

Wadkins, Kite prepare for Hawaiian tourney

HONOLULU (AP) — Lanny Wadkins and Tom Kite hope to resume their longtime rivalry at the Hawaiian Open.

Two weeks ago, the 41-year-olds went shot-for-shot in the final round of the Tournament of Champions, with Kite holding off Wadkins by one stroke to win the PGA Tour's first event of the season.

"It probably won't happen, but I think it would be great if we could get there again," Kite said Wednesday before a practice round.

Kite and Wadkins passed on last week's Northern Telecom Open, won by amateur Phil Mickelson.

Wadkins said he and Kite are playing well and the two could wind up fighting it out for another title on Sunday.

"It could happen again," Wadkins said. "I'd just like the outcome to be a little different."

Kite, meanwhile, still has a lot of goals to reach this season.

"I know there are things I still want to do," he said. "Winning the T of was a great start for me. But that's all it was: a start."

"If I'm to have the kind of year I want to have and expect to have, I have to keep pushing. I think Lanny and I are a lot alike in that respect. I think we're both still excited about playing, both eager to play."

Wadkins, for example, has 19 career wins and "I know he wants to get that 20th," Kite said.

Wadkins agreed.

"I'm looking forward to a good season, maybe a very good season," he said. "There's no reason it couldn't happen. I played well in the first tournament and in my schedule coming up, I've either won or played well in every tournament I'm playing from now until the Masters."

The 144-player field, shooting for the $198,000 first prize, include two-time Hawaiian Open winners Corey Pavin and Hubert Green, Curtis Strange, Mark Calcavecchia, U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin, Jodie Mudd, Ben Crenshaw, Paul Azinger and Tom Watson.

David Ishii, a native of Hawaii who plays most of his golf in Japan, is the defending champion.

San Antonio scraps Grand Prix

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — After four years of losing money, organizers of the Grand Prix of San Antonio canceled the car race that attracted thousands to downtown on Labor Day weekends.

The Alamo Grand Prix Association said it was suspending operations. The 1991 race is off, and future races don't appear likely, officials said.

"This organization cannot present it," John Mosty, association executive vice president and chief operating officer, said Tuesday. "If someone else wants to assume the responsibility, we will let them."

The Labor Day weekend event, sanctioned by the International Motor Sports Association, has been held on the streets of downtown since 1987.

The 1990 race, plagued by rain, lost $600,000, said AGPA president Curtis Gunn Jr. The race has averaged a loss of $300,000 since its first year, and the association has lost an estimated $2 million overall.

Ron Darner, director of the city parks and recreation department, said the association owes the city more than $208,000 for services connected with the 1989 and 1990 races.

Darner said efforts will be made to collect that money, owed for such things as police security, street closures and use of city parking garages and the convention center.

Since its inception, the Grand Prix's main sponsor has been Nissan Motor Corp., which provided $200,000 for the 1990 race. The company was offering slightly more than that for 1991.

Wilson

shined despite cheating and drug abuse is ridiculous.

I say let Pete Rose into the Hall of Fame.

He played on teams with some of the most familiar names in history, and stood above them all. He brought revenues to the game like only a few other superstars of the game have.

He's "Charlie Hustle," for goodness sakes!

Give Rose his due because he is a great player and leave the personal feelings and judgements to the general public or even a higher being.

But the hypocrite heirarchy has spoken. Who are we to dispute the decision?

We're the fans and it's our game. Don't ban "Charlie Hustle" from the Hall.
