Study Abroad to host Overseas Day in MSC

By TANYA WILLIAMS

Reporter of THE BATTALION

The Texas A&M Study Abroad Program will hold its annual fall Overseas Day Thursday in the main hallway of the Memorial Student Center.

"Overseas Day is an opportunity for students to visit with the professors who are on the A&M study abroad programs," Cathy Schutt, staff assistant for the study abroad program, said.

"It helps students find out about the programs and courses being offered during the program."

"It's one thing for us to tell the students about the programs, here in the office," Schutt said. "But, most students would like to meet the professor and find out directly what the trip would entail."

The Overseas Day, held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., will showcase the 1993 spring and summer programming. It will also give students the chance to shop around and plan for next year. Representatives from other organizations will have tables set in the MSC to promote their programs.

Guests from Boston University will talk about internships they sponsor and CIEE, Council on International Educational Change, will be there for students financial assistance for students interested in studying abroad.

Boston University and CIEE will have additional programs from 3 to 4 p.m. for interested students in 308 and 302 Rudder, respectively.

The study abroad office has approximately nine to ten thousand students yearly for information on study abroad opportunities as well as for information about leisure trips.

News Briefs

Groups renegotiate trade agreement

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The Sierra Club, Friends of the Earth and other environmental and consumer groups Tuesday demanded renegotiation of the proposed trade treaty with Mexico and Canada.

The demand came one day before President Bush, Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari and Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney were to meet in San Antonio to participate in an initialing ceremony for the North American Free Trade Agreement.

The treaty, concluded in August, cannot be signed by Bush before Dec. 17 under fast-track authority granted by Congress. The pact, which would eliminate all trade barriers over 15 years, won't be voted on by Congress before next summer.

Swaggart blames post office for theft

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BATON ROUGE, La. — Thousands of dollars sent to Jimmy Swaggart Ministries have been stolen by someone in the U.S. Postal Service, Swaggart says in a letter appealing for contributions.

"Because of this interception of our finances, the ministry has been pushed to the very edge of bankruptcy," the letter said.

The letter, which appeals for immediate contributions, is the second urgent plea for money in many months from the ministry.

Since last November, a month after Swaggart was stopped in California for traffic violations with a prostitute in his car, the ministry has made several impassioned fund-raising appeals.

Upjohn faces trial over sleeping pills

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DALLAS — The first civil case of its type to go to trial involving the controversial sleeping pill Halcion is set to begin Wednesday in state district court.

Other cases are pending nationwide against the drug's maker, Kalamazoo, Mich.-based Upjohn Co., alleging that the drug has dangerous side effects.

In the case being heard in 14th District Court in Dallas, a former police officer from Fort Stockton, Texas, and his family allege the drug caused the officer to kill his best friend in 1987, according to their attorney Mike Mosher.

The FDA has reviewed Halcion, known by the generic name triazolam, several times since it was approved for use in the United States in 1982. It has become the most widely prescribed sleeping pill in the world and is marketed in more than 90 countries.

Halcion started receiving intense criticism late last year and has since been banned or restricted in several countries, including Great Britain.

Oil slick threatens Louisiana pelicans

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW ORLEANS — Wildlife experts headed for the Louisiana coast Monday to save oil-soaked pelicans as a burning offshore well continued to spout oil and flames.

The pelicans were the first oil-covered wildlife found in the slick. As a precaution, 72 more "hazing cannons" — noisemakers used to scare the birds away — were being brought in. Fourteen cannons had already been set up and a wildlife rescue station was established on nearby Grand Isle.

The rig is in Timbalier Bay and wildlife was threatened on two nearby barrier islands — Timbalier and East Timbalier.

The well blew out last Tuesday. It had been out of service for years and workmen were trying to bring it back on line. The Coast Guard said. After spewing oil for two days, it burst into flames Thursday while workers tried to cap it.

Perot to gain Bush voters, official says

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Texas Gov. Ann Richards predicted Monday that Ross Perot's presidential candidacy will improve Democrat Bill Clinton's chances of winning her home state.

Richards said Perot, a fellow Texan who renewed his campaign for president last week, will help Clinton by drawing votes away from President Bush.

The race will fall to whomever "kicks in the momentum" in the last two weeks before the general election next month, she told the crowd of about 300 people.

Marsh balls destroy Louisiana property

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COCODRIE, La. — Marsh balls — clumps of mud and marsh grass uprooted and scattered last month by Hurricane Andrew — were so large in some cases that they knocked houses off their foundations in Boudreaux and other communities, authorities say.

The hurricane drastically damaged, or at least changed, much of the landscape where it struck. It's too early to say whether those changes in the long run will hurt or help the plants, fish and animals that depend on the coastal marsh for survival, officials say.

LSU environmental scientist Ivor van Heerden said he hopes grass will take hold on newly exposed pieces of land, helping make up for some of the damage done to other areas of marsh.
