Conference delivers message on need for minority leaders said all students are encouraged to attend, regardless of race or ethnic background. Interested students may pick up a conference schedule in room 148 of the MSC. Over 750 people are expected to attend this year's conference, held annually on the campus of Texas A&M University since it originated in 1989. Over the years, the themes have changed and attendance has steadily increased. The message, however, is always the same: a greater need for minority leaders. "The development of leadership skills and self-worth, as well as the establishment of communication links between students and corporate America, are among the goals of the conference," Young said.

U.N. urges extradition of Libyans sponse to those requests so as to contribute to the elimination of international terrorism." U.S. Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering, dismissing Libya's calls for arbitration of the dispute, said: "The Council sent the clearest possible signal that the international community will not tolerate such conduct." He said the Security Council would proceed "in a step-by-step manner" and hoped Libya would swiftly comply, presumably to avoid sanctions. "If further action should be necessary," Pickering said, "we are convinced the council will be ready on a continuing basis to face up to its responsibilities."

Before the vote, former Libyan Foreign Minister Jadullah Azuz Talhi told the council the charges were baseless. Libya denies official involvement in the bombing of New York-bound Flight 103 but has said it may try the two men in Libya.

Both Pickering and the British representative, Sir David Hannay, dismissed those options Tuesday. "Since the crime occurred in Scotland and the aircraft was American ... the trial should clearly take place in Scotland or the United States," Hannay said. "There is no international tribunal with such jurisdiction."

He added that under the circumstances, "there can be no confidence in the impartiality of the Libyan courts."

Talhi, Libya's minister for strategic industries, said the United States and Britain have denied Libya information for its inquiry into the bombing. He said Libya has appointed judges to look into the case and volunteered to cooperate, but has been thwarted by U.S. and British stubbornness.

"How can you condemn Libya for its failure to respond after Libya has taken all these actions to cooperate?" he asked.

The Security Council includes five permanent members with veto power: the United States, Britain, China, France and Russia. The 10 other current members are Austria, Belgium, Cape Verde, Ecuador, Hungary, India, Japan, Morocco, Venezuela and Zimbabwe.
