Hesse.

"Losing a lead like that is more mental than it is physical because we used a deep rotation," Hickey said. "We need to learn to play more confidently because we lose our defensive intensity during different parts of the game."

Once again Branch stepped up, grabbing two defensive rebounds with less than a minute left. Two free throws by Burket sealed the victory at 79-74.

Someone hates A&M

With football signing day little more than a week away, someone from another school in this state could be trying to scare recruits away from A&M by cooking up a scandal that would make serious sanctions appear imminent.

Branch breaks assist record despite ailing shoulder

By DON NORWOOD

In a sport where the focus is almost always on the player that scores the most points, Texas A&M freshman point guard Lisa Branch seems to be enjoying herself by giving instead of receiving.

Saturday's 79-74 win over Texas Christian turned out to be a showcase for Branch's ability to spark the A&M offense with her Southwest Conference record 19 assists, a total that broke the previous record of 18, which was set in 1983 by Baylor's Darlene Primeaux and tied in 1988 by Arkansas's Donna Wilson.

Her assist total does not tell the whole story about Branch's play-making ability, however. Against TCU, all but two players finished the game without scoring a point. Four of those Lady Aggies scored in double figures, with Branch scoring 12 herself.

"She's a great player," A&M's Beth Burket said. "She creates a lot of our shots."

Branch also has a knack for creating a lot of her own shots. The DeSoto native entered last week leading the team in scoring with 11.4 points per game.

Once Branch found out at half-time that the assist record was in reach, though, the scoring part of the game took a back seat.

"I'm pretty excited tonight," Branch said, unable to hide her emotions.

"It was like every person I passed it to, they made their shots."

"I thought that it (the record) was 14. But I just told the girls that I really wanted that record."

Branch almost did not make it into the starting lineup against TCU, as she injured her right shoulder in the Louisiana State game on Jan. 20. A&M head coach Lynn Hickey had Bambi Ferguson penciled in at the point against TCU, with Branch coming off of the bench.

One quick recovery later, the most vocal member of Hickey's stellar freshman class had her name etched in the SWC record books.

Spurs ride Bulls, 103-99

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN ANTONIO—The San Antonio Spurs won a franchise-record ninth straight game Sunday, beating the Chicago Bulls 103-99 behind the scoring of David Robinson and Dale Ellis.

Robinson had 24 points and Ellis added 20 as the Spurs defeated the Bulls for the fourth consecutive time in San Antonio.

Michael Jordan led Chicago with 42 points, but missed a jumper that would have tied the game with four seconds left.

The Spurs are now 14-2 since John Lucas became coach.

Chicago scored six straight points to take a 96-95 lead with 1:49 remaining. But Ellis hit a 3-pointer and, after Jordan made one of two from the foul line,

Avery Johnson sank two free throws to give San Antonio a 100-97 lead with 54 seconds remaining.

After Antoine Carr blocked a Jordan jumper, Ellis hit a foul shot to put the Spurs up 101-97.

Jordan made two free throws with 16.9 seconds left, and Scottie Pippen stole the ensuing inbounds pass. But Jordan missed the potential game-tying jumper from 10 feet and Sean Elliott hit two free throws with 2.8 seconds left to seal the victory.

Jordan scored 18 first-half points, but the Spurs led by more than 10 for most of the second period.

San Antonio took their largest lead, 50-35, with 3:07 to go before settling for an 11-point edge at halftime.
