Hispanic voter registration drive looks to boost Clinto

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN - Hispanic Democrats announced Wednesday a get-out-the-vote drive they said could provide the winning margin for Bill Clinton in No-

Texas Republicans, meanwhile, said recent opinion polls show that President Bush is overcoming Clinton's earlier lead in his adopted home state. Democrats described their new effort as crucial to Clinton's campaign in the state.

Beginning Saturday, it will concentrate on about 30 Texas counties and be designed to register Hispanic voters and get them to the polls on Nov. 3.

State Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, said the ticket of Clinton and Al Gore is particularly attractive to Hispanic voters.

"We have not seen this much excitement in the Hispanic community since John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson" in 1960, he said.

Of the approximately 1.5 million eligible Hispanic voters in Texas, Barrientos said, "I would hope we could register 60 to 70 percent, and of that 90 percent (of the vote) for Clinton-Gore."

Barrientos and Roberto Alonzo, president of Mexican American Democrats and leader of the Adelante con Clinton (Forward With Clinton) effort, said Texas, California and several other states with large numbers of Hispanic voters could be the key to a dency, Barrientos said, 201 of those come from

"highly influenced" by Hispanic votes. In the 1990s, Hispanics have emerged as as electoral force which can determine the outon

Alonzo noted that opinion polls in Texas sh potentially close race between Clinton and Bush 'The polls are close. That's what's going to a significant difference," he said. "Whatever we do is going to count.' State Rep. Renato Cuellar, D-Weslaco, said paign issues, particularly the economy, help C with Hispanic voters.

Since 1980, he noted, "The other side has as you're better off than you were four years You're not hearing that any more."

In Houston, officials of the GOP's Victor campaign arm said Wednesday that recent or polls are proof Bush has regained momentum erased a big Clinton lead in Texas.

A Rice University survey released just before GOP National Convention last month had s Clinton ahead by 17 percentage points. But all Morning News Poll published on Sunday sh that margin down to two points, said Rob Mos er, Victory '92 chairman.

'The president has erased a 17-point deficit last three weeks and is on schedule to put le the win column for keeps in the next month,

First Lady campaigns across Texa

FORT WORTH- First Lady Barbara Bush braved sweltering 100-degree temperatures Wednesday to campaign for her husband in Texas, a state she said was "very critical" to ensure a Bush-Quayle win.

Mrs. Bush told about 150 supporters and children that her husband's platform guarantees individuals the right to choose their own schools, jobs, health and day

'Your President knows, and I mean really knows, that government didn't make this country great, people did," said Mrs Bush, who looked cool beneath the only foot of shade at a downtown Fort Worth phone bank.

She said an individual's right to choose their own services

'More than anything, George knows what role federal government should play in our lives,' she said.

Mrs. Bush first stopped in Tyler Wednesday, where she visited student participants of an anti-drug program at J.R. Moore Middle School.

She will continue her sweep through Texas with visits to Lubbock and Midland on Thursday.

After speaking to Fort Worth supporters, Mrs. Bush tried her hand at the new Tarrant County Bush-Quayle volunteer phone

"Hi, this is Barbara Bush calling," the First Lady informed Suzanne Berry of Fort Worth. 'And I'm calling for the Fort Worth Bush-Quayle campaign. I hope we can count on you to vote would be in jeopardy if Arkansas for George Bush and Gov. Bill Clinton were elected. Quayle,"

"It was quite a thrill," Berry, a 44-year-old regist nurse and longtime Bush porter, who at first was not the woman she was talking was the First Lady. "I kind of recognized voice. So I thought this re could be her." Berry said thought it was a wonderfu proach, speaking to a woman the First Lady too."

. After making a few m phone calls, Mrs. Bush told porters that winning Texasis ical to the success of her band's campaign.

However, she dismisse slight lead Clinton has in I according to a recent poll.
