Help Wanted

IF YOU COULD USE $18,000+ FOR COLLEGE TALK TO US FIRST.

The Army Reserve Alternate Training Program can help you earn a nice chunk of college money for a small amount of your time. Here's how it works. You take Basic Training one summer. Then you complete skill training at an Army school during the next summer. You'll earn over $1,250 for Basic and even more for skill training. Then you'll train with your Army Reserve unit near your college, usually one weekend a month plus two weeks a year. During a standard enlistment, you'll earn over $13,000. Now add on $5,040 if you qualify for the Montgomery GI Bill. That adds up to more than $18,000. Plus you can even get money to repay college loans.

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call:

Bensonhurst trial Jury finds defendant guilty of riot, acquits of murder

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bensonhurst defendant whose first murder trial ended with a hung jury was acquitted Thursday of murder and manslaughter in the racially motivated slaying of an African-American youth.
John Vento, 22, was found guilty only of riot. He was the third defendant acquitted of major charges this week.
As the verdict was read, the defendant banged his hands on the defense table and screamed, "Yes, yes, yes!" Vento, crying, then grabbed and hugged his lawyer before he was restrained by court officers.
The jury in state Supreme Court returned the verdict during the second full day of deliberations. The riot conviction carries a maximum term of one and one-third to four years in prison.

He faced 25 years to life in prison if convicted on the murder charge.
"It's always hard to convict someone when he was not the triggerman," Assistant District Attorney Paul Burns said. "This jury was a smart jury, and I have absolutely no criticism of their verdict whatsoever."
"All I will tell you is it was a very, very difficult case and a very difficult decision," said juror Gay Fallows, reached by telephone.
The trial was the second for Vento, the former star prosecution witness turned defendant. Vento backed out of a deal to testify against his friends after his family received threats.

In July, a jury convicted Vento of unlawful imprisonment and menacing, but acquitted him of the most serious charge he faced, intentional murder. The case deadlocked on a second murder count and riot. A few weeks later he was also indicted on second-degree murder.
He is serving a sentence of up to eight years in prison for the convictions.
Prosecutors described Vento as a major participant in the Aug. 23, 1989, slaying of Yusuf Hawkins, 16, who was shot in the predominantly white neighborhood of Bensonhurst section of Brooklyn. Hawkins was shot in a white car. He was cornered by a gang of whites and fatally shot in the chest.
"He was there, he helped organize and recruit the mob," Assistant District Attorney Paul Burns said. "He was there when the mob armed itself. He was there as one of the leaders of the mob."
Defense attorney Gerald J. DiChiara defended Vento as a young man drawn into what he thought would be a brawl to protect his friend Keith Month. and to keep outsiders from his neighborhood.
"Kids fight," DiChiara said. "Kids who are 17 and who hang out at luncheonettes and candy stores but they're not murderers."

Taylor, ex-boyfriend settle perfume dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and an ex-beau reached an out-of-court settlement Thursday in a battle over Passion perfume profits, ending what promised to be a revealing peek into the star's personal life.
Both sides agreed to drop their lawsuits in the middle of jury selection. The judge announced the settlement.
Taylor said she didn't relish the idea of being on the witness stand, but didn't say that was the reason for reaching the settlement.
"It's not like on television," she said. "It's not over in an hour. It's not something I was looking forward to, but I was willing to fight as long as I had to."
Wynberg said: "I'm pleased it's all over with."
He said his decision wasn't based on fear a trial would reveal too much about his criminal past.
"That turns out to be a two-way street," Wynberg said. "Anything they wanted to ask of me we could have asked also of Elizabeth."
His lawyer, Quentin Kopp, refused to discuss how the settlement came about or any details. They also refused to acknowledge that Wynberg wouldn't receive any money.
Attorneys had been negotiating for some time, but were unable to reach agreement until Thursday, Papiano said.
"It means I'm vindicated and it proves the perfume, Passion, is something I worked for a year and a half for," Taylor said afterward. "It has nothing to do with Henry Wynberg."

Museum recovers stolen art

PARIS (AP) — Nine paintings that vanished in a brazen 1984 theft, including the Monet masterpiece that gave impressionism its name, returned to Paris Thursday after police found them in a Corsican villa.

Police said recovery resulted in part from information gathered from gangsters in Japan.
The stolen paintings included five Monets, two by Pierre Auguste Renoir and one by Berthe Morisot, as well as a portrait of Monet. Their total value was estimated at the time at $12 million, but one official described "Impression Sunrise" as priceless.
"It's the best Christmas present we could have," said Arnaud d'Hauterives, curator of the Marmottan Museum.
The nine paintings from the Marmottan, along with an as-yet-identified 17th century painting, were found Tuesday in a villa in Porto-Vecchio in southern Corsica.

Global trade pact Talks stall over compromises in farm-subsidy reductions

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Talks among 107 nations trying to draft an ambitious global trade pact neared collapse Thursday night after the European Community rejected a last-minute compromise making significant cuts in farm subsidies.
Trade ministers suggested the EC's action virtually dooms any chances for reaching a trade agreement this week in Brussels.

However, many said they will campaign Friday for holding more discussions after a cooling-off period.
Such a strategy runs a risk of failure, given tight deadlines imposed by the U.S. Congress for approving any final outcome under so-called "fast-track authority."
The battle between the United States and its trade allies on one side and the 12-nation European Community on the other turned out to be the biggest stumbling block to getting an overall agreement in the trade talks.

The talks, known as the Uruguay Round for the country where they began in 1986, had stalled in what was to have been the final week of bargaining.
The talks are being held under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, also known as GATT.
