Burglaries From Page 2

"We're just keeping our fingers crossed," he said.

Lt. Mike Mathews of the College Station Police Department said his department has responded to the crimes by increasing its prevention programs.

"We've implemented several different measures to combat this problem," Mathews said. "The crimes are concentrated on the northern fringes of College Station, and we've increased our surveillance of parking lots in that area, like around the Hilton."

"We also spoke to students about crime prevention at the Fish Camps," he said. "Getting people information about this problem goes a long way toward stopping it."

Walling agreed prevention is essential, and offered suggestions for students.

"If students have CD players or tape decks that can be easily removed, they should take a few minutes to lock them in the trunk," Walling said. "Females should put their purses in the trunk, rather than under the seat."

"If the thieves stop getting things in the burglaries, then they'll give up and go on to something else."

"All McKenzie did was inform me of a possible wrong-doing," he said. "The defense is trying to make that effort look self-serving. But there has even been great publicity lately, made by law enforcement officials trying to get information from citizens."

Turner said the trial had originally been set to begin Monday, but was postponed due to the length of the hearing.

Ford is one of two remaining defendants. He was indicted on a misdemeanor charge of gambling, a charge of engaging in organized criminal activity to promote gambling, and a charge for carrying a prohibited weapon.

Three of the men pleaded guilty to lesser charges, and Todd Russell Chapman pleaded guilty to gambling promotion. He was sentenced to six years probation and fined $7,500.

Jack Baggerly and Jessie Jerkins pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges of possessing gambling paraphernalia.

Rudell Poehl is the other remaining defendant. Travis Bryan III or William McKenzie did not return phone calls.
