Representative
deportation

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzales is trying to keep a former Salvadoran army officer from being deported after the officer testified that U.S. authorities knew of death squad activities in his native land.

Cesar Vielman Joya Martinez is being held in a Jourdanton jail, 30 miles south of San Antonio, under a U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service order.

Attorney Daniel Alcorn has sought the help of former President Jimmy Carter and Gonzales, D-San Antonio, to protect Martinez from being illegally deported to El Salvador by the INS.

On Friday, Gonzalez wrote to U.S. Attorney General Richard Thornburgh and Richard Casillas, INS district director in San Antonio, warning the government not to summarily deport Martinez to face what the congressman called certain death in El Salvador.

Because Martinez has publicly testified his claims of U.S. military knowledge of Salvadoran death squads, Gonzalez said deportation looms as a motive to silence the defector.

Two heads are better than one

Texas Tech student Matt Smith places a two-headed ettin atop a miniature castle tower Saturday. The castle was on display this weekend at Warcon '91, the largest wargaming convention held in Texas. Hundreds of gaming enthusiasts attended the event at the Memorial Student Center on the Texas A&M campus. Events included a cyberball tournament.
