Restaurant Report

The restaurants listed below were inspected by the Brazos County Health Department between November 26 and 30. Information is a food service establishment inspection report.

SCORED BETWEEN 100 AND 95:
Underground Market Texas A&M Dept. of Food Services. Score — 100. No points were deducted. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Bernies Place Texas A&M Dept. of Food Services. Score — 98. Point was deducted because thermometers were not provided adequately. Another point was deducted because of unclean non-food contact surfaces and utensils. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Burley's Cargo Bay 4501 Welborn Road. Score — 96. Points were deducted because of inadequately constructed non-food contact surfaces and unclean non-food and food contact surfaces. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Sbsia Dining Center Texas A&M Dept. of Food Services. Score — 95. Points were deducted for inadequate thermometers and unclean non-food contact surfaces and food contact surfaces. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Arby's 1800 Southwest Parkway. Score — 95. Points were deducted for potentially hazardous food temperature during storage. The restaurant was inspected because of a complaint.

SCORED BETWEEN 94 AND 90:
International House of Pancakes 103 S. College. Score — 93. Points were deducted for unsatisfactory food protection during storage, a cessible toilet and handwashing facilities and unsatisfactory storage of use utensils. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Front Porch Cafe 4410 College Main. Score — 93. Points were deducted for inadequate thermometers, improper storage of clean linens and equipment, unclean non-food contact surfaces and unclean outer openings. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Kettle Restaurant 2502 A Texas Ave. Score — 92. Points were deducted for inadequate food protection during storage, unclean non-food contact surfaces, improper waste receptacles, inadequate hand-drying devices and inadequate dustless cleaning methods. The restaurant was inspected because of a complaint.

Golf Course Snack Bar Texas A&M Dept. of Food Services. Score — 92. Points were deducted for inadequate thermometers, unclean non-food contact surfaces, inadequate hand-drying devices, proper dustless cleaning methods and improper waste receptacles. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

Beetle's B.B.Q. 201 E. WJB Parkway. Score — 92. Points were deducted for unsatisfactory food protection during storage, unclean non-food contact surfaces, improper storage of in-use utensils, unclean linens, inadequate waste receptacles and no hair restraints on employees. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

David Jefferson, a registered sanitarian at the department, said restaurants with scores of 95 or above generally have excellent operations and facilities. He said restaurants with scores in the 70s or low 80s would have serious violations in the health report.

Scores can be misleading, Jefferson said, because restaurants can get the same score by having several minor violations or a few major violations. He said the minor violations can be corrected during the inspection. Point deductions or violations in the report range from one (minor violations) to five points (major violations).

Jefferson said the department might close a restaurant if the score is below 60, the personnel have infectious diseases, the restaurant lacks adequate refrigeration, there is a sewage backup in the building or the restaurant has a complete lack of sanitization for the food equipment.

The department inspects each restaurant every six months. Jefferson said a follow-up inspection is sometimes required if a restaurant has a four- or five-point violation that cannot be corrected during the inspection, or if there are numerous small violations.

Inspectors at the department are registered sanitarians.

Company's assets frozen after charge of bilking

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge in Texas froze a Houston company's assets Thursday after regulators charged it had bilked investors out of at least $350,000 with false claims about a deal to dispose of low-level radioactive waste in Africa.

Houston-based FMF Corp. also falsely claimed to have had a deal with a pharmaceutical company to dispose of 30,000 tons of contaminated waste, according to a civil lawsuit brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

In the lawsuit, filed at federal court in Houston, the SEC accused FMF Corp. and three top officers of a fraud scheme in which they either deliberately misled investors or recklessly disregarded whether the information they supplied was true or false.

Under the recently passed Securities Enforcement Remedies and Penny Stock Reform Act, the stock market watchdog agency is seeking a court order to freeze the defendants' assets and make them pay restitution to investors and fines to the government.

William McClucas, head of the SEC's Enforcement Division, said the action was the first brought by the agency under the new law that empowers the SEC to seek fines for securities crimes other than insider trading.

He said the law allows the SEC to seek up to $500,000 in fines from a company for each alleged violation, although the agency has not quantified how many violations allegedly occurred.

Investigators retrace accident for final data

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Investigators used a DC-9 on Thursday to retrace the misguided route taken by one of two jets that crashed and killed eight people on a runway at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

National Transportation Safety Board spokesman Brent Bahler said the walkthrough in the same kind of plane involved in the accident was among the final steps in the agency's investigation.

"We've gotten to the point where the factual part of this is starting to wind down," Bahler said. "Now it's all analyzing the data."

As with other investigations of fatal crashes, a final NTSB report could take up to a year.

Eight people were killed and injured Monday when a Pan Am-bound Northwest Airlines jet carrying 39 passengers and crew members, wandered the thick fog into the path of a west-bound Boeing 727 roaring takeoff. None of the 727's passengers and eight crew were injured.

NTSB investigator John L. said the second walkthrough centered "primarily to get ... all markings, runway markings, lights, the signs; all the ground markings" from the pilot's point of view.

Among other things, investigators said that's 41 minutes after the crash that a black and white photograph of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration late last year showed trouble with the Astro-1 satellite. As Astro-1 moved in 250 celestial supposed to be stars and a

Court releases transcripts of controversial Noriega tapes

MIAMI (AP) — A battle over Manuel Noriega's prison tapes ended Thursday when court transcripts were released to the public on the orders of a federal judge.

The transcript of some tapes showed apparent coded references, but much of it concerned Noriega family matters and current events in Panama. One tape included an apparently coded call by Noriega to the Cuban Embassy in Panama.

The tapes aired by CNN triggered a month-long battle pitting freedom of the press against Noriega's right to a fair trial. The fight went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

U.S. District Judge William Hoeweler ruled last week that the tapes were harmless to Noriega's defense, and allowed the network to air them.

This week, Hoeweler agreed to a request by four media organizations to publicly release court transcripts of the tapes, over the initial objections of CNN. The network dropped its fight Wednesday against release of the transcripts.

In one transcript, Norma Amado, mother of Noriega's mistress, talked in apparent code with him about why "the man" had not arrived. The conversation appeared to revolve around frozen funds.

She said the man would go somewhere else because "it's not frozen there ... since we are all frozen here and over there it wouldn't be a problem."

At another point, she tells Noriega they need "a good towel ... and the important thing is it shouldn't be a hand (towel)."

CNN has said that conversation also included coded discussions about the transfer of $4 million.

In the conversation with the Cuban Embassy, Noriega tells a Cuban official he will send a fax "so you can grab it and pass it on to the grandfather."

In a transcript of Noriega's conversation with an unidentified man, he urges the man to encourage opposition to the government installed after the U.S. invasion.

"We must explain ... that one must unite, that there are people with ambition that are now going to take over the party," Noriega says.

The network gave up the fight against releasing the transcripts Wednesday, saying its chief concern was protecting the sources who provided the tapes. After reviewing the transcripts, CNN officials determined the sources would not be compromised, their attorneys said.

Allegations of cat-killing aimed at frat

AUSTIN (AP) — The County Attorney Ken Oden is examining allegations that a fraternity killed for entertainment at a university of Texas fraternity party the campus newspaper reported.

The allegations were among those listed in affidavits sent to State District Judge Perkins of Austin, in connection with Oden's investigation of hazing, the Daily Texan reported Wednesday.

Among the allegations:

- Cats were killed by gas or by having their skulls crushed as part of a fraternity party entertainment.
- A fraternity member said pledges were taken "retreat" where they were taken from long distances and became part of a hazing ritual.
- After a witness called to report a loud fraternity party he got about 80 unsolicited phone calls with his signature forged. He sent pizza orders and had phone calls. The phone calls traced to the fraternity house.
- Pledges were forced to drink large amounts of alcohol and were deprived of sleep.

Larry Dubinski, Interfraternity Council president, said a complaint received by the IFC dealt with.

The IFC has had only one of hazing this semester, Dubinski said. He said hazing "is the tradition and not the rule. The problem is just becoming more aware of the problem."
