Winder

He now wears a size nine. Steve Wilson's personal information is brought to you by Reebok. Reebok - we just can't wait to see what Nike does next.

Fowler: "Wilson is really battling the old veteran. Here comes the 2-1 pitch, and Wilson swings and misses. He did have a good cut at it, though. That good cut was brought to you by Clearasil. Don't pop your zits, let Clearasil do it for you."

Phillips: "Wilson last year had a record seven affairs with the wives of his teammates. Just last week he became a father for the fourth time when Mrs. Stan Ross gave birth to a bouncing baby girl. That little piece of information that could put Steve's life in danger was brought to you by the new cross-dressing Ken doll. Costume jewelry sold separately."

Fowler: "Here comes the 2-2 pitch, and it's grounded up the middle, a single for Wilson. The first hit of the evening is sponsored by Polo. Just think, you're only paying $70 for a regular shirt with a horse on it. Next up for the Phillies is second baseman Wally Beoman."

Phillips: "Beoman had a great year raising his lifetime average to .213. He signed a new contract this year paying him $15 million over the next four years.

Useless information about Wally Beoman was brought to you by Energizer batteries. If you don't buy from us, we'll be forced to make new commercials starring that rabbit."

Fowler: "We're now being joined in the booth by Phillies owner Tom Dickerson. What's on your mind, boss man?"

Dickerson: "Well Mike and Larry, I just can't afford you two anymore, so I'm going to have to fire you both."

Fowler: "My and Larry's terminations from the Phillies were brought to you by BASF. At BASF we don't make a lot of the products you buy. We make a lot of the products you buy cancerous."

A&M takes team victory in home meet

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Texas A&M Track and Field hosted A&M's annual College Station Relays this weekend, with men and women posting successes in similar events.

A&M competed with 13 men's teams and 10 women's teams, with the A&M men's team taking home first place overall.

Lee Pool set a meet record for A&M in the high jump, with a jump of 7 feet 3 inches, breaking the previous 7 foot 2 inch record set in 1988 by A&M's Pat Poteet.

Vicky Garcia took the high jump for the women, with a 5-8 1/2 leap.

Ty Sevin won the javelin event with a throw of 229-1, besting his mark of 228-6 made at the Border Olympics which qualified him for the NCAA Championships which will be held in June at New Orleans.

In the women's javelin, Amy Pratt took her event, out-hurling her competition with a throw of 140-5.

A&M's Richard Harrison came on strong in the second day of the decathlon, vaulting from third to first place, with Heath Brewer placing in the 12th spot for the Aggies.

In the heptathlon, A&M's Kaleen Madden won first place, with Charlotta Randle and Jackie Newberry placing ninth and tenth, respectively, in the event.

In the men's 1500 meter fast run, A&M's Scott Garvin took first in the heat with a time of 3:52.09.

Payton scores 27 as Seattle drops Rockets in Houston

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON - NBA teams with problems playing the Houston Rockets should talk to the Seattle SuperSonics - they've beaten them six straight times.

Gary Payton scored 27 points, including eight in the fourth quarter to squelch a Houston rally, as the SuperSonics beat the Rockets 100-89 Sunday night. It was Seattle's 16th victory in its last 19 games.

Houston lost for the second time after Portland snapped its 15-game winning streak on Friday night.

The Sonics were confident from the opening tip.

"I felt we could win because they're so tentative," Nate McMillan said. "Their guards were real nervous against our traps. Our pressure caused a lot of problems for them. They don't protect the ball very well."

Houston guard Kenny Smith scored six points and Vernon Maxwell had 14.

The Sonics beat the Rockets without starting forward Shawn Kemp, who played only five minutes because of the flu. Derrick McKey also was sidelined with a contusion on his right thigh.

It didn't matter. The Rockets used a 16-2 run early in the fourth quarter to cut the lead to three points, but the Sonics never lost the lead.

"We knew the other players were hesitant to shoot, so we focused all our attention on Hakeem," Payton said. "We didn't want him to take any uncontested shots." Olajuwon still scored 32 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to lead the Rockets.

"We had open shots and guys wouldn't take them," Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "That happened the other night (in Portland). It kills our system when we pass up open shots and pass to a guy that's covered."

Seattle led comfortably through most of the game and took a 79-64 lead into the fourth quarter before the Rockets made their only serious challenge. Houston scored the final basket of the third quarter to start a 16-2 run that cut the deficit to 81-78 with 6:34 left in the game.

That was as close as they got. "I think Seattle is one of the toughest teams for us to play," Tomjanovich said. "They got us out of our structured pattern. They came in here and convincingly beat us. Their defense sets up their offense."

Seattle used an 8-0 surge early in the first quarter, including two baskets by Sam Perkins, to take a 14-6 lead, and they never trailed again, moving to a 61-45 halftime lead. The Sonics used another 6-0 charge over a 3:30 span in the third quarter and maintained their advantage at 79-64 going into the final period.

Seattle forward Shawn Kemp did not start the game because of the flu.

"This game gives us confidence," Seattle coach George Karl said. "We have three straight home games coming up. If Phoenix falters, maybe we have some hope."
