Fielder's two-run homer pushes Tigers past Rangers, 4-2

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Cecil Fielder admits he'd like to play near his home in Irving with the Texas Rangers when he becomes a free agent after the 1993 season.

For the present, however, Fielder is content to provide the long ball for the Detroit Tigers.

Fielder hit a two-run homer in the first inning and drove in three runs Tuesday night as Detroit beat the Texas Rangers 4-2 and stopped a four-game losing streak.

"It's always nice to come home and sleep in your own bed," Fielder said. "I really enjoy playing here. I like playing in Detroit, but being at home and playing here is something I have to think about."

Fielder hit a 1-2 fastball from

Bobby Witt into the left-center field stands for his second home run in two games and his sixth of the season, tying him with Oakland's Jose Canseco for the American League lead.

Bill Gullickson (2-2) allowed one run and five hits in seven innings, and Mike Henneman got six outs for his second save.

"Getting an early lead gave Gullickson an opportunity to go out and throw strikes," Fielder said. "Bobby is always going to come right at you. When I was down 0-2, he just kept throwing fastballs."

Detroit bounced back after losing four straight at Baltimore. The Tigers gave Gullickson his first victory over Texas in his first start against the Rangers.

"Cecil's going to hit between 35 and 45 and we can count on that," Tigers manager Sparky Anderson said. "This ballpark is built for him. For us, it's a nice way to start any series. We've been getting our brains beat in."

Gullickson entered the game with a 6.89 ERA but he had little trouble with the Rangers.

"Our offense sputtered and when we hit line drives, they were right at people," Texas manager Bobby Valentine said. "And the guy won 20 games last year. It's not like he's a bum. Our offense isn't clicking together the way it can, but it will."

Witt (1-2) walked Lou Whitaker in the first and Fielder followed with his home run.

"I made a bad pitch to Cecil, a slider out over the plate," Witt said. "That gave Gullickson an advantage. He could throw strikes and he kept our hitters off balance. He's a veteran and he's not going to make crazy pitches with lead."

Rafael Palmeiro, batting .170 coming in, hit his second home run of the season in the fourth.

Detroit added a run in the second when third baseman Dave Palmer booted a potential double play ball for an error, allowing Tony Phillips to score.

Fielder hit a run-scoring single in the seventh inning for his 18th RBI.

Palmeiro tripled in the ninth off Henneman and scored off Ruben Sierra's sacrifice fly.

Giants down Astros
 Houston falls into tie for first in NL West

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Swift became the majors' first four-game winner, and Matt Williams hit a three-run homer as the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 6-2 Tuesday night.

The loss moved the Giants into a tie with the Astros for first place in the NL West at 8-6.

Swift (4-0) went seven innings, giving up eight hits and two runs. He struck out two and walked one. Jeff Brantley pitched the last two innings.

Swift didn't allow a runner past second base after the first inning until Eddie Taubensee singled and scored on a double in the seventh by Juan Guerrero, who got his first major league hit.

Swift became the first Giants pitcher to win his first four starts since Mike LaCoss in 1986.

Houston starter Ryan Bowen (0-2) struck out Darren Lewis to start the game, but Willie McGee singled and Will Clark walked before Williams hit a 1-1 pitch over the fence.

The Giants scored three more runs in the fifth when Lewis singled, McGee walked and Lewis scored on a single by Clark and throwing error by right fielder Pete Incaviglia.

Robby Thompson's single off reliever Xavier Hernandez scored McGee and Clark.

Houston got a run in the first when Craig Biggio led off with a single by Steve Finley and scored on a grounder by Jeff Bagwell.

Summerall admits himself into clinic for alcohol abuse

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS sportscommentator Pat Summerall, who has waged what he admits is a life-or-death struggle with alcohol, has taken a leave of absence and checked himself into the Betty Ford Clinic for treatment, his agent confirmed Tuesday.

"Pat decided at the Masters that he needed some help to lick a medical problem," agent Bob Rosen said. "If you have a broken leg, you go to a doctor. He's gone to a doctor."

Summerall, 61, checked into the clinic in Rancho Mirage, Calif., on Friday. Rosen would not confirm that it was for alcohol abuse, saying only that it was "purely a personal problem."

Summerall was hospitalized in Florida in December 1990 with upper gastro-intestinal bleeding and one month later admitted that his doctors told him if he drank again, "I'd be dead very shortly."

Rosen said Summerall most likely would be back in the booth by May 23, when CBS begins its coverage of the Colonial National Invitational golf tournament.

"He would be ready to work the week before that, but it's an ABC tournament," Rosen said.

Summerall has been CBS' National Football League announcer for 30 years and also works golf and tennis tournaments for the network.

CBS said Jim Nantz, who worked with Summerall at the Masters two weeks ago, would take Summerall's place until he returns.

Coryatt looks to challenges of pro football

Coryatt said the A&M program helped him to develop into the player he has become. He gave R.C. Slocum's coaching staff credit for his success.

"The coaching staff here is great," he said. "They backed me 110 percent all season and they are still doing that. The students and fans here helped me a lot, too, because they were always behind me on the field."

Coryatt also received honors from ESPN for "Hit of the Year" on what has become known around College Station simply as "THE hit." During a Thursday night contest against TCU, Coryatt caught Horned Frog receiver Kyle McPherson coming across the middle and greeted him with one of the most vicious hits in college football history. McPherson was knocked out cold, and had to be carried off the field with a concussion and a broken jaw.

But hard hits and tough play on the college field, according to Coryatt, are not enough to catch a professional scout's eye.

"Everything I do during our season is great for me, but the pro teams don't really get to see them (the big plays) because they are busy with their season at the same efficient to both players.

"It's good that he's in the same situation I'm in because he can relate to all the things I'm dealing with right now," Coryatt said. "I'm having problems, he's probably having the same problems. So we can always talk about them to each other."

There is the possibility that Coryatt could end up in his home state and play for the Dallas Cowboys. Recent draft history has shown that the Dallas Cowboys make draft day trades to move up and grab the player they want. In the last few weeks, the Cowboys have hinted at trading up from the 14th pick to get one of the top five picks for defensive help. If it's defensive help they need, there aren't many choices that look as good as Coryatt.

Coryatt said staying in Texas is something that could prove to be promising.

"It would be a lot of fun to stay in Texas and play for the Cowboys, mainly because it's close to home," he said. "All my family and the people who liked watching me play at A&M would be able to come see me play at most every week in Dallas."

If everyone on the A&M campus is excited about having an Aggie drafted in the top five or six picks, the one person who has kept everything in perspective is Coryatt. He says he's not sure where he'll be picked.

"I can't speculate about where I'll be drafted because you never know what's going to happen on draft day," Coryatt said. "All I can say is that I'm very fortunate to be in this situation."

made his return and beat up on some pretender named Ray Mercer. That can't make the fight world look too good when someone who has been out of the ring for five years comes back and beats up on a guy ranked in the Top 10.

Then there is George Foreman. If nothing else, he does add some comedy to the division and the sport. But, that's about all he adds. He gave Holyfield a good fight but so what.

Any chance for a rematch ended when the two men began feuding because Foreman was going to sue Holyfield for not giving him another chance at the title. Holyfield said it was a slap in the face.

These old guys do not deserve the money they are getting. Who in their right mind would pay $20 to watch a couple of losers dance around for 12 rounds? The next good fight might take place in six years after Tyson gets out of jail. Until then, they should just cancel all the fights scheduled for that time.

Certainly there are other divisions in boxing. But they are as lame as the heavyweight ranks.

The middleweights used to be the class of the boxing world. Now, I can't name one middleweight fighter. They have all become fat and moved up into the welterweight division. What is a welterweight, anyway?

Tommy Hearn is another old fighter who has made a return. But once again, his comeback is a result of there being no quality fighters left in that division.

It's a shame that Sugar Ray Leonard isn't still around. At least he had a little pizzazz. But Terry Norris soundly beat him. Later, Leonard admitted he had done cocaine in the past. Now that was truly a beating. Finally, someone knocked a little sense into a fighter.

Forget Hector "Macho" Camacho, Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini or Julio Ceasar Chavez. The only things that these generic fighters have going for them are catchy names.

It's a shame when you want to see a good fight these days, you have to turn on a rerun of Muhammad Ali beating up on Jerry Quarry.
