

ULCERATIVE COLITIS

Do you have physician diagnosed ulcerative colitis? VIP Research is seeking individuals for a one month research study. A $400.00 incentive will be paid to those who enroll and complete this study.

CALL VOLUNTEERS IN PHARMACEUTICAL RESEARCH, INC. 776-1417

HEARTBURN STUDY

Do you experience heartburn after eating certain foods? VIP Research is seeking individuals for a short-term research study of a currently available medication. A $150.00 incentive will be paid to those who enroll and complete this study.

CALL VOLUNTEERS IN PHARMACEUTICAL RESEARCH, INC. 776-1417

DANCE ARTS SOCIETY

General Meeting

Wed., March 6 268 Read 6:30 p.m.

O'Neal to miss SEC tourney

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — What looked to be a promising post-season for LSU now hinges on the fractured leg of Shaquille O'Neal.

O'Neal, the nation's leading rebounder, is out of this week's Southeastern Conference tournament and could even miss the NCAA tournament if the injury fails to heal in time.

Coach Dale Brown was unavailable for comment Tuesday, but said earlier, "If he has not healed 100 percent by NCAA tournament time, he will not play."

The 7-foot-1 center, the SEC's player of the year who averages 28 points, 14.5 rebounds and 5.1 blocked shots per game, suffered a hairline fracture of his left leg during LSU's game last Wednesday against Florida.

Brown held O'Neal out of the Tigers' final regular-season game last Saturday. O'Neal was replaced by 7-0 sophomore Geert Hammick, who had 20 points and 10 rebounds in his first career start.

It was believed that O'Neal's injury was a bruise and that he would play in the SEC tournament. A further examination by an orthopedic specialist on Monday found a hairline fracture of the fibula near its juncture with the knee.

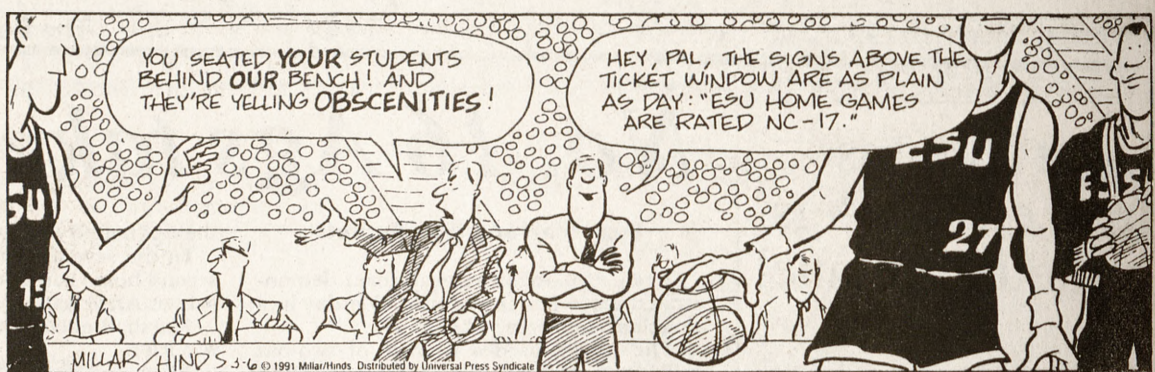

"Those who saw the Florida game saw he was limping real bad toward the end of the game," said Dr. J. Thomas Kilroy, who diagnosed O'Neal's injury. "We examined the area, and it was tender below the knee joint on the fibula head. We later did a bone scan of the area, and sure enough, it was a hairline fracture of the fibula head."

Kilroy was unavailable for comment on Tuesday.

The 16th-ranked Tigers (20-8) are certain to be invited on Sunday to play in the NCAA tournament, even if they fail to put on a good showing in the SEC tournament. LSU meets Auburn (12-15) on Friday.

TANK McNAMARA

by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds

Lady Aggie softballers edge Penn State 4-2, blank ISU 2-0

By Scott Wudel The Battalion

The Lady Aggie softball team began a new streak Tuesday night.

A&M began a two-game winning streak by defeating Illinois State University 2-0. The Lady Aggies grabbed their second victory of the night over Penn State, 4-2, in the second game of the double-header.

The ninth-ranked Lady Aggies are 13-1 after beginning the season with an 11-game winning streak, their best start ever.

A&M lost to fourth-ranked Cal-State Fullerton this weekend to end that streak.

Aggie coach Bob Brock said he warned his team Tuesday that Penn State would be out for revenge.

"They were just destined to do better because we had beaten them 17-0 earlier," Brock said. "I would be fired up too."

Brock said the Lady Aggies bats have been up and down lately.

"We've been hitting real well and we're still hitting well," he said. "We had some shots that were caught, that's just the way softball and baseball are — sometimes they fall, sometimes they don't."

The Lady Aggies used a two-run sixth inning to make the difference in the second game.

A&M had the bases loaded with no outs when Karen Kalhoefer slapped a ball straight to the Penn State pitcher who attempted to get an easy out at home plate. Jennifer McFalls scored the go-ahead run when the Penn State catcher dropped the ball at the plate for an error.

The Aggies added to their 3-2 lead when an A&M batter was grazed by a pitch, which advanced each baserunner one base and gave the Lady Aggies a two-run cushion.

McFalls had three hits in the nightcap to boost A&M's scoring.

The freshman shortstop said she was due for a good hitting night.

"Finally," McFalls said. "I finally just went with the pitch and started hitting like I was hitting this weekend."

McFalls got things started for the Aggies in the first inning with a triple to right centerfield with two outs. She was singled home to give the Lady Aggies a 1-0 lead.

The Lions tied the game at two runs in the fifth inning when the A&M catcher could not hold on to a throw from Aggie third baseman, Rhonda Halbert. Halbert charged a bunt and flung the ball towards home attempting to beat the tying run at home plate.

Sophomore Missy Young, who grabbed the victory in the Aggies' first game against Illinois State and allowed only three hits, was called on to relieve starter Dana Mitchell in the sixth inning. Young struck out all three batters in the sixth and helped the Aggie defense finish off the Lions.

A&M will host another doubleheader tonight at 5 p.m. against Central Michigan at the Lady Aggie Softball Complex.

Young

Arkansas report set for prosecutor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A report on an alleged sexual assault involving University of Arkansas athletes is being prepared by the university and will be presented to Prosecutor Andrew Ziser Wednesday or Thursday, an official said.

Jim Treadway, a university spokesman, said the report likely will be more than 100 pages. It is being prepared from the police report, he said.

Frank Broyles, athletic director, said no determination on disciplinary action will be made until he gets a report from Ziser.

Ziser determined that evidence involving a woman's initial rape accusations weren't sufficient to file charges. The woman also decided not to press charges.

The prosecutor said dorm rules apparently were violated since female visitors are permitted in James "Bud" Walton Hall, the men's athletic dormitory, only during specified hours. The 33-year-old Springdale woman reported the incident to campus police in the early morning hours of Feb. 27 and an investigation ensued.

Broyles has said that appropriate action would be taken "where university, athletic department or team rules were broken."

He said Monday he has discussed the situation with some of the athletes "who are connected with (the incident) in some way."

Broyles said that he and coach Nolan Richardson would discuss any disciplinary action taken against basketball players. Both basketball and football players allegedly were involved.

Arkansas' basketball team, ranked fifth in the nation, opens Southwest Conference tournament play in Dallas on Friday night.

Broyles said that if disciplinary action is taken, it will not be made public.

"It may leak out, but it's not our policy to make public disciplinary action," Broyles said.

Richardson, who has been battling the flu since last week, was unavailable for comment Monday.

After taking Monday off, the basketball team was to begin preparations Tuesday for the conference tournament. Arkansas' first tournament game is against Thursday night's Texas Tech-Texas A&M winner.

All are invited to a debate:

SHOULD TAMU BAN BONFIRE?

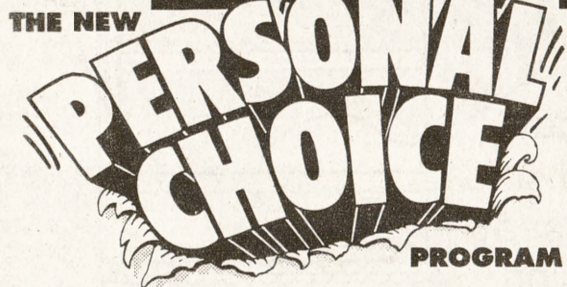

Wednesday, March 6, 1991 7:00-8:00 p.m. 601 Rudder

Sponsored by TAMU Debate Society

WEIGHT WATCHERS MEMBERS ARE LOSING WEIGHT LIKE NEVER BEFORE.

OUR MEMBERS LOVE IT!

Joyce Nimetz Area Director At goal weight for over 23 years.

"The members in our group are so excited by Personal Choice. It truly is a breakthrough. For the first time they have their choice of three different food plans. So they're in control. And it's simple to follow. From day one, they can eat their favorite foods and still stay on the Program. It's marvelous. Absolutely marvelous."

Come to the Weight Watchers meeting nearest you.

BRYAN

Bryan Center 4202 E. 29th at Rosemary

Monday 9:30 am 5:15 pm Thursday 9:15 am 5:15 pm Tuesday 6:30 pm Friday 10:00 am Wednesday 11:30 am 5:30 pm Saturday

LIMITED TIME OFFER

JOIN FOR ONLY

$12

Registration Fee $19.00 Weekly Meeting Fee $9.00 Regular Price $28.00

YOU SAVE $16.00

Still only $9 per week!

IN BRYAN CALL 846-7793

Spurs, Admiral coast by 76ers; Rockets use fourth quarter outburst to top Nets

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs erased a 17-point first-quarter deficit and rode David Robinson's 33 points and 16 rebounds to a 104-99 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Tuesday night.

Robinson gave San Antonio the lead for good at 98-95 with a pair of free throws with 2:32 left. After an exchange of baskets, Robinson blocked Rick Mahorn's shot with 1:20 left that all but sealed the victory.

Hersey Hawkins led Philadelphia with 29 points. Despite a 3½-minute span without a field goal in the fourth quarter, the Spurs held on for their second straight victory.

Terry Cummings' 12-foot jumper with 9:17 remaining gave San Antonio an 89-88 lead, but the Spurs failed to hit another field goal until the 5:47 mark.

Philadelphia built the big margin by hitting 16 of 24 (67 percent) from the field in the first quarter.

Elsewhere in Houston, Sleepy Floyd led five Houston players in double figures with 27 points and Akeem Olajuwon came off the bench to score 18 points and get 12 rebounds, rallying the Rockets to a 112-100 victory over the New Jersey Nets Tuesday night.

The Rockets led only briefly in the game until they opened the fourth quarter by outscoring the Nets 10-2 to take a 92-87 lead and they never trailed again.

Floyd had his 14th 20-plus scoring game off the bench this season. Otis Thorpe scored 22 points and Buck Johnson also hit 18 for the Rockets.

Mookie Blaylock scored 22 points to lead the Nets, who lost their 10th straight road game and their third in a row. Sam Bowie scored 18 points.

The Nets built their biggest lead of the first half with 1:10 left in the first quarter at 36-23 but the Rockets rallied in the second quarter and trailed by 60-57 at the half.

Aggies

Continued from page 7

Wudel

from page 7

the Cardinals struck for four runs. A two-base error by Marshall allowed the Cards' Ty McGraw to reach second.

Mike Bonanza singled, when Robinson misplayed his pop fly due to the wind.

Lester Funk popped up in foul ground, but Colby dropped it.

That miscue proved critical as Funk eventually walked to load the bases as Rodney Scroggs followed with an RBI single.

Bruce Aven hit into a fielders choice to score another run and Terrell Wilson chased Granger with a two-run single.

Steve Hughes relieved and got a double play grounder to end the inning.

The Aggie comeback began in the third with a solo run coming off Williams' monstrous home run to left field, his fourth homer of the year.

Trailing 4-3 in the fourth inning, Huckontod walked and stole second. Thomas followed with a single to score Huckontod and even the tally.

A&M grabbed the lead in the sixth when, with two out, Thomas singled and stole second. Hickey then homered off Cardinal starter Kyle Green to give the Ags a 6-4 lead.

In the bottom of the sixth, Hughes, who had given up no hits to that point, gave up a one-out walk.

McGraw pulled the Cards to within one with a double, and then scored on Funk's single as the game was tied at six.

Aggie reliever Trey Witte came in to get the final out.

After scoreless frames in the seventh and eighth, the Ags put it away in the final stanza.

A walk to Thomas opened the ninth. Hickey grounded into a fielders choice and stole second.

After a wild pitch, Williams put A&M ahead to stay on an RBI single to right-center field.

Hickey ended the game by going 3-for-5 with a homer, a double and two RBIs.

Witte closed the affair with a grounder and two strikeouts to improve his record to 2-0.

"This is just what the doctor ordered," Johnson said. "We had a lot of players come through in pressure situations.

leave. But on the other hand experience has been gained.

The muscle of the Aggies, Rashone Lewis and Sherrick Anderson, now has one season under its belt. They have made the transition from junior college and could be ready to contribute even more toward the Aggie's goals next season.

An unsung hero for A&M this year was Anthony Ware. Ware has made the most recognizable improvement on the team while coming off the Aggie bench.

The 6-foot-7 forward has scrapped for big rebounds and showed the best shooting touch of all the A&M big men.

Most coaches will say they shouldn't be judged until they have had the chance to bring in their own players. Davis will set out this spring to recruit those players who suit the needs of the A&M team. And the A&M team will be a young one next season.

Perhaps the best thing about this year is that the worst is behind Davis and the Aggies.

Things can only get better, and they will get better next year.