

Permanent replacements for strikers become election issue

rs have appr WASHINGTON (AP) — It played in poria for Caterpillar, and now it is being It is a law that has been on 1028 But it was used spar yed out again in Congress: an elecyear struggle over the right of busis defeesses to hire permanent replacements for riking workers. "The threat of strike replacements was

ip in the

own of Vise

hting in Bosnia

rity and Coop

ims major factor in causing the union to hrow in the towel" in the recent ive-month United Auto Workers strike there in Illinois, argues Son, Howard voy, Van enate effort to ban permanent replace-5 peace tents. There seems little doubt.

S peace within days after the company adver-

he Serb-led d Muslim res

It is a law that has been on the books since 1938. But it was used sparingly until 1981, when President Reagan fired striking government air traffic controllers and replaced them permanently.

Since then, unions complain that increasing numbers of corporations have turned to the tactic in strikes. Greyhound and Eastern Airlines are among these corporations

The bill would allow companies to hire temporary replacements, but business says such a move is usually impractical.

According to a study last year by Congress' General Accounting Office, O, Bosnia-Hensed for replacements, 12,600 UAW companies threatened to hire permanent strikes.

But they actually hired new workers in 17 percent of the walkouts, and permanently replaced just 4 percent of their striking employees. "It is a bedrock issue to us," says Bar-bara Warden, a congressional lobbyist for UAW.

It is also an issue that is caught up in election-year politics.

The House approved the ban last year, and Senate Democrats are within striking distance of the 60 votes needed to pass it over a filibuster.

But President Bush has threatened a veto, and neither the House nor the Senreplacements in about one-third of all ate is expected to be able to override a veto

And with Democratic presidential front-runner Bill Clinton as well as labor's allies in Congress supporting the bill, the prospect is for legislative stalemate - and political maneuvering.

Democrats and labor leaders say forcing Bush to veto the measure would hurt him in November by adding to a list of pro-worker bills he has opposed, including extended unemployment benefits, civil rights and family leave. Democrats hope the rejection of each bill will pull socalled Reagan Democrats - many of whom are union members – back into the Democratic fold, this fall.

"This would very definitely be brought up in the election by the unions, not only against the president but against Republicans who voted that way," promises lob-byist Jack Sheehan of the United Steelworkers of America.

For their part, Republicans would like to prevent Bush from having to cast a veto. But they say the fight will relabel Democrats as the liberal party of special interests, a tag that hurt them in Walter Mondale's 1984 presidential campaign. "This is an extreme bill," says Sen. Or-rin Hatch, R-Utah, adding that the mea-sure shows that Democrats' "idea of an economic recovery plan is more plant economic recovery plan is more plant closings, more strikes.

yov Cyrus Engineers plug leak n Chicago

usinesses to resume normal operations

CHICAGO (AP) – After six lavs, engineers finally plugged he tunnel leak under the Chicago liver that caused a devastating lood and virtually shut down musiness in the heart of the city, oficials said Sunday.

They said business in the city's oop, the business district, could to back to normal — or almost. The flooding, which began Mon-lay, swamped basements and aused power outages in some of he nation's largest buildings.

f the Set buildings. f the Set buildings. Said his talks with and and that electricity was re-tored to all but 11 Loop buildings Finland, the Content drained and other problems with and Correct the safe to turn rrity and Copy epaired before it is safe to turn ower back on. y of stirring of ita, and Germa in with "serio bia with "serio oes not halt " over back on. Marshall Field's Flagship State inteet department store said it lanned to reopen Monday after over spent a week pumping unter from a basement

Foreign Mins It was late Saturday that the last port for a bit of concrete was poured in three it to suspend in three poured in three in the saturday that the last it of suspend by the saturday that the last it of suspend by the saturday that the last is saturday the saturday that the last is saturday the saturday t It to suspends pots needed to plug leaks in the ip in the set entury-old system of tunnels be-rbia and the work the Loop. army do not on Sunday, workers further oddings of on Sunday, workers further

Islamic rebels seize territory

Muslim leader makes threats to attack besieged capital despite call for unity

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) – Muslim rebels seized more territory on Sunday and tried to put aside rivalries to avoid a bloody scramble for power. But one rebel leader renewed his threats to attack the besieged capital.

A non-communist official took charge of ousted President Najibullah's crumbling regime, but the government's power was virtually gone.

Leaders from 10 rebel groups met in Peshawar, Pakistan, and agreed to form an interim council to negotiate with the remnants of the Kabul government. A Pakistan Foreign Ministry spokesman, Javeed Hussein, said there was a 'broad consensus' on an orderly transfer of power to end the 14-year-old civil war.

talist rebel faction, Hezb-i-Islami led by Gulbuddin Hekmatyar, re-jected the interim council plan. "We don't see any prospect for a (peaceful) solution," said Hek-matyar's spokesman in Pakistan, Nawab Salim. "It is not a joke. Ei-ther the government in Kabul sur-renders or we will attack." renders or we will attack."

Hekmatyar's faction was once one of the biggest recipients of U.S. military aid despite his strong anti-American stance. He opposed any backing from Iran.

The fundamentalists are also warning of a showdown with more moderate guèrrilla chief Ahmed Shah Masood, whose fighters have encircled Kabul and forced Najibullah to flee into hiding on Thursday.

See Leader /Page 8

However, the most fundamenndations realed the concrete plug with s, the Europrout, a thin mortar to fill chinks. d the CSCT A tupped well was broached the violence hrough the bed of the river Mony, and more than 250 million ons of dirty river water poured Tavolinto the 50-mile underground netrk and into basements.

Once used to deliver coal, mail ) antisend freight, the system now cons a modern equivalent: electric gilimits

"In short terms, the leak is Ted Weis plugged," said Billy Davis, an aide olicy was rate Mayor Richard M. Daley. And t means a return to some kind of Santa Bat of normalcy Monday in the central y two compusiness district, he said.

"Most Loop businesses will be ble to reopen," he said. However, the financial loss that ≥d with FDAS at stopped drained from the city and its busi-ing the model nesses remains untold.

BILLY MORAN/The Battalion

Eggspectant hunter

Matthew Westhusin (left), 4, takes a candy rabbit out of an Easter egg with the help of his father as his little brother watches. The family participated in St. Mary's egg hunt Sunday.

Afghanistan politics provide possible bridge for U.S., Iran

WASHINGTON (AP) - The the Bush administration can hope bloodstained politics of Afghanistan are creating a new opportunity for Iran and the United States to find common ground. Whether either country will grasp it is as uncertain as the outcome of the fighting around Kabul.

Enemies since Islamic militants stormed the U.S. embassy in Tehran nearly 13 years ago, the two nations seek the same outcome in Afghanistan – a coalition government that will prevent the country from breaking apart. On the other hand, Pakistan, a longtime U.S. ally, sees advantage in a fractured Afghanistan.

Given the limitations that Washington faces in shaping events in the post-Soviet world, the opportunity for closer cooperation with Tehran may be the best for in Afghanistan.

Abdul Rahim Hatif, a noncommunist, took over Sunday as acting president, state-run Kabul Radio announced. President Najibullah, who was put in power by Moscow by 1986, remains in hiding. With rival insurgent factions ringing the capital, powerful rebel commander Ahmed Shah Masood said he was putting together a coalition that will seek to replace the crumbling government.

"Please, do not have violence," was the plaintive appeal from the U.S. State Department to the rival factions.

When it comes to having an impact on the fighting, former State

See Official /Page 8

said they for breast for breast Students, faculty to render assistance in border towns nanufacture 1 Corp. of

By Julie Polston The Battalion

Students and faculty from the xas A&M College of Architec-re are traveling to Texas border wns this summer to build two mmunity resource centers finced by the state legislature.

'UDY

symptom

ר study

all:

С.

The two areas scheduled for deopment are Cameron Park near ownsville, and Progresso locatorm. $10 ed south of Weslaco. The towns colonias, impoverished Hisnic settlements in Texas' southmost counties.

Colonias residents experience a riety of problems, including or health care and lack of eduion. Consequently, the project eds many people to complete facilities successfully.

based on input from colonias residents and will involve construction teams made up of faculty, students, service providers and the residents themselves," said Dr. Allen Commander, director of A&M's Center for Housing and Urban Development.

"The centers will be designed

The resource centers will offer nutritional training and health care services such as prenatal pro-grams and flu vaccination clinics, said Kermit Black, program coordinator

In addition, the facilities will address issues such as illiteracy and teenage pregnancy

Black said most colonias residents speak only Spanish and unemployment is thought to be more

See State/Page 8

'93 Aggieland editor to take reins

Donna Roth, a junior English major prepares to take over as editor of the 1993 Aggieland. Her major duty will be to select a quality staff.

Yearbook head prepares for staff appointments

By Matari Jones

The new editor of the 1993 Aggieland plans to bring organizational skills, insight and interpersonal communications to the new staff.

The Aggieland serves as a memory book that boosts students' morale, said Donna Roth, a junior English major from Mount Pleasant.

"When you pick up your yearbook, you feel A&M," she says. Roth says the Aggieland has A&M written all over it with traditions like the Corps of Cadets and student organizations

Roth began her Aggieland career as the Administration/Academics section editor in 1992. One of the changes she added was more feature stories on students in the different colleges on campus and the activities they were involved in.

For example, in the College of Architecture, Roth did a feature story titled The 24-hour Major" which focused on the projects of the architecture students.

One new addition for the 1992 Aggieland will be pictures of the College of Geosciences at Galveston. Roth said many students do not even know that it is a part of Texas A&M

Roth's major duty as editor will be the selection of a well-rounded, experienced

See Quality/Page 8