municator, but he was just giving 'BS' (Sunday night). He was saying whatever needed to be done would get done, but I don't think he realizes the intensity of the position."

Steve Rosner, a senior marketing major, agreed. Perot provided nothing more than a pep talk, he said.

"He was just a cheerleader," he said. "He was trying to pump-up the crowd. Perot didn't have any plans. He basically didn't say anything."

Sweeney felt that Clinton fared better than Bush in the exchanges between the two. Bush did not motivate the crowd while Clinton offered appealing ideas of change, she said.

"He wasn't as intense as he needed to be. He didn't provoke the enthusiasm in me. But the things Clinton said convinced me that maybe he is the change

"I don't think Bush knows the first thing about domestic affairs, or solving any of our domestic problems."

— Kimberly Smith, a senior from Cypress

"Perot came out ahead because of his platform. He has more to offer people."

— Ben Poole, a senior from San Antonio our country needs." Johnson thought Bush was "basically effective," but said he was disappointed that Bush missed many opportunities to define his position against Clinton.

"He (Bush) could have responded in different ways,"

Johnson said. "Like, when Clinton would say something about health care, I thought of a thousand different responses than the ones Bush gave."

Dan Quayle, Sen. Al Gore and James Stockdale will face off tonight at 6 in the vice presidential debate in Atlanta.

NASA probes space for aliens

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

GOLDSTONE, Calif. — The biggest search for aliens in space began Monday as NASA celebrated Columbus Day by turning on a giant radio telescope "ears" in California and Puerto Rico.

"Like a fisherman, we have our net into the cosmic ocean," NASA scientist Sam Gulkis said. "I cannot help feeling the net will not be empty once we have fished."

Hundreds of NASA employees and guests sweltered under a desert sun as the big dish-shaped antenna slowly swiveled skyward, and, at noon, started listening for radio signals from any alien civilizations in the constellation Cygnus.

At the same time, an even larger antenna in Puerto Rico zeroed in on a star named GL615.1A, located in the same region about 16 trillion miles from Earth.

The space agency's 10-year project, budgeted at $100 million, is facing cuts, seeks to answer a long found question: Are humans alone in the universe?

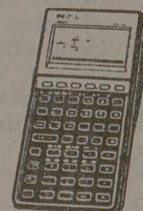

"It's an essential part of understanding who we are," said astronomer Carl Sagan, keynote speaker at Goldstone in the Mojave Desert, 150 miles northeast of Los Angeles. "You have to be made out of wood not to be at least a little interested in the answer." If NASA does find evidence that distant worlds are inhabited by civilizations more advanced than our own, "it would comprise the greatest discovery in the history of science," Sagan said.

PRINCIPLES OF SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

TIAA-CREF's Five Easy Steps To Building Your Retirement Nest Egg

1 Look for ratings.

Check out how an insurance company has been rated by the three leading ratings analysts: A.M. Best Company, Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investors Service. TIAA has earned the highest ratings: A++ (Superior) from A.M. Best, AAA from Standard & Poor's and Aaa from Moody's.

2 Look for rates.

TIAA offers a guaranteed minimum rate of 3%, plus dividends (which are declared annually). New premiums to TIAA Retirement Annuities currently earn 7.5%* (guaranteed interest plus dividends), while our "old money" earns between 8% and 8.5%, depending on the year the funds were received and the actual investment performance that year.

3 Look for a combination of safety and growth.

TIAA's traditional annuity gives you security, while CREF's variable annuity gives you the choice of several distinct and diversified investment accounts. Like all variable annuities, returns will fluctuate and are not guaranteed.

4 Look for reputation and resources.

TIAA-CREF has been serving the education and research communities for over 70 years. We can help you with all your retirement needs, and you get a full range of products along with a variety of services that are absolutely free.

5 Look for low expense charges.

With TIAA-CREF, each dollar invested on your behalf is working for you right from the beginning. We have no sales charges of any kind, and only a minimal expense/operating charge is deducted each year from overall annuity assets.
