Henderson, Oakland avoid elimination with 6-2 victory

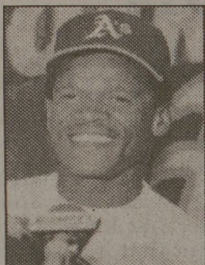

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OAKLAND, Calif.—The Toronto Blue Jays tried their damndest to catch Rickey Henderson.

They tried to get him at first base and threw the ball into right field. They tried to get him at third base and threw it into left.

The Blue Jays never quite caught Henderson on Monday and they didn't catch up with Dave Stewart or the Oakland Athletics, either. The A's bounced back from a devastating defeat a day earlier and beat Toronto 6-2, closing their deficit in the AL playoffs to 3-2.

Rickey rattled the Blue Jays so much so that in the seventh inning, coach Gene Tenace was ejected when he bolted from the dugout, and had to be held back by manager Cito Gaston, to argue a checked swing on a 1-2 pitch.

Henderson singled on the next pitch. He then left for a pinch runner because of a tight hamstring, to a standing ovation.

Ruben Sierra hit a two-run homer in the first inning that began David Cone's demise and chased him with an RBI single in the fifth.

Jerry Browne, back in the lineup at third base because Carney Lansford was too banged up to play, went 4 for 4, drove in two runs and scored twice.

Henderson, Sierra and Browne had all eight of Oakland's hits.

That gave the A's a 6-1 lead after six innings. That was exactly the score by which they led Game 4 before Toronto stunned Dennis Eckersley and shocked Oakland for a 7-6 victory in 11 innings.

The A's did not let this one get away as Stewart improved to 6-0 lifetime in the playoffs. After getting a no-decision in Game 1, Oakland's big-game ace came back and allowed seven hits, walking three and striking out five.

Game 5 will be Wednesday afternoon back at the SkyDome. Mike Moore will start for Oakland against Juan Guzman.

Dave Winfield's second homer of the series accounted for Toronto's first run in the fourth and Devon White singled home the other in the seventh.

"Last night, I was sitting at home, thinking there was no justice in baseball," A's manager Tony La Russa said. "Today, there was justice. For Stewart to be on the mound at the end with a complete-game victory, that's the way the script should've worked."

"I didn't want to pitch again in this series," Guzman said. "I wanted it to be over."

Stewart pitched the first complete game in the AL playoffs since Bruce Hurst of the Boston Red Sox had one in 1986.

"When I was coming to the park today, I was just thinking I didn't want it to be the last day," Stewart said.

Cone looked nothing like the pitcher who shut out Oakland for eight innings in Game 2.

"I didn't establish my fastball as well as I did in the first game. When I had two strikes on a batter, I didn't make the killer pitch to bury him," said Cone.

ABC to carry A&M/Baylor regionally

FROM WIRE REPORTS

The College Football Association and ABC-TV announced Monday that the football game between the ranked Texas A&M and Baylor scheduled for Oct. 24 will be televised on a regional basis by ABC-TV.

Airtime is 2:30 p.m. central time from Kyle Field, College Station.

Original scheduled game time was 2 p.m. This game will be the fourth A&M game televised this season, and the second carried by ABC.

The Aggies' season opener against Stanford in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic was televised nationally by Raycom, and the Oct. 3 game test against Texas Tech was carried by Raycom as well.

A&M's second game of the season, a Sept. 15 matchup against Louisiana State in Baton Rouge, was also regionally televised by ABC.

Monk, Redskins rout Broncos, 34-3

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON—The Washington Redskins returned to Super Bowl form Monday night.

So did the Denver Broncos. And the Redskins gave a final bonus to Art Monk, who broke the NFL career receiving record when he caught three straight passes in the final quarter to give him 820 catches in his career, one more than Steve Largent.

With Mark Rypien finally playing like he did as MVP of last year's NFL title game and Wilber Marshall leading a defense that had five sacks and forced four turnovers, the Redskins routed the Broncos 34-3.

Rypien was 16 of 26 for 245 yards and one TD, and snuck in from 1 yard out twice for touchdowns.

All that had to bring back old nightmares for John Elway and the Broncos (4-2), who lost three Super Bowls in the late '80s by an average of 32 points — the exact margin of defeat the Redskins (3-2) administered in their 42-10 win in the 1987 game.

Elway, who has pulled out two of the Broncos' four wins this year with last-minute drives, was under pressure all night and never had anything approaching a chance to pull out this one.

He was relieved with 10 minutes left by rookie Tommy Maddox, after going 15 for 32 for 128 yards and throwing two interceptions. One was by Marshall for a second-quarter TD, the other in the third quarter by Kurt Gouveia, who returned the ball 15 yards to 1 to set up Rypien's second touchdown.

In fact, the game was all but settled on the opening drive, when Rypien drove the Redskins 80 yards in five plays, one a 58-yard pass to tight end Terry Orr, and then took it in himself. Denver never got over midfield on its own in the first three quarters — David Treadwell's 39-yard field goal in the first period was set up when Kenny Walker recovered a fumble by Earnest Byner at the Washington 31.

It was 17-3 by the end of the first quarter after Marshall, who also had a sack and forced a fumble, deflected a pass off the leg of teammate Fred Stokes, grabbed it out of the air and took it 20 yards for a TD. Earlier, Chip Lohmiller hit a 43-yard field goal to make it 10-3.

And it was 24-3 at halftime on a 44-yard pass from Rypien to Gary Clark; the Redskins had a 227-65 edge in yardage and held the Broncos to just three first downs. By the fourth quarter, that was left was to get Monk's record, which he got on a 104-yard pass from Rypien with 3:12 left.

Rypien's performance at least in part to the fans who have booed him all year for a season that hit bottom a week ago. That's when he threw two interceptions in the fourth quarter and a 6 fourth-quarter lead in Phoenix. But he was still booed after he threw a ball out of the end zone on a third down in Washington, leading 31-3 in the fourth quarter. Lohmiller's 36-yard field goal the next play gave Washington's final score.

The Redskins were back again after getting to the Denver in the final seconds and killing clock without scoring.

more forced the Jays to scratch and claw their way to their second straight AL East title.

Under those circumstances, teams do one of two things - turn tail or stand tall. The Jays seem to have chosen the latter, even though Monday's starter David Cone was the victim of several key Blue Jay errors, the kind he thought he left behind in Shea Stadium.

Toronto's intestinal fortitude at a time in which it is least expected will be a key factor in the final two games of the ALCS. But even more important will be Oakland's pitching, and whether it will show up.

If Stewart's fifth-game wizardry was any indication, LaRussa and pitching coach Dave Duncan will be happy men come Thursday's seventh game. Stewart was his old, mean self, glaring at hitters like a combination of Al Hrabosky and a ticked-off pit bull. His fastball was fast again. Except, of course, for the one Dave Winfield smashed over the left field fence in the top of the fourth.

And Stewart's array of forkballs and split-fingered fastballs were once more falling off that invisible table, buckling hitters' knees despite umpire Joe Brinkman's tiny strike zone.

Stewart provided exactly what LaRussa needed—a complete game opposite Toronto's defensive breakdown. That seems strange, considering the traditional strength of Oakland's bullpen. But Duncan's mediocre middle relievers have hit the wall, and closer Dennis Eckersley looked extremely human Sunday when Roberto Alomar tied the game in the bottom of the ninth with a two-run homer.

Some of the names in Oakland's pen read like a who's-who of the waiver wire—Jim Corsi, Jeff Parrett, Kelly Downs. The only reliable middle men are Rick Honeycutt and Jeff Russell, the latter being a closer at heart.

Contrast the A's to the Toronto bullpen, which boasts the most underrated closer in the league in Tom Henke. Middle-man Duane Ward packs a slider that approaches 90 mph, and David Wells is a former starter that has found his stride in the pen. If that's not enough, manager Cito Gaston has put regular starters Jimmy Key and Todd Stottlemyre, two guys that three-fourths of the teams the league would kill for, in the pen against Oakland. Ouch.

Wednesday night in Toronto's Skydome, the tale will be told. If Toronto wins, obviously, the series is over. If Oakland beats starter Juan Guzman and the rest of the Jays, Game Seven might be a formality.

But can Oakland pull out another near-flawless game like yesterday's? Can Mike Moore last longer than five or six innings? If not, can Honeycutt or Russell get anyone out? And will Eckersley be able to put Alomar's Kirk Gibson-like homer behind him?

The most pressing question looming over the proceedings might be, if Oakland loses, will the team be dismantled? Stewart, Mark McGwire, Ron Darling and Harold Baines are among the many A's who will be free agents at the end of the season. Who knows how many will be back?

Maybe they shouldn't come back. LaRussa would probably not know how to handle prospect
