

Letterman premieres on CBS Monday

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — A relaxed, happy-looking David Letterman brought his late-night lunacy to CBS on Monday in the most publicized television event since ... since ... well, since "Cheers" signed off the air.

"This is CBS!" exclaimed actor Calvert deForest, a regular on Letterman's old NBC show as Larry "Bud" Melman. He was the first thing viewers of the new show saw, just as he was on the opening "Late Night."

Taped Monday afternoon for broadcast in his new 11:35 p.m. slot, the premiere of "Late Show with David Letterman" brought on surprise well-wishers Tom Brokaw and Paul Newman along with scheduled guests Bill Murray and Billy Joel.

Then Letterman, trim in his double-breasted charcoal blazer, strode out to a standing ovation onto the stage of the refurbished Ed Sullivan Theater, site of 23 years of weekly variety that included the Beatles' first American TV appearance.

"My name is Dave, and I checked this now with the CBS attorneys, and legally I CAN continue talking." It was a reference to the rancorous turn in NBC's relationship with the departing show. NBC had threatened legal action if the CBS show appropriated any "Late Night" comedy shtick.

After wishing his friend Letterman well, NBC anchor Brokaw cracked up the crowd when he snatched two cue cards.

"Those last two jokes are the 'intellectual property' of NBC," he said, quoting the network's legalese.

Before spray-painting Letterman's brand-new desk, a wired-up Bill Murray arrived on stage breathless, claiming to have mistakenly showed up at NBC before running crosstown to Letterman's new Broadway location.

Campus News Briefs

Corps march-in closer to kickoff

The Texas A&M Corps of Cadets' traditional march into Kyle Field before home football games will occur 45 minutes closer to game time this year.

In the past, the cadets have entered the field 90 minutes prior to the game, but now they will enter 45 minutes before kickoff to allow more spectators to view the march-in, said Maj. Gen. Thomas Darling in a press release.

The change will also allow the cadets to spend more time with families, friends and visitors before the game, he said.

The band will lead the cadets into the stadium but will play from the stands instead of the field because the members of both teams will be on the field.

Parsons Mounted Cavalry will make a separate entrance 20 minutes prior to the game.

Rodriguez-Iturbe to head C.E. dept

Dr. Ignacio Rodriguez-Iturbe, formerly a professor of two Venezuelan institutions and a senior lecturer with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is now the head of the civil engineering department at Texas A&M.

Rodriguez-Iturbe is a specialist in hydrologic processes and has written four books and more than 70 journal articles.

He has a degree from the Universidad del Zulia, a master of science from the California Institute of Technology and a Ph.D. from Colorado State.

A&M receives federal grant

Texas A&M has been awarded a $1 million federal grant to conduct transportation research.

The funds will be used to operate the Southwest Region University Transportation Center, which will initiate a series of regional conferences for transportation professionals targeted at promoting real-world applications of advanced technologies now being developed and tested.

Academy honors Medical school

Texas A&M's College of Medicine was recently honored by the Texas Academy of Family Physicians for achieving the highest percentage of graduates who have chosen to enter Family Practice Residency Programs in 1993.

A reception will be held Sept. 8 to celebrate and recognize those who helped A&M earn the award.

Business society donates $10,000

Students from Texas A&M's Data Processing Management Association have given $10,000 to the University's Center for the Management of Information Systems.

It is the first time a student organization in the College of Business has given a gift of this nature to the program before graduation.

The gift marks the halfway point toward a $20,000 goal for the Center's library in the new business facility.

Chem. E. names associate director

James C. Holste, a Texas A&M professor of chemical engineering, has been appointed associate director of graduate studies.

Holste has been actively involved in the graduate program since 1975 and has served as the department's graduate recruiter and graduate adviser. He is a member of the department's Graduate Affairs Committee.
