Lady Aggies prepare for tournament

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

The Texas A&M volleyball team will play host to three teams from across the state in the Holiday Inn Invitational this weekend.

The round-robin tournament will bring in volleyball teams from the University of Texas-El Paso, Lamar University, and Stephen F. Austin.

The Lady Aggies play their first game of the tournament tonight in a 7:00 p.m. match against UTEP at G. Rollie White Coliseum. Lamar and SFA will play the opener at 5:00 p.m.

On Saturday, A&M will begin the day's action with a 10:00 a.m. match with SFA, followed by UTEP and Lamar at noon. In the nightcap, SFA will tackle UTEP at 5:00 before A&M battles Lamar in the finale at 7:00 p.m.

The Lady Aggies (5-2) are off to their best start since 1986, which was also the last time they advanced to the NCAA tournament.

Both of A&M's losses have been close, losing in the fifth and deciding game each time.

"We have had a week off to prepare and work on some things," A&M head coach Al Givens said. "We haven't had the opportunity to work on the little things until this week because we had seven matches in 10 days."

Three of the Aggies' seven matches have gone a full five games, and only the Eastern Washington contest on Sept. 7 ended in three straight games. All totaled, A&M has played 30 games since Sept. 1.

"This week off couldn't have come at a better time," Givens said.

UTEP owns a 5-1 record so far this season. The Lady Miners and the Lady Aggies faced each other last season, when A&M took the match in five games.

"We played UTEP last year and won it in a five-game marathon match where several team and individual records were broken," Givens said.

proudly and with heads held high that they were victorious over the Fightin' Texas Aggies. Well, I got news for you. We know what's coming.

We know that fluke schools like Missouri have the potential to defeat superpowers like us on any given day. We watched the Citadel beat Arkansas. Hell, we almost saw the upset of the century when Texas had a lead on Syracuse last week!

But upsets aren't our style. We're wary of you Tigers. We know you've got something up your sleeve, and we'll be ready for anything.

So you bring your thousands of fans with your yellow and black and your polecat on the sidelines and just pretend that you've got the upper hand Saturday. We'll sit back, relax and take pride in knowing that no team, least of all Missouri, is gonna come between us and a national title.

Now, basketball? That's another story...

NASCAR, ARCA meet at Speedway

Shootout combines two racing organizations for the first time

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

The Texas World Speedway will host its biggest event in over a decade this weekend as the NASCAR/ARCA Shootout comes to the Brazos Valley.

The two-mile oval will host a simultaneous NASCAR Winston West Series and ARCA Supercar Series race for the first time in history on Sunday at 1:00 p.m., a prospect which has both ruling bodies excited.

The National Association for Stock Car Racing, or NASCAR, and the Automobile Racing Club of America, or ARCA, have run with other sanctioning bodies in the past, but never with each other.

"I raced with the Winston West guys in Australia, and I really enjoyed competing with them," said Bill Venturini, the 1991 ARCA 500 winner. "I am really looking forward to going up against them in Texas. The competition should be great."

The NASCAR Winston West drivers seem to be equally excited at the prospect of racing against their ARCA brethren.

"Although the ARCA cars have had more superspeedway experience than the Winston West drivers, I believe the Winston West drivers will adapt well to the Texas high banks," said Hershel McGriff, who finished fifth at the 1972 TWS Winston Cup event.

"I have a lot of miles on superspeedways and I am looking forward to driving at TWS again," McGriff said.

The competitors will race around the oval for 156 laps with a $307,500 purse up for grabs.

This race is also important in the NASCAR Winston West points standings race. Currently, Bill Schmitt leads the pack with 1341 points, but Bill Sedgwick has 1338 points with three races left in the season.

The last NASCAR race to be run at the Speedway was held in 1981 when Benny Parsons took the checkered flag. The track closed down in 1985, but was opened for racing in 1991.

In the ARCA Supercar Series standings, Bob Keselowski has commanding lead over Bob Bowsher and Venturini. Keselowski has 4144 points while Bowsher and Venturini have 3700 points.

The track is called a superspeedway because of its length and high banking turns which are 22 degrees. The front straight banks at 13 degrees, with the back straights reaching six degrees.

Gates will open this morning at 9:00 a.m. with practice and qualifying sessions being the highlight of the day. NASCAR/ARCA qualifying is slated to start at 3:30 p.m.

Gates will re-open at 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning with the lights being the 15-lap Texas Race to be held at 3:00 p.m. and the 15-lap Renault Racer Race scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. Qualifying will take place on Saturday as well.

The speedway will open gates at 7:00 in the morning Sunday with pre-race festivities start at 11:00 a.m.

A&M's cross country teams open '92 season at Baylor

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Texas A&M's men's and women's cross country teams start off their season this weekend in Waco at the Baylor Invitational.

The Aggies will have two men's teams and one women's team in the event, which will be attended by schools from around the state.

The Aggie men's team was tabbed eighth in the preseason NCAA District VI coaches poll, which did not sit well with A&M head coach Ed Marcinkiewicz.

"Our men were very disappointed at the preseason regional rankings," Marcinkiewicz said. "They felt we should have been ranked higher, so we have something to prove. We now have a chance to prove where we belong in the conference and the region."

Seniors Scott Garvin, Donnie Bodron and Ross Stooksbery will lead the Aggie men's team.

The men will compete with Houston, Baylor, Texas, Southern Methodist, University of Texas-Arlington and UT-San Antonio.

The women were picked fifth in the coaches poll, and Marcinkiewicz said going against some of the top teams in the district this weekend can only help his team.

"Our primary emphasis is on gaining experience for our team," he said. "We have a chance to run against two of the top three teams in the region. We're looking forward to running against some quality teams."

The Lady Aggies will be pitted against Baylor, SMU, UT-Arlington, UT-San Antonio, and Angelo State.

wants to beat the Aggies we must count on three things: ESPN, Harry S. Truman and Truman the Tiger.

However, if ESPN, Harry S. Truman or Truman the Tiger don't intervene, it will be an extremely long and painful day at Faurot Field for the Tigers.

Final score: Texas A&M 28 Missouri 24.
