Presentation to feature architectural leaders

"The Education of the New Master Builders: How We Educate Future Building Professionals" is the theme for the Texas A&M University College of Architecture's John Miles Rowlett Lecture Series to be held April 13.

This year's series will feature renowned architectural trendsetters William G. McMinn, William J. Johnson and J. Roger Glunt. McMinn will begin the lecture series with a 7 p.m. presentation in Rudder Theatre.

For more information call 845-1015.

Marine industry issues topic for conference

Developments, trends and critical issues facing the marine/offshore industry will be discussed during the 17th Annual International Marine/Offshore Industry Outlook Conference scheduled at Texas A&M University Tuesday.

The conference is sponsored by Texas A&M's Sea Grant Program in conjunction with the National Ocean Industries Association (NOIA).

A financial overview of the offshore oil and gas industry will begin the one-day conference.

Other recognized marine/offshore leaders will discuss the 1993-95 industry outlook.

For more information call 845-3854.

A&M Sigma XI to honor outstanding professors

The Texas A&M University chapter of Sigma Xi, a scientific research honor society, will present six awards Tuesday at its annual initiation and banquet on campus.

Each year the chapter honors two outstanding teachers from area schools.

The 1993 winners are: for primary schools, Charlotte Slack of Rock Prairie Elementary School in College Station, and for secondary schools, Dr. Laura P. Burrell of the Rockdale Independent School District.

Campus awards will go to Dr. Leroy S. Fletcher, professor of mechanical engineering for distinguished scientist; Dr. Marie E. Legare, clinical associate, for outstanding new member; Brian D. Hennings, graduate student in physics for outstanding new associate (student) member; and Dr. Robert K. James, professor of educational curriculum and instruction for outstanding Texas A&M science communicator.

The banquet will be at 7 p.m. in Room 212 of the Memorial Student Center.

Dunking booth event to help cancer society

Texas A&M University students and faculty will participate in the Texas A&M Cancer Society's Fourth Annual Dunking Booth on the east side of the Academic Building Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dunking booth participants include Angie Dodson, Head-Diamond Darling; Stephen Ruth, former Student Body President; Mark Rawlins, Senior Yell Leader; and Jill McClure, 1992 Miss Texas A&M.

Three throws cost $1, and $3 will pay for a sure dunk. Proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society.

Early voting begins today in B-CS community

Early voting for Bryan-College Station residents begins today and runs through April 27 for the May 1 city-school and statewide elections.

Voters may choose from two different locations to vote in both the city-school and statewide elections.

Early voters in the special statewide election conducted may choose from five voting locations: MSC Room 138, College Station School Administration Offices, Brazos County Courthouse, Brazos County Arena Hall and the Galilee Baptist Church.

College Station residents voting early in city-school elections may do so at the College Station City Hall training room. Bryan early voters may cast their ballots in the Bryan Municipal Building lobby. Early voting polls will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Citizens voting on election day may vote for all city-school, Senate elections and constitutional amendments at their usual precinct polling location for city-school elections.

Bryan-College Station officials said the complexity of the voting process and the timing of Gov. Ann Richards order for a special state election did not allow sufficient time for federal approval to combine local and state elections for early voting.

College Station residents may call City Secretary Connie Hooks at 764-3512 for more information. In Bryan, call City Secretary Mary Lynne Galloway at 361-3609. For information on county elections, contact County Clerk Mary Ann Ward at 361-4128.
