Report backs use of genetic fingerprinting standard for laboratory tech-niques and by the certification of perts that conducted a two-year WASHINGTON (AP) – Genet-ic fingerprinting is a reliable and valid way of convicting the guilty study. "We did not say that courts and freeing the innocent, and should continue to be used in courts, a National Research Council report said Tuesday.

The report said that genetic identification techniques now in use are good, but that they could be improved by setting a national lab personnel.

'We think it is a powerful tool for criminal investigation and for exoneration of innocent individuals and one that should be used even as standards are strengthened," said Victor A. McKusick, chairman of the NRC panel of ex-
