Lawmaker files bill to add three to commission

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill to add three people to the eight-member Texas Racing Commission was filed by a Houston lawmaker, who also wants to do away with the commission's division into horse and greyhound sections.

"I'm not going to sit here and say I think it is going to pass all the way through, but it ought to be given serious consideration," Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, said of his bill.

The commission currently has six members appointed by the governor. The state comptroller and Texas Department of Public Safety chairman also are members.

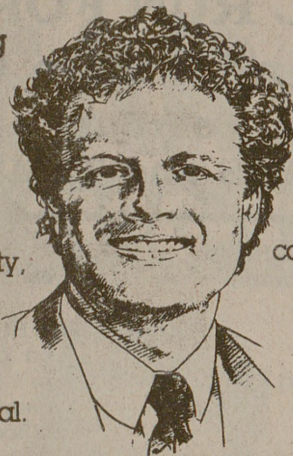

"I think the governor ought to have more appointments on the commission to make it more responsive," Wilson said. "Otherwise, she (Gov. Ann Richards) would have to wait for probably another couple of years before she could have a majority on the board."

Eliminating separate horse and greyhound sections "could make it run a little smoother," he said.

DIVERSITY, VARIETY, CHALLENGE

"An unchallenging 8-to-5 job? I couldn't do that."

I came to Woodward-Clyde to work on a diversity of water resource projects — water quality, hydrology, fisheries — I haven't been disappointed yet. Diversity in a career, at least to me, is crucial.

At Woodward-Clyde you can find variety, diversity, challenge. More importantly, they encourage it; they make it worth it. I can't imagine working any other way.
