

LAST CHANGE TO BUY YOUR T-SHIRT!

On Sale

Thursday, February 28th and Friday, March 1st

10 a.m.-5 p.m.

$8. each

Sponsored by Davis Gary Student Assoc.

Humpty Dumpty & Friends in the Southwest

- ✓ Twenty of your favorite childhood Nursery Rhymes per book illustrated with a Southwest & Mexico flavor
- ✓ Each fully illustrated by Texas artists
- ✓ Each poem written in English and Spanish
- ✓ Perfect for home and school
- ✓ Books 1, 2, & 3 available now!
- ✓ For All Children aged two thru ten

For Three Fully Illustrated Nursery Rhyme/Coloring Books Send Check or Money Order for $19.25 ($17.95 plus $1.30 Sales Tax)

To: Star Light Press
1811 South 1st
Austin, Texas 78704-4299
512-441-0157

Enjoy nursery rhymes with your children in both English & Spanish & you can color them too!

Be sure & include NAME, ADDRESS & ZIP CODE

Congratulations Robert

Texas A&M Bus Operations proudly announces Robert Kanewske as its Employee of the Month.

Robert was selected based on his consistent outstanding job performance.

BUS OPERATIONS

Driver Profile

Robert, 24, is a senior Business Analysis major from Port Arthur, Texas. Robert graduates in August and hopes to enter the field of Management Information Systems. A driver for two years, Robert is one of over 300 drivers employed by Bus Operations. If you see Robert driving around this month, congratulate him and rest assured you're riding with one of the best at Bus Operations.

You ought to be in pictures---

Watch yourself this summer and for years to come and remember your days at A&M.

AggieVision 1990-91

Don't miss your chance to be in Texas A&M's video yearbook.

Stop by the MSC on Tuesday and Wednesday to sit in the AggieVision Hot Seat.

Tell our camera whatever is on your mind and we'll guarantee that you'll be in the 1990-91 AggieVision.

SWC swimming championships start today

Aggie swimmers eye upset

By Chris Whitley
The Battalion

The Texas A&M ladies' swim team has something to prove this weekend.

As the Lady Aggies prepare for the Southwest Conference championship meet, which starts today in Austin, they are trying to show that they are the darkhorse in a conference of superior strength.

"It's possible that we could get fourth or fifth in our conference meet, and still be in the top twenty in the nation," assistant coach Jay Holmes said.

The key to landing a spot in the top twenty, according to Holmes, is the relay events.

"Relays make up a big part of the meet, and that's one of our strengths," Holmes said.

He adds that four, or possibly five, A&M relay teams could qualify for the NCAA Championships in Indianapolis in late March.

The team leader for the Aggies heading into the meet is fifth-year senior Courtney Searcy.

Last year, Searcy qualified for the NCAA's in the 200-meter individual medley and was a part of the freestyle relay that won Honorable Mention All-American last year.

"She is 'Miss Consistency,'" Holmes said of Searcy. "Any relay that has a shot of making NCAA cuts, Courtney's going to play a part in it."

Searcy said she and the team feel prepared for the meet.

"I'm excited because it's my last year," Searcy said. "We (the team) are pretty pumped up. I think everyone's excited to swim fast."

Junior Laura Greines, the A&M record-holder in the 200-meter breaststroke, also looks to do well in the meet.

"She is a big part of our medley relays," Holmes said. "She's the kind that can blow a medley relay open."

Other Aggies that are expected to shine in the meet include Kim Smith, a sophomore, who has a school record in the 50-meter freestyle. Also, freshman Dereska has filled a void in the butterfly events.

Sophomore Stephanie Maples, who also won the Honorable Mention-winning relay team a year ago, contend in the freestyle along with freshmen Leporis and Tiffany Tredway.

The ladies' team finished the dual meet season with a 4-6 record.

As geared up as the Aggies are, they realize Texas has a virtual lock on the conference trophy.

"Texas will win it," Holmes said without hesitation. "They're just very exceptional."

The Longhorns are the defending national champions and have held that title five out of the last seven years.

Holmes predicted that out of the rest of the teams, SMU would finish second, Arkansas would be third, and a three-way race will develop between Rice, and A&M for fourth.

The meet will be held in the University of Texas Swimming Center and will run until Saturday.

A&M lady netters edge Owls

Doubles lift Ags

From Staff and Wire Reports

The 23rd-ranked Texas A&M women's tennis team needed to win two of three doubles matches to slip by Rice 5-4 Wednesday in a dual match at Omar Smith Tennis Center.

The Lady Aggies improved their season record to 4-4 and 1-0 in Southwest Conference play, while Rice fell to 7-2 and 0-1.

Lynn Staley and Janine Burton-Durham clinched the match with a 7-6, 4-6, 6-2 victory in No. 1 doubles, and Cindy Churchwell and Tami Agassi won in No. 2 doubles 7-5, 6-3. The two wins provided A&M with the victory after the team split the six singles matches at three apiece.

Lady Aggie head coach Bobby Kleinecke said the match was closer than he would have liked.

"This match was too close for comfort," Kleinecke said. "I'm extremely proud of our doubles teams, but we've got to have more guts in singles so we're not in this situation again."

All-American Lynn Staley won her No. 1 singles match over Katie Nederveld 6-4, 6-1. But the Aggies lost the Nos. 2-4 matches and relied on wins from freshmen in the five and six spots.

Jenny Graf won No. 5 singles over Abby Daniels 6-4, 6-1, but it was Anna Schlumpf who came from behind to defeat Betsy Nederveld 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

"Getting those types of wins in such a crucial situation is very gratifying," Kleinecke said. "We were struggling in singles, and they (Graf and Schlumpf) really came through with a pair of clutch wins."

"Anna had the big match. She fought back from a first-set loss and that's a tough thing to do for a freshman. It was an extremely gutsy effort."

KARL STOLLEIS/The Battalion

Lady Aggie netter Tami Agassi returns a serve Wednesday in the singles match against Rice's Candy Diepraam. Agassi lost the match 5-7, 6-7, but helped win her doubles match.

Ladies, the men of Seduction are coming to College Station

Seduction will be appearing at Sneakers

8 p.m.

Wed., March 6

* $10,000 stage and light show
* A Mel Gibson look alike
* * 2 playgirl centerfolds
* A model featured in GQ Magazine
* "One of the hottest male reviews to come out of California in years" states the Times, "More than just a male review" says USA Today.
* All ladies 18 and older admitted. Tickets are $8. advance, $10. at the door. Available at Sneakers.

Aggies

rhythm."

Rice shot better than 52 percent from the field, while A&M straggled with a 42.8 percent field percentage.

The Aggies came up short on boards again. Rice outrebounded A&M 42-26, including 17 offensive rebounds.

Shedrick Anderson lead scorers with 13 points despite in foul trouble throughout game.

Freddie Ricks finished his home game with 12 points, kept the Aggies in the game eight first half points.

"It hurts going out with a plus a loss to Rice," Ricks said, putting them down or anything they are a better team than they been in the past."

Ricks and Lynn Suber said might have been trying to make their last home appearance win.

The Aggies closest stab at an opening half.

A&M used an eight-point close the gap to 23-18 on Anthony Ware rebound and Ware finished the night with points in 29 minutes off the bench.

The Owls pulled away from Aggie rally by running off straight points to end the half head into the locker room with a 24 lead.

The Aggies opened the second half quickly with an 8-2 run as close as 40-32 before the woke up.

Rice used a barrage of layups pull away and quiet the 2,000 attendance.

A&M plays its final regular season game this Saturday in Houston against the Cougars. The Ag-