Department sponsors walk

Texas A&M's kinesiology department and the Texas Race-walker's Association will sponsor the Bryan-College Station One-mile Fitness and Racewalking Championship this Saturday at the Texas A&M Anderson Athletic Track and Field Complex.

The meet will consist of two one-mile races, a Fitnesswalk and a racewalk. The Fitnesswalk will start at 8 a.m. with the racewalk getting under way at 8:30 a.m. In addition, Bohdan Bulakowski, a Polish racewalking coach and former Olympian, will conduct a clinic for race participants from 7-9 p.m. at Aerofit on Villa Maria. Bulakowski is a six-time World Cup track and field participant. He has been a racewalk coach for 14 years. One of his students competed in the Barcelona Olympics last summer.

Anyone interested in participating in Saturday's races can contact Frank Thomas at 845-7258 to register.

There is a $10 registration fee, and the deadline for registration is today.

Late registration is available through Saturday with a $2 late registration fee.

Trade embargo defiants to enter Mexico

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN ANTONIO — U.S. Customs officials said Monday they will allow members of a group defying a Cuba trade embargo to enter Mexico as long as they apply for permits to cross the international bridge from Laredo.

But Elizabeth Flannery, a spokeswoman for Pastors for Peace, the Minnesota-based group organizing the protest, said applying for such licenses would be "allowing the (U.S.) government to decide for us how and when we can bring the aid."

Leonard Lindheim, head of the federal agency's San Antonio office, said the caravan would not be allowed onto the U.S.-Mexico international bridge without the permits.

During a news conference in San Antonio, Pastors for Peace members said they would be willing to be jailed if unable to cross the border.

The group stopped in San Antonio on way to Laredo, where it expects to meet more than 100 other supporters on Tuesday to form nine "U.S.-Cuba Friendship" caravans. They plan to cross the border Thursday or Friday with a shipment of medicine, powdered milk, bicycles and bicycle parts, and a Bible written in Spanish.

Speakers discuss space

The E.L. Miller Lecture Series continues Wednesday night when three speakers will discuss "The Future Role of Humans in Space Exploration" in room 201 of the Memorial Student Center at 8:30 p.m.

Aaron Cohen, deputy director of NASA; Bill Smith, staff director of the U.S. House of Representatives Space Subcommittee and Dr. Robert Park of the American Physical Union will present their views on whether space exploration is central to the interest of the United States. Stephen Gauvain, reporter for KTRK-TV (Channel 13) in Houston, will moderate the discussion.

Leaders call for audits

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN — Texas' top three leaders called for audits of all school districts Monday, after an examination of 55 districts found that some were spending money on items including entertainment.

"We have got to show the taxpayers that we are spending our school dollars wisely, that Jay Leno tickets don't make the cut,"

Gov. Ann Richards said in the second week of a special session on school finance reform.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said it may take several years to examine every school district, but he has asked the state auditor to develop a plan.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said it's unfair to draw conclusions from auditing only a handful of Texas' 1000-plus school districts.
