MSC Showcase provides music, laughs for students

By MACK HARRISON
Staff Writer for THE BATTALION

Texas A&M students will find comedy, music and information about the Memorial Student Center the main attractions tonight in Rudder Auditorium at the first MSC Showcase.

MSC Town Hall and Student Programs are sponsoring the show in order to educate new students about the activities the MSC offers.

The Showcase features award-winning comedian David Naster as the master of ceremonies. Naster, who was named 1990 Comedian of the Year by the National Association of Campus Activities, has performed at A&M in the past, in addition to stints on MTV, Showtime, A&E, and HBO.

Austin musician David Garza will provide tunes for the event, along with two local performers. Guitarist and Texas A&M student Kyle Hutton has made a name for himself in the local club scene and vocalist Jill McClure won the 1992 Miss Texas A&M pageant last spring.

Nathan Weyer, vice chair of Club for MSC Town Hall, said the Showcase, in conjunction with MSC Open House, is designed to interest freshman students in MSC activities.

"It's the first year they've had this type of thing," Weyer said. "It's a way of making it entertaining (for students.)"

Dave Salmon, advisor for Town Hall, said the Showcase provides a chance for the various MSC committees to let Aggies know what the organizations have to offer. After the Showcase, committee members will provide information about the various activities the MSC has to offer.

"The whole gist of the showcase is to give students an idea of what (the MSC) is about, even before Open House," Salmon said.

Weyer said the event is quite a bargain, as well as accessible to on-campus students.

"It's cheap, fun and easy to go to," he said.

The show kicks off tonight at 7:30 in Rudder Auditorium. Tickets are $2 for freshmen, who must bring their fee slip, $3 for all other students and $5 for non-students.

Immediately following the Showcase, Aggie Cinema will show the season premiere of its alternative film series, "Night on Earth" in Rudder Theatre. The film, starring Winona Ryder, starts at 9:30 and costs $2.
