DiS Denmark's International Study Program  Affiliated with the University of Copenhagen

"The curriculum is really geared to current events. There is a lot of history and background, but the main emphasis is in the courses, especially the EC '92, is on what is happening right now. And when you go on the study tours and field studies, you have the background to ask intelligent questions. You can make the analytical link between what you are seeing and what you have studied." Kevin Hawkins, Texas A&M University, DiS student 1990-91
