Rep.: Lottery bill will fail in Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — A lottery opponent in the House said Monday he has counted enough votes to keep the gambling measure off a statewide ballot, but lottery support-ers say they are far from discour-

"We only need 51 (votes), and we've got more than that," said Rep. Glenn Repp, R-Duncanville. A twothirds vote is needed in the 150member House and 31-member Senate for the proposed constitu-tional amendment establishing a lottery to be put before voters.

But Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, said, "We're real close. We're still working" on getting support for his of getting support for his lottery measure.

Gov. Ann Richards has designated the lottery as emergency legislation, touting it as a way to meet part of an estimated $4.6 billion budget shortfall through fiscal year 1003

"I know the governor is apparently twisting some arms ... Whether she can change enough votes, I have my doubts," Repp said.

Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary, said, "I don't know what he means by that (twisting arms) ... We are talking to members of the House, trying to encourage them to you for the lottery. vote for the lottery. "We feel pretty good about it,"

Cryer said. The Senate State Affairs Committee has scheduled a Wednesday hearing on lottery, while its House counterpart plans to consider the legislation Feb. 18.

Wilson said he expects the full House to take up the measure before the Senate does. The Senate in a previous legislative session approved a proposed lottery amend-ment, but the measure died in the Union deal means pay raises for American pilots

DALLAS (AP) — The pay of some American Airlines pilots will immediately leap 59 percent under their new contract, a union spokes-man said Monday.

The hike occurs because of a change in the length of time it takes a cockpit crew member to go from the lower-paying "B" pay scale to the "A" pay scale.

American and the Allied Pilots Association, which represents the carrier's 8,800 pilots, tentatively agreed to the four-year pact Saturday. The union's board of directors must ratify the contract for it to be-

Union spokesman Tom Hunt said the board is expected to take up the contract next weekend. Company and union officials will write the agreement into contract form during a mid-week meeting.

The first year of the contract has already passed, and pilots will be receive a retroactive pay increase. For years six, seven and eight will be 30 and six after that.

1991-92 UNIVERSITY UNDERGRADUATE FELLOWS PROGRAM CALL FOR STUDENT RESEARCH PROPOSALS

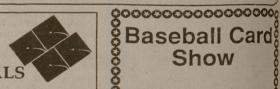

The Fellows Program offers a two semester independent research experience which culminates in a Senior Honors Thesis. It is the most prestigious research opportunity available to undergraduates at Texas A&M and provides participants with opportunities usually extended only to students pursuing graduate degrees. The Fellows Program features a close, master apprentice relationship between student researcher and faculty advisor and involves both students and advisors in periodic interdisciplinary group meetings to encourage the development of a scholarly community.

ELIGIBILITY: Outstanding Juniors who have completed nine hours of Honors coursework before the fall semester begins and who have at least a 3.25 overall grade point average.

TIME TABLE: An informal meeting concerning the 1991-92 Fellows Program, open to faculty as well as students, has been scheduled for 6:00 P.M. ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, IN ROOM 301 RUDDER TOWER. Research proposals will be due Monday, March 25. Students admitted will be notified during the fall semester pre-registration period in April.
