Krueger calls on Senate challengers to cut personal salaries, expenses

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
AUSTIN — Interim U.S. Sen. Bob Krueger called Monday for his challengers to join him in cutting their own salaries and office budgets.
Krueger, the Democrat appointed to replace Lloyd Bentsen until a special election is held, said he is returning 20 percent of his salary and office budget.
He also has eliminated mailings of newsletters at taxpayer expense.
In an interview, Krueger said three GOP challengers who hold public office should match his action.
"I challenge my opponents to show that they are serious about cutting waste, and start at home with their own salaries. I say that when it comes to cutting government spending, politicians should lead by example and start with themselves," Krueger said.
"Charity may begin at home. But if charity begins at home, they're giving it all to themselves and not giving any to the taxpayers who put them there," he said.
A spokesman for one GOP candidate, U.S. Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, said Barton last year returned 14 percent of his congressional budget.
"Krueger's just come onto this idea. He has no genuine interest in the subject," said Barton spokesman Craig Murphy.
The campaign of a second Republican, state Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison, said she has proposed a congressional reform plan that would require Congress to cut its budget and staff by 25 percent and forego cost of living raises until the federal budget is balanced.
"Instead of this election eve showboating, Mr. Krueger would be well advised to concentrate on real deficit reduction matters," said David Beckwith, a spokesman for Hutchison.
Both GOP spokesmen also noted that Krueger, as a congressman in the 1970s, voted for newsletter mailings.
Krueger said eliminating newsletter mailings from his Senate office will save taxpayers $500,000 this year.
"If they are serious about cutting waste, then it's time to set an example or at least follow a decent lead," Krueger said.
"Cutting waste means digging in and making personal sacrifices first and doing the hard work to find waste and root it out. Are the people running in this race willing to put their money where their mouth is?" he asked.
Twenty-four candidates have entered the May 1 special election race.
Balloting begins April 12. If no candidate wins more than 50 percent of that vote, a runoff between the top two finishers will be held.
In other campaign developments Monday:
— The state's other U.S. senator, Republican Phil Gramm, predicted that the special election will lead to a runoff, with a Republican ultimately winning.
— But he wouldn't say which Republican that might be.
— U.S. Rep. Jack Fields, R-Humble, picked up the endorsement of former congressman Beau Boulter of Amarillo, who said it is "important that we Republicans unite behind the candidate who can most effectively challenge Bob Krueger and Bill Clinton."
— Hutchison told a Dallas fund-raising event she will be an advocate for women's rights. "As senator, I'll fight to ensure that women have equal opportunity in all aspects of American life."
