Cowboys still confused with loss

IRVING, (AP) — In 31 years of NFL play, the Dallas Cowboys never had a worse offensive afternoon than the one they had Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles.

A day later, quarterback Troy Aikman and his offensive line were still trying to figure out what happened.

The horrific numbers included 11 sacks for 67 yards in losses, three interceptions and a grand total of 90 yards offense, 45 of those passing.

"It was pitiful," said wide receiver Michael Irvin.

"It was embarrassing," said offensive tackle Nate Newton.

"It seems like they were everywhere," said Aikman.

Even the Eagles seemed stunned by the ease of their 24-0 victory over the Cowboys.

Clyde Simmons had four and one-half sacks against Aikman, who barely got time to cock his arm before he was blasted to the Texas Stadium artificial turf.

Nothing worked for the Cowboys.

"I tried yelling at them early on," Aikman said. "I'm not looking at our linemen when I drop back to throw, but I'd say some of our guys were getting beat."

Newton accused the Cowboys of loafing into the game.

"They came to play ball and we didn't," Newton said. "They just beat us up front. They didn't try to fool anybody. They ran the same things against us they ran the last three or four years."

Running back Emmitt Smith, who led the NFC in rushing, gained only 44 yards as the Eagles shut down all of the Cowboys' offensive weapons.

Philadelphia quarterback Jim McMahon, who threw two touchdown passes, had no sympathy for Aikman's bruising day.

"I don't feel sorry for Troy,"

McMahon said. "The same thing happened to me last week against Phoenix and nobody felt sorry for me, either. That's just part of the deal."

The Eagles sacked Aikman without using tricky blitzes, playing a standard defense.

"Most of the sacks were four-man rushes and a couple were off five-man rushes, none came off full blitzes," Philadelphia defensive coordinator Bud Carson. "That's very unusual."

The Cowboys (1-2) play next Sunday night in Phoenix.

the 1994 Heisman Trophy winner, Greg Hill. In his first ever college football game, Hill amassed an unfathomable total of 212 yards - an NCAA record for a first-timer.

The redshirt freshman stand-out from Dallas Carter was everywhere Saturday. Thanks to the offensive line, which provided holes big enough to drive a Mack truck through, Hill broke into the end zone twice and carried the ball 30 times - in his first game.

Hill's outstanding performance leaves him with only one problem: How does he top this? When you start at the top, where else can you go, but down? It's a unique problem, but one that Hill must face next week in Tulsa.

However, if that's A&M's biggest concern, then things are great in Aggieland.

After Texas' upset at Mississippi State last weekend and the crucifixion of Houston in Miami on Thursday, the A&M blowout was a ray of light in what has been a monsoon beginning for the Southwest Conference.

The SWC, which could use any image boost they can get after ending almost a decade of corruption, could see a change in its balance of power if the trends of the last weekend hold true to form.

The scene is shifting from Houston and Texas, who were tabbed as preseason frontrunners, and going towards Baylor and A&M. The Bears showed up the Aggies Saturday by winning a barnburner over defending national champion Colorado, 16-14.

Instead of the Longhorns traveling to the Astrodome to decide the conference's top spot on November 9, now mark in October 19 on your football calendar - the day A&M goes to Waco.

It seems a little premature, after beating one team, to start making hotel reservations for New Year's Eve in Dallas.

But looking into student tickets for a game only a month away, that could possibly have Cotton Bowl implications, might not be a bad idea.

Oilers win third straight

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers didn't repeat history Monday night, they added to it.

Warren Moon didn't pass for 527 yards like he did in the Oilers' last meeting with Kansas City, but he did rally them in the third quarter this time. He completed eight straight passes, including a 4-yard touchdown to Haywood Jeffires, leading Houston to a 17-7 victory over the Chiefs.

After being held to 63 yards passing in the first half, Moon directed a 93-yard third-quarter drive that included five passes to Jeffires, helping the Oilers open the season with a 3-0 record for the first time in club history.

The Oilers, one of five undefeated teams in the NFL, were aided by Kansas City penalties, four of which gave Houston first downs.

Houston's defense once again played a big part in the victory. Mike Dumas' first-quarter fumble recovery set up the Oilers' first score and cornerback Kris Dishman's interception with 9:40 left in the game killed a drive by Kansas City (1-2).

Steve DeBerg threw 40 yards toward Fred Jones but Dishman matched Jones stride for stride and plucked the pass off in the end zone.

Ian Howfield kicked a 23-yard field goal with 21 seconds left in the final margin.

The Oilers increased their Monday night football record to 10-6, including four consecutive victories.

Moon's 527 passing yards against Kansas City last December was the second-best mark in history and led Houston to a 27-29 victory. He settled for completing 29 of 38 for 233 yards Monday night. His completion percentage reached 12 before he missed in the fourth quarter.

Jeffires finished with nine interceptions for 60 yards.

Houston's defense made its first break of the game when Kozak separated Jones from ball on a punt return and Dishman recovered at the Chiefs 27.

If you're thinking about graduating to the power and performance of a NeXT™ computer, we'd like to help ease the cost.

Buy any NeXT CPU between August 15 and October 31 we'll give you WordPerfect®, the premier word processing program, SoftPC®, the AT-class MS-DOS® emulator, and Diagram!, the powerful drawing and diagramming package, for less than $300.

That's nearly $1400 worth of software. Software you'd probably buy anyway, for less than $300.

And since Mathematica® comes free with every NeXT machine sold on college campuses in North America, altogether you'll be saving as much as $2000 on some of our most popular productivity tools.

And don't forget about the revolutionary computer these productivity tools run on. When you graduate to a NeXT computer you're moving up to the one desktop computer that can carry you through college, graduate school, and beyond.

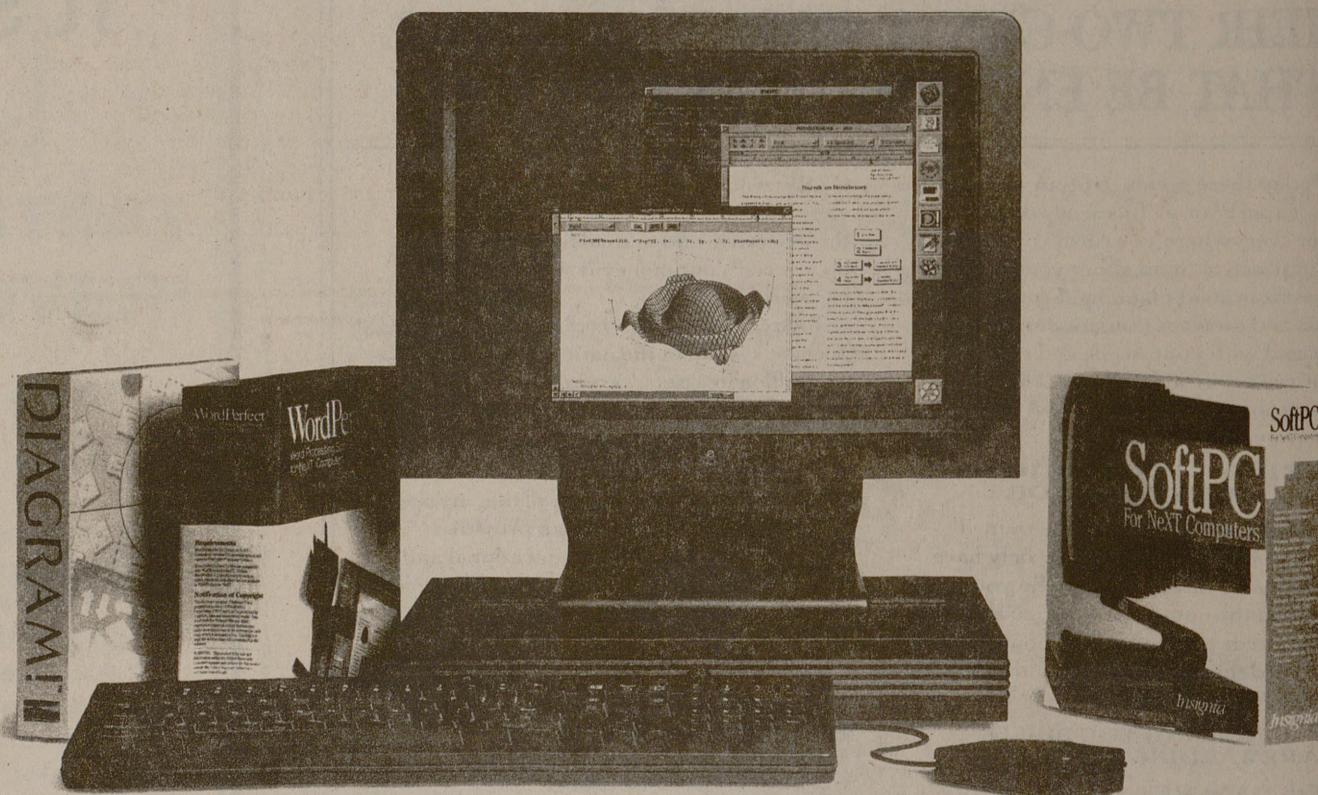

That's because no other desktop computer brings such a full suite of high-performance workstation features to bear on such a wide range of research, analysis, report writing, and problem-solving tasks.

And no other desktop computer surrounds so much performance with the easy-to-use graphical interface (and the easy-to-live-with price) of a personal computer.

So when you purchase a NeXT computer and some powerful software, we'll kick in enough savings to help pay for the computer itself.

After all, if you're bright enough to graduate early, we wouldn't want a little thing like money to stand in your way.

IF YOU WANT TO GRADUATE IN SEPTEMBER, WE'LL HELP WITH THE TUITION.

Save almost $1100 when you buy a NeXT computer and select software.
