

Lady Aggies take down Owls

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

The Rice volleyball team came into College Station Saturday with a six-game Southwest Conference losing streak.

Make it seven. Texas A&M wiped out the Lady Owls 15-2, 8-15, 15-11, 15-3 in a much-needed SWC victory, improving the Lady Aggies' league record to 3-4 and their overall mark to 12-8 in front of a G. Rolie White Coliseum crowd of 505.

Although all 11 Lady Aggies got to play against hapless Rice, outside attacker Sheila Morgan took charge. The junior from Houston led all scorers with 16 kills on 32 attempts, good enough for a .375 hitting percentage.

"Sheila really had a great match," A&M head coach Al Givens said. "She was unstoppable."

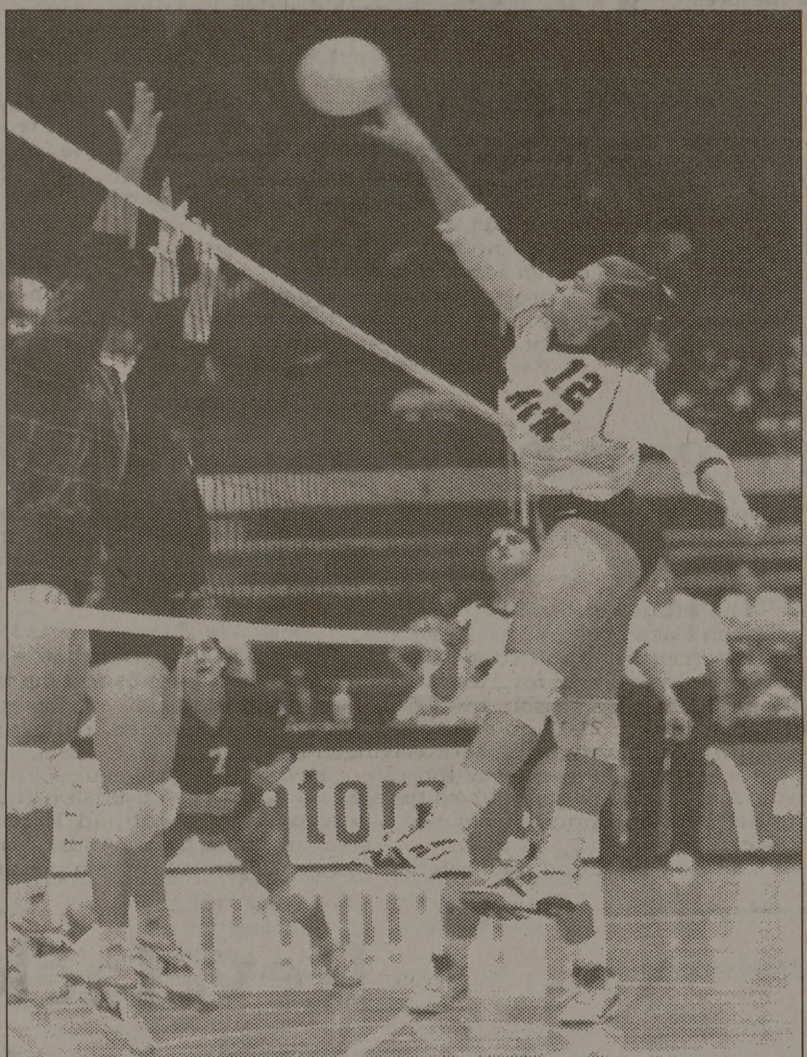

Morgan was particularly strong in the final game, when she notched six kills and one block. That outburst helped the Lady Aggies jump out to a 10-0 lead before putting away the win.

The previous two games were tougher for A&M, however. The Lady Aggies tied the score at eight in the second game before Rice reeled off seven straight points to tie the match at a game each.

And the third game featured four different ties, with the Lady Owls getting as close as 13-10. But Morgan's three kills and outside attacker Karen Richards' game winner did Rice in.

The leading scorer for Rice was Tammy Trowsell, who finished with 15 kills and a hitting percentage of .480. Teammate Cheryl Dell was the only other Lady Owl with double figures in kills, ending up with 10.

A&M setter Suzy Wente had a busy night for the Lady Aggies, finishing with 47 assists and 12 digs. Outside attacker Elizabeth Edmiston also had 12 digs, along with 13 kills. And middle blocker Amy Kisling logged 10 kills and eight digs.

Although every active player saw action against Rice, an even more encouraging fact was that 10 of them had at least one kill. And Givens was, to say the least, pleased with his team's ability to spread the wealth.

"It is nice to have a match where everyone can play," Givens said. "I think some people came off the bench and really picked up our level of play."

The Lady Aggies will have to pick their play up even more Oct. 28 when they travel to Austin to try and avenge their Oct. 7 loss to 10th-ranked Texas.

A&M Sports Briefs

Doubles tennis team advances to finals

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Texas A&M's tennis tandem of Scott Phillips and Blake Arrant made it to the finals of the ITA-Rolux Southwest Regional Qualifying Championships in Fort Worth with two wins on Sunday.

Phillips and Arrant, who had never played together before defeated John McConnel and Evan McGinn of the University of Arkansas, 7-6, 7-6. They also upended Chad Clark and Ernesto Ponce of the University of Texas, 6-4, 6-2.

Phillips and Arrant will tackle Marcus Hilpert and Bruce Williams of Arkansas in the finals today at 2 p.m. on the campus of Texas Christian University. A win by the two will propel them to the national indoor championships, which will be held in February.

In singles, Mark Weaver reached the semifinals of the event before losing to Hilpert, 6-3, 6-1. Hilpert is currently ranked in the Top 20 in singles.

Women's soccer team splits pair

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

The A&M women's soccer team split two games this weekend.

Sunday, the Lady Aggies defeated Arkansas-Little Rock, 2-0. Goalie Anjanette Burns, who just moved in front of the net, shut out UALR in its seven shots on goal.

Anna Whitehead scored off Terri Stone's assist, and Rennie Rebe scored off a corner kick from Whitehead and a pass from Brittan Hlista.

On Friday, the women's team lost to Army, 1-0. With three minutes left in the game, Army scored to pull ahead. Burns had 11 saves for the Lady Aggies.

A&M's next game will be on Wednesday at Texas Christian.
