

	MON 11/2	TUES 11/3	WED 11/4	THU 11/5	SUN 11/8	MON 11/9
5 TO 7	MATH 308 CH 1,2,3,7 MID-TERM	MATH 308 CH 1,2,3,7 MID-TERM
7 TO 10	PHYS 202 CH 37 & TEST 3 REV	PHYS 219 CH 8-9	PHYS 202 TEST 3 REV CONTINUE	PHYS 219 CH 9-10	PHYS 222 CH 7-8 8 - 10 pm	MATH 150 CH 6 7 - 9 pm
10 TO 11	PHYS 208 CH 36	PHYS 208 CH 38-39	PHYS 208 CH 40 & TEST 3 REV	PHYS 208 TEST 3 REV CONTINUE	MEEN 212 HOMEW #10

WE ARE LOCATED ON 301-B PATRICIA, NORTHGATE,
BEHIND 7/11-2 PESOS $3.50/per hour

Lady Aggies split weekend matches in Baton Rouge

By RULY MEDRANO
Sports Writer of THE BATTALION

The Texas A&M Lady Aggie volleyball team traveled to Baton Rouge, La. over the weekend and earned a split in the Southeast Conference/Southwest Conference Challenge at Louisiana State University.

On Friday, the Lady Aggies were on the brink of losing their match against the University of Mississippi, (9-17), when they dropped the first two games of the match 15-7, 15-12.

However, A&M rebounded to win the last three games 15-7, 15-4, 15-12, to take the match three-games to two.

A&M head coach Al Givens described his teams comeback as one of progression through the entire match.

"It (the beginning of the match) was kind of ugly," Givens said. "As the match went along, we gained momentum. It was definitely a struggle."

Although the Lady Aggies' win was not due to any one player's effort, Givens said he was particularly pleased with the play of junior middle blocker Amy Kising.

"Amy Kising had what I think was her best match of the year against Mississippi," Givens said.

According to Givens, junior middle blocker Kim Mitchell also played a solid match in which she contributed 20 kills for a .302 hitting percentage. Junior outside attacker Sheila Morgan chipped in 14 kills for a .407 hitting percentage.

The win raised the Lady Aggies' record to 13-9, but it took less than 24 hours for that record to fall to 13-10.

On Saturday, 11th-ranked LSU spoiled A&M's hopes for a perfect weekend when they downed the Lady Aggies in three games, 15-11, 15-4, 15-11.

The Lady Aggies quickly jumped ahead of the Tigers in the first game but failed to hold the momentum throughout the match.

"I think we should have won the first game against LSU," Givens said. "We led them 5-0. They lifted their level of play and we weren't able to respond."

"We gave a good effort against LSU. We just didn't execute."

Senior outside attacker Elizabeth Edmiston and Mitchell led the Lady Aggies in a losing cause as they combined for 18 kills.

Givens said he expected a split on the two-day road trip but said although he is pleased with the Lady Aggies' effort, he feels they are capable of playing better.

"We have the personnel we need to win," Givens said. "We're just not executing. We can't make too many changes because that will throw everything off. We have to get back to the basics and play good fundamental volleyball."

The Lady Aggies will return home Wednesday when they host the University of Houston at G. Rollie White Coliseum. Game time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The Cougars are coming off a win over nationally ranked Texas Tech in Lubbock and, according to Givens, should prove to be a difficult opponent for the Lady Aggies.

Givens sees the match more as an opportunity than as an obstacle.

"Houston has a good ball club," Givens said. "They're ranked eighth in our region and we're ranked 11th. The game will not only effect our standing in the conference but it will also effect our playoff chances."

Defense

Continued From Page 5

"When I caught the ball, I thought to myself, 'Whoa, I got it. I got it. I got an interception. I better try and run and do something with it,'" England said laughingly.

Chatham played his part in the day's action by knocking down two passes at the line of scrimmage and recording one sack for a six-yard loss.

Teichelman also charted one sack for a six-yard loss, and pressured the SMU quarterback all afternoon.

"They can beat you in a lot of ways, and their defense is so strong that they can force you out of your gameplan," SMU head coach Tom Rossley said.

In the third quarter, the Aggies scored 20 points in 2:59, thanks in large part to Adams and his fellow defensive linemen.

After the fourth A&M touchdown of the day, SMU received the ensuing kickoff and started their drive on their own 20-yard line.

On the first play, Freiburger looked for his receiver in the flat near the sideline and floated a pass that Adams snatched out of the air and rumbled 19 yards down to the Mustang one-yard line.

Adams said the wanted to score on the play, but thought a plot from his teammates kept him from going in the end zone.

"I saw the goal line and went for it as hard as I could, but I think my big brother (England) jumped on my head to keep me out of the end zone," Adams said with a laugh.

England vehemently denied any such tactic.

"I think it was Teichelman," England said. "I think he jumped on his (Adams) head and kept him out of the end zone," England said, laughing defiantly.

Teichelman was unavailable for comment, but witnesses at the scene pointed an accusing finger at England.

"The whole defense had been putting pressure on the quarterback the entire game, and that's what we're supposed to do," Adams said. "I'm just glad I was able to get the interception."

"I made a stupid pass and it cost us," Freiburger said.

Freiburger added that he was impressed with the Aggies, despite his inability to complete the pass on his own.

"That is the best defense, by far, that we are going to see this year," Freiburger said.

Senior outside linebacker Marcus Buckley said that the defensive line did a great job in the game, but they shouldn't let it go to their heads.

"I just think they were glad to finally get one (a pass) land in their hands," Buckley said.

Aggies

Continued From Page 5

different level than the rest of us in the conference," Rossley said. "They have great talent and can beat you in a lot of ways."

Sophomore quarterback Jeff Granger started the game for the Aggies but had to come out with 2:20 left in the first quarter after suffering a mild concussion earlier in the game.

True freshman quarterback Corey Pullig came in for Granger and led the team to its final 34 points on the afternoon.

"I was happy with the way I played," Pullig said. "If we're scoring, and I don't need to pass, that's fine with me."

"I feel much more confident and comfortable out there now."

Pullig was lifted from the game late in the third quarter to give redshirt freshmen Tommy Preston and Matt Miller some playing time.

"I thought we got the game under control early in the third quarter and then started substituting pretty liberally," A&M head coach R.C. Slocum said.

The offense also received votes of confidence from the defense after the game.

"Some people say the offense hasn't done a good job this year, but we stand at 8-0 so I think they've been playing pretty well," junior Patrick Bates said.

Whitley

Continued From Page 5

could render it null and void.

Starting Saturday, the Aggies play four games in a span of 19 days. Three of those games, including Saturday's match at Kyle Field against Louisville, will be televised for fans and Associated Press voters alike to be held first-hand.

These final four games mark A&M's chance to stay undefeated, go back to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day and maybe, just maybe, move up into the top four and have a legitimate shot at a national title.

It is a hard, but vital stretch that comes at the end of an already extended 12-game season.

This team has been playing together since July, longer than any other team in America. And it'll be going until January, with any luck.

But in order to make it to January, the Aggies have to make it through November.

The events in Lubbock this Saturday didn't do anything to ease A&M's situation. Texas upended Texas Tech, 44-33, keeping the 20th-ranked Longhorns undefeated in conference play and primed for a showdown with the Aggies on Thanksgiving night to decide who comes back here in 60 days.

Right now, this conference belongs to the state's two largest institutions. After A&M and Texas, four teams sit in the standings with two losses apiece. Only one team in SWC history has ever made it to Dallas with two conference losses.

So now all that remains to do is win Saturday over the Cardinals, travel on four days rest to Houston and win, come back and stomp Texas Christian the next week before getting another four days rest for their trip to Austin.

It seems like a lot for such a young team. Going through the season undefeated has no longer become just a pipe dream. It's become a necessity.

But this is what head coach R.C. Slocum wanted. He has mentioned time and time again that the winning programs are always there in the thick of things come January.

With efforts similar to Saturday's performance, the Aggies could be around in January for Cotton Bowl II.

the BERKELEY guides
The Budget Traveler's Handbooks

"Puts the funk back in travel!" —TIME

The new travel guides that tell you everything you need to know about traveling when you're strapped for cash but ripe for adventure—from cheap eats and sleeps to off-beat things to do for little or no money. Packed full of irreverent insights, insiders' tips, and 3 times more maps than similar guides.

ON THE LOOSE IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST
ALASKA 1993

ON THE LOOSE IN EASTERN EUROPE 1993

ON THE LOOSE IN CALIFORNIA
NORTH BAY, LAS VEGAS
AND CANYON 1993

ON THE LOOSE IN MEXICO 1993

NOW THAT SEX IS OUT OF THE QUESTION, GIVE IN TO YOUR WANDERLUST!

By BERKELEY STUDENTS IN COOPERATION WITH THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA who know what cheap travel is all about

We'll print two for every we use.

Now at bookstores
Just published by Fodor's

FINAL EXAM

WHY DID DEMOCRAT BOBBY RIGGS DODGE THE DEBATE WITH SHERIFF MILLER?

- A. He was afraid to face the issues
- B. The debate would have proved he is unqualified
- C. He has no platform
- D. He is an unknown and intends to stay that way
- E. All of the Above

When KBTX-TV asked the two men who want to be your sheriff to debate, Sheriff Ron Miller immediately said yes. His opponent hedged, fudged and finally said no--one minute before the deadline.

Our Republican Sheriff Ron Miller believes you as a Texas A&M student must know and trust anyone who holds this vital office. He is always ready to discuss the issues that are important to you.

He's there when you need him.

ONLY ONE CANDIDATE PASSES THE TEST.

RE-ELECT THE STUDENTS' SHERIFF - RON MILLER.

A+ Tutoring

	Mon 11/2	Tue 11/3	Wed 11/4	Thr 11/5
Mr. Bill's Classes	5-7 pm PHYS 201 Dr. Ford Chp 9	PHYS 201 Dr. Ford Chp 10	PHYS 201 Dr. Ford Chp 11&13	6-9 pm PHYS 201 Dr. Ford Practice Exams
	7-10 pm PHYS 201 Dr. Reading Chp 7&8	PHYS 201 Dr. Reading Chp 9&10	CHEM 102 Practice Exams
	10-1 am CHEM 102 Chp 20	CHEM 102 Chp 21	PHYS 201 Dr. Reading Chp 11&13	For More Information on Arf's Classes, call 696-2286
Arf's Classes	Math 308	Mon 11/2 5:00	Mon 11/2 10:00	Tues 11/3 5:00
	Math 152/161	Mon 11/2 7:00

A+ Tutoring 260-2660