Decreased summer haul causes concern from Texas shrimpers

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON - A smaller summer haul for Texas shrimpers has them worried about their industry's future.

In July, Texas shrimpers hauled 42 percent less shrimp than the same time last year, the usual peak season.

Strong foreign competition could also foreshadow a rough year ahead for shrimpers and processors alike, say industry ob-

"This crop year is going to manifest itself through May of next year, a full year of dilemma for fishermen up and down the Texas coast," said Mike Haby, a Texas A&M seafood marketing specialist.

He told The Houston Post the shrimp season begins in May for the new crop, when shrimp are large enough to harvest.

Texas shrimpers landed 7.8 million pounds of shrimp in July, the latest month for which data is available, preliminary information shows. That compares with 14.8

million pounds in July 1991, and 13.4 million pounds in July 1990. When compared with an 11-year average for the month of July that dates to 1981, the July 1992 harvest is down 42 percent, officials said.

"This year, we're holding our breath and hoping for the best," said Jim Sagnes of the Texas Shrimp Association.

Much of the decline can be attributed to this year's persistent, heavy rains that have flooded coastal shrimp nursery grounds with fresh water, said Margo Hightower, a researcher for the National Marine Fisheries Service. For five weeks this spring, Copano Bay near Corpus Christi was completely fresh because of runoff down the Mission and Arkansas

This is the lowest July figure I've seen since 1981, and 1981 is the year we started the Texas closure," said Hightower.

Prohibited by the closure is shrimp production in the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast between mid-May and mid-June so chance to grow in offshore water therefore becoming more value

The closure is enforced to the 200-mile U.S. territorial limit "There is no reason to think!" season is going to improve," s Hightower.

Experts said Hurricane A drew's impact on the 199 shrimping season is uncertain Louisiana marine biologists has reported massive fish kills, wi an estimated 7 million saltwater fish washing up on shore. Prices to Texas shrimpers pear to be somewhat higher th last year because of the poor h vest. Among processors, year's average July price paid shrimpers was $3.17 per pound. For consumers, the harve shortfall may not have that mu immediate impact. About 70 pt cent of the shrimp eaten in United States is imported from most all tropical and subtropic coastal countries.

"Just because Texas shrimp are having a bad year it does mean retail prices are go that smaller shrimp have a better through the roof," said Haby.

Number of hurdles increases in court race

DENTON - A new opponent and criticism about out-of-state contributions are the newest obstacles for a congressman's son attempting to win a seat on the Denton County Commissioners Court.

Scott Armey, the 23-year-old son of U.S. Rep. Dick Armey, R-Lewisville, defeated incumbent Lee Walker in the Republican primary and faced only Libertarian candidate Brenda Anderson.

But Barbara Morrison, Lewisville school board member, recently declared herself an independent write-in candidate for the Precinct 3 seat Armey is seeking. She contends Armey is too young and inexperienced to help shape a $40 million county bud-"When Lee Walker was defeated, people were asking for a change," Morrison said. "But I don't think people are ready for Scott Armey.

Armey also is battling questions about out-of-state campaign contributions. In campaign finance reports filed July 15, Armey listed contributions totaling $13,450 since March 1, $1,200 of which came from friends who don't live in Texas.

Reps. Duncan Hunter of Co fornia and Tom DeLay of Sug Land, Republican colleague the elder Armey, donated $1,0

"The people who contributed me wanted to see a conservat elected," Scott Armey said very much represent the best terests of Denton County. No contributed to me who was led expect special favors from me.

Marsha Casteen, a Flow Mound resident and lifelong publican, has formed a gro called Republicans for Respon ble Government to oppo Armey's candidacy.

Factory workers fear free trade pact

ARLINGTON - J.R. Flores earns $16 an hour on an assembly line at the Arlington General Motors plant. Ten miles south of the Texas border, Raquel Herrera earns $55 a week assembling parts for GM cars at a plant in Reynosa, Mexico.

The significance of that disparity isn't lost on Flores, who fears he could lose his job if a proposed North American Free Trade Agreement is approved. The uneasy feeling isn't new to the 31-year-old Flores. He's been through major layoffs three times in his 12 years, including an 18-month layoff in 1985 when GM shifted production of the El Camino to a plant in Mexico, where the company pays lower wages and faces fewer regulations.

"When we lost the El Camino, the price of the car didn't drop," Flores told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in Sunday's editions. "The money just went right into their profits."

the free trade pact is approved. Although Herrera and other workers compla about the wages, most revel in the chance to work an orderly, air-conditioned factory

"I like the people," she said. "No one ever go mad at me. When I work as a maid, you would no er know. The lady would be mad or the children. GM corporate spokesman James Crellin in Detro did not immediately return a telephone call from
