowl game. Lesser teams, like Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas Tech, would have fallen apart following injuries like the ones A&M suffered.

So, when June's NFL draft comes around and steals players like safety Larry "the next Ronnie Lot" Horton, Aggie fans shouldn't be concerned.

We should look on it as an opportunity for younger A&M players to step forward and show their All-American talents.

April 13 Could Be The Most Important Day of Your Career

Why April 13? Because that's when you can take the Fundamentals of Engineering exam and become qualified as an engineer-in-training... the first step in becoming a Professional Engineer.

If you're an engineering student consider this. P.E. registration allows more career flexibility and choice. Professional Engineers aren't locked out of a career path; jobs are theirs for the choosing in government, industry, construction and private practice. Many employers require registration for advancement to senior engineering positions.

It will never be easier to take the exam than now, while courses are still fresh in your mind. The test will be administered on April 13 at sites selected by the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers. The cut-off date for exam applications is February 13. For more information, call the state board at (512) 440-7723.
