Richards joins battle to save Kelly AFB

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN ANTONIO — Gov. Ann Richards roused Kelly Air Force Base workers as though it were an election-eve pep rally Tuesday as she pledged to lead the battle to save the base from closure.

"I am telling you, we are in a fight for our lives with Kelly Air Force Base. This is as serious as a heart attack," Richards told several hundred Kelly workers gathered in a huge airplane hangar.

"You are going to have to talk to your neighbors, to your friends, to your fellow workers and tell them that we are going to fight to the death to save Kelly Air Force Base," Richards said.

The San Antonio Air Logistics Center, Kelly's main function and its biggest employer with about 12,600 civilian workers, was added last month to the list of bases under consideration for closure by the Base Realignment and Closure Commission.

City and business leaders previously had not shown much worry that Kelly would be closed but immediately formed a group dubbed the "Case For Kelly Task Force" to promote the base.

"I think we'll state our case in a very dramatic way," said Mayor Nelson Wolff, whose father worked at Kelly in the 1940s. The logistics center oversees parts and maintenance for a number of aircraft, including the large C-5 cargo planes.

Richards said she would attend the commission's public hearing Sunday in Corpus Christi along with San Antonio city leaders and Kelly workers and lobby for Kelly next week in Washington.

Richards' staff distributed letters for Kelly workers to sign and asked the employees to attach photographs of themselves to send to commission members.

Police Beat

The following incidents were reported to the University Police Department between Apr. 29 - May 28.

Felony Theft/Burglary of a Vehicle
 Parking Area 48- The victim's Ford Explorer was entered and a backpack containing a diamond ring, textbooks, eye glasses and cassettes was stolen.

Parking Area 61- The victim's 1979 Ford Step-side pickup was stolen.

Eller Building- A computer system comprised of an Apple computer, monitor, keyboard and mouse was stolen. The system was valued at $3,950.

Misdemeanor Theft
 Hughes Hall- The victim set a brown refrigerator outside her room. When she returned two hours later, it was gone.

Rudder Tower- The victim's leather purse containing $87 in cash was stolen from the Theater Scene Shop.

McFadden Hall- The victim reported that her former roommate had stolen and forged six of her personal checks.

Sterling C. Evans Library- The victim observed a subject steal his textbook from a third floor study table. He gave chase, and another person assisted by detaining the suspect. The suspect got the person to let him go because he was being chased by an assailant with a stick.

Harassment
 Leggett Hall- The victim received a call from a person she believed was using information from a job application without authorization.

Aston Hall- The victim was harassed by an individual who left annoying messages on the recorder.

Briggs Hall- The victim was harassed by an individual who made various noises when the phone was answered.

Neeley Hall- The victim was followed and called repeatedly by a former acquaintance who had been told the relationship was over.

Criminal Mischief
 Parking Area 30- During patrol of campus property, a police officer noticed a bag of sugar on the license plate of a Chevy Monte Carlo.

Schuhmacher Hall- Someone painted the victim's residence hall door bright green and wrote, "Jesus Saves." A cross was also burned on the door and removed to leave the outline.

Lubbock St.- A large water soaked paper ball was thrown at the windshield of a Dial-A-Ride bus. There was no damage.

Driving While Intoxicated/Minor in Possession

Parking Area 59- A motorist was jailed after being pulled over for defective lighting on his vehicle because he was discovered to be driving while intoxicated.

Olsen Field- Eight MIP citations were issued.

Criminal Trespass / Disorderly Conduct
 Horticultural Science Bld.- Three individuals who stated they were "thrill-seeking" were escorted from the roof of the building.

MSC- The victim saw a nude male run out of the post office entrance.
