

"Chop, Lance and Sheff, the gang at the Copy Corner, live for Freebirds!!"

The Gang Copy Corner

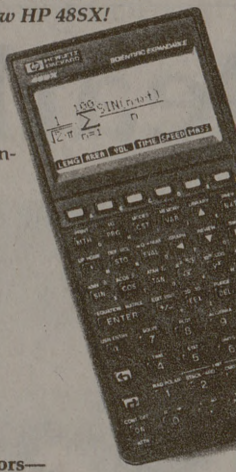

HP 48SX Scientific Expandable Calculator

Power-users—take the lead with the New HP 48SX!

- Over 2100 built-in functions
HP Equation-Writer application
Graphics integrated with calculus

Come see it today.

HP calculators—the best for your success.

HEWLETT PACKARD

Table with 2 columns: Model, LIST, SALE. HP48SX 350.00 255.00, HP48S 199.00 149.00

Large Selection of Software Modules Available for HP48SX

University Bookstores, 3 OFF-CAMPUS STORES

FREEBIRDS WORLD BURRITO, 319 UNIVERSITY DRIVE NORTHGATE

Aggieland Staff

Positions open: Business Manager, Photographers, Copy Writers

Pick up applications in room 230 Reed McDonald. Due by 5:00 Friday, September 11. For information call 845-2681

Lady Aggies place second in Texas-Arlington tourney

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

The Texas A&M volleyball squad brought home second place at the University of Texas-Arlington Asics Tiger Classic...

The tournament, which was also contested by the University of Georgia, University of Wisconsin and host, UTA, ended with A&M and the teams from Georgia and Wisconsin tied at 2-1.

Georgia won the tournament on a tiebreaker despite losing to the Lady Aggies. The Badgers, who handed A&M its only defeat, finished third.

A&M defeated the Lady Bulldogs in their tournament opener on Friday evening, in a two-hour long, five-game match that saw the Lady Aggies come from a 2-0 deficit to sweep the last three games and take the match.

Georgia jumped out to a quick lead and looked as if they might dominate the match after taking the first game, 15-2, but the Lady Aggies regained their composure and fought back in game two only to be defeated, 16-14.

With the momentum swinging the Aggies' way, games three, four and five were wrapped up 15-12, 15-9 and 15-11.

Junior outside attacker Sheila Morgan led the attack against the Lady Bulldogs, charting 13 kills and one solo block while hitting .435 for the match.

On Saturday, the Aggies took on the Badgers and lost the match in five games after taking a 2-1 lead.

Senior outside attacker Elizabeth Edmiston led the Lady Aggies with 18 kills as sophomore outside attacker Karen Richards nailed down four serving aces.

A&M needed just over an hour and a half to dispose of UTA in four games, 15-6, 15-8, 8-15, 15-12.

Kim Mitchell, a junior middle blocker from Marshall, was named to the all-tournament team. Mitchell posted career highs of five service aces and 10 digs in the match against Georgia.

Against Wisconsin, Mitchell turned in another solid performance with 10 kills, seven blocks and nine digs.

Lady Aggie head coach Al Givens ran his Aggie career record over .500 at the Asics Tiger Tournament, coming home with a 107-106 mark.

Women's soccer team loses

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

PLANO - For the Texas A&M women's soccer team, the name Karen Jones is one that they would probably not want to hear for a while.

Jones scored both goals for College of the Southwest Saturday, including the winning goal in overtime, to pull out a 2-1 squeaker over the Lady Aggies in their season opener.

Southwest made the most out of a little, attempting only 11 shots in regulation play compared to A&M's 24. But they turned up the heat in overtime with seven attempts, culminating in Jones' breakthrough winner.

Brittan Hlista led A&M in attempts with 11, equaling Southwest's output in the first two halves. Goalie Michelle Crut raked up seven saves in goal, facing 18 shots throughout the game.

The Lady Aggies opened the scoring in the first half when Jennifer DiTrapani headed in a Renee Rebe assist, putting A&M up 1-0.

A&M's lead evaporated in the second half, with Jones heading a corner kick in on a Tara Faulstich assist to knot the game up at one goal each.

The Lady Ags will try to rebound today in Plano when they face the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville at noon.

Favorites advance in Open

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK - Michael Chang, a sparrow among eagles, flits around the stadium court at the U.S. Open trying to prove he can soar with the biggest and best in tennis.

Wielding a racket nearly half his size and wider than his chest, using his brains to compensate for his lack of brawn, Chang is in the fourth round after his third straight-set victory, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 over Arnaud Boetsch on Sunday.

The fourth round, though, was Chang's stopping point here three times - 1988, 1989 and last year. In two other appearances, he got knocked out in the second and third rounds.

The smallest and lightest of men's players at 5-foot-8, 145 pounds, he is seeded No. 4 and is never among the favorites to win on these fast, hard courts. The Open simply suits big, booming servers like Stefan Edberg, Pete Sampras and Boris Becker, the last three winners.

Ivan Lendl, a 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 winner over Chuck Adams on Sunday, captured three Opens and reached five other finals from 1982 to 1989 on the strength of his serves, the power and steadiness of his groundstrokes, and his indomitable mental attitude.

Edberg, seeded No. 2, moved along in defense of his title without dropping a set, going into the fourth round by beating fellow Swede Jonas Svensson 6-4, 6-2, 6-2. Edberg will play Richard Krajicek, a 6-1, 6-3, 6-2 winner over Mark Woodforde.

Becker advanced, 6-1, 4-6, 7-6 (7-1), 6-3, winner over German compatriot Carl-Uwe Steeb, to set up a match against Lendl. Wayne Ferreira, another power player, beat Wally Masur 6-4, 6-4, 6-2, and will next face Emilio Sanchez, a 5-7, 6-1, 6-7 (7-4), 7-6 (7-3) 6-4 winner over his brother, Javier.

Size and strength also are important as willpower in the women's game at the Open, where the hardest hitters have dominated in recent years.

Defending champion Monica Seles, tall and lanky and pummeling groundstrokes as hard as ever, moved along easily into the quarterfinals Sunday with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Gigi Fernandez. Gabriela Sabatini, a 6-1, 6-3 winner over Sabine Appelmans, also advanced to the quarters but didn't show nearly the power or aggressiveness she displayed in taking the title in 1990.

Patricia Hy, like Chang, is small at 5-4, but she beat one of the tallest, 6-2 Helen Sukova, 6-1, 7-6 (7-2), with the same craftiness and mental fortitude she showed in upsetting Jennifer Capriati. Hy's mental strength will be put to the ultimate test in the quarters against Seles.

Rangers shutout by Yankees

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

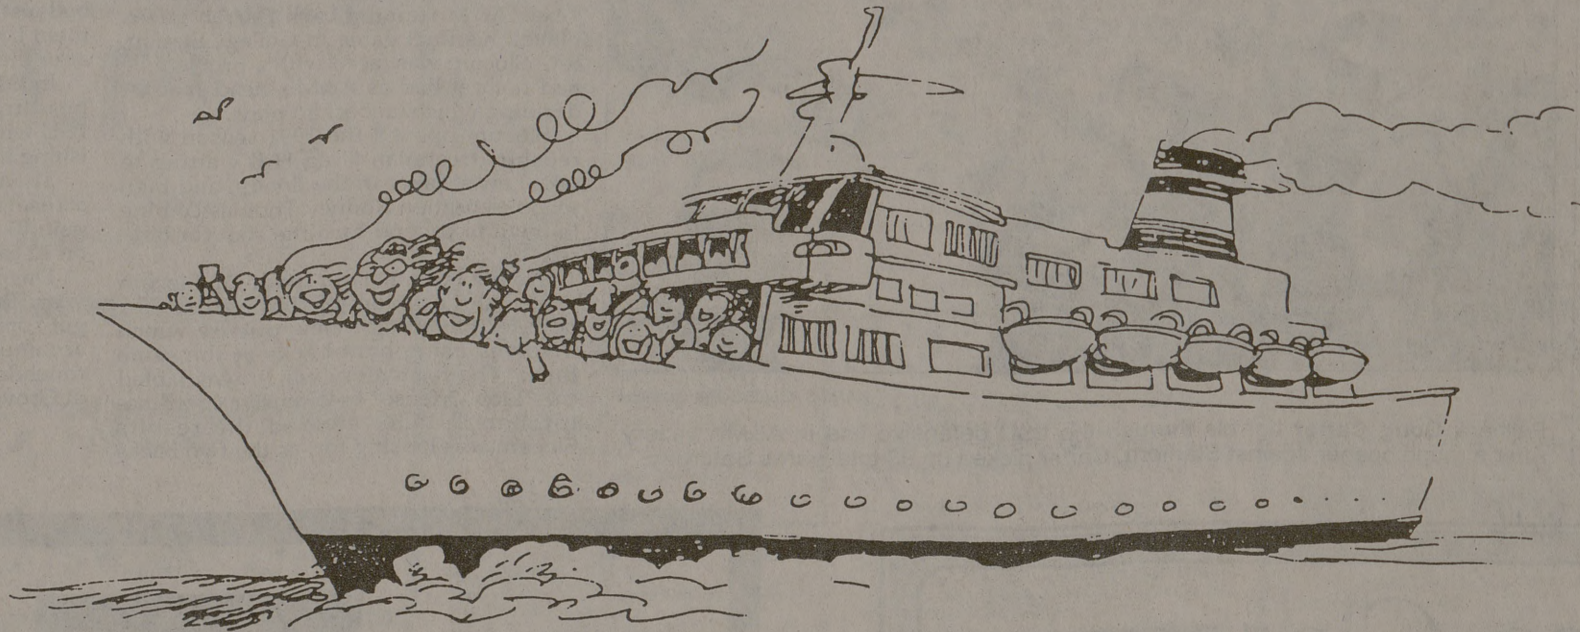

NEW YORK - Scott Kamieniecki stopped Texas on three hits until the New York Yankees broke it open with six runs in the eighth inning to beat the Rangers 7-0 Sunday.

Don Mattingly, celebrating his 10th year anniversary in the big leagues, singled home a run in the third inning.

The Yankees broke it open in the eighth. Roberto Kelly and Danny Tartabull hit RBI doubles off Todd Burns and Mel Hall had a two-run single and Matt Nokes hit a two-run homer off Brian Bohannon.

New York wound up 3-3 at home against the Rangers. Texas has never won a season series at Yankee Stadium, losing 15 times and splitting six others.

Sailing In New Directions

Cruise on by to pick up applications for:

- BIG EVENT, BLOOD DRIVE, COSGA, DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL, ELECTION COMMISSION

- ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES COMM., FRESHMAN PROGRAMS, HSPR2, LEGISLATIVE STUDY GROUP, MODEL UNITED NATIONS, MUSTER

- PARENTS' WEEKEND, PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICE, RADIO SHOW, TRADITIONS COUNCIL, UNITED WAY

@ the SGA Information Session, September 7, 1992, 7 pm at Rudder Theatre

STUDENT GOVERNMENT TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

Sponsored by:

Logo for Texas A&M University Student Government and associated text: Choose the Bookstore Where Purchases Benefit Aggie Scholarships! 845-8681