Rangers split with White Sox, stay alive in A.L. West

The Associated Press

CHICAGO— Chicago clinched a tie for its first AL West title since 1983 in the doubleheader opener as Bo Jackson hit his 14th homer and Jason Bere won his sixth straight start, but missed a chance to clinch outright.

Bere (11-5) gave up one run and four hits in six innings, struck out five and walked five. Roberto Hernandez got four outs for his 37th save in 43 chances.

Kenny Rogers (15-10) gave up three runs and six hits in 6 1/3 innings.

With the score tied 1-1 in the eighth inning of the second game, Julio Franco hit an RBI double off Alex Fernandez (17-9) and scored on Dean Palmer's grounder.

Roger Pavlik (11-6) won the second game, but his scoreless streak was stopped at 20 innings. Tom Henke pitched two innings for his club-record 39th save.

Astros beat Dodgers 5-4

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Mike Piazza had three RBIs Sunday to become the first National League rookie in 40 years to drive in 100 runs, but it wasn't enough as Houston's Mark Portugal won his 11th straight decision with a 5-4 victory against Los Angeles.

Portugal (17-4) struck out four and walked three in five innings, following his first complete game of the season last Tuesday in a three-hit shutout against San Francisco. Doug Jones got the final two outs for his 25th save.

Portugal's string of victories is the longest in the majors since Atlanta's Tom Glavine won 13 in a row last season. Portugal is 16-2 with a 2.61 ERA in his last 27 starts.

Rams humble nosediving Oilers

The Associated Press

HOUSTON — Quarterbacks Jim Everett and Warren Moon came to the Astrodome seeking redemption Sunday. Only Everett found it.

Criticized for his performance this season, Everett threw three touchdown passes and refused to wilt under Houston's blitz, leading the Los Angeles Rams (2-2) to a 28-13 victory over the Houston Oilers (1-3).

"I get excited about coming back to Houston," Everett said. "Sure, I wouldn't be human if that weren't true. There are times you go through ups and downs, but I'll let my play speak for itself."

Houston's run-and-shoot offense was held to a pair of field goals and trailed 14-6 when Moon finally hit an 80-yard touchdown pass to Ernest Givins, who streaked past two defenders midway in the third quarter.

That cut the Rams' lead to 14-13, but Everett came back with touchdown passes of 22 yards to Travis McNeal in the third quarter and 48 yards to Henry Ellard with 1:10 gone in the fourth quarter.

very positive and served a good cause.

"All of us are happy to be out here to help raise money for these kids — it's a good cause, it's fun and we enjoy having a good time with them," Henderson said.

"It's nice to help them."

Teams would send players to the free throw stripe to shoot 100 times, and the average number made by each team would determine how much money contributors would donate.

Marc Hamlin, who serves on the Advisory Board for Scotty's House and was in charge of organizing the event, said that he was extremely pleased with the turnout and the response from the community.

"This has been great," Hamlin said. "We had a goal of $6000 and it looks like we're going to clear that. This is just a tremendous turnout."

Head basketball coach Tony Barone said that he thinks that events like this can be a learning experience for all of those who participate.

"A part of our process as a basketball team is the education process," Barone said. "I think that you learn a lot being in the real world and in this type of thing, the kids can see it."

"We really try to involve our players in the community and this is a continuation."

Lynn McDonald who was the co-chairman of the event, said that he thinks Scotty's House provides an ideal environment for children caught in a bad situation.

"Whenever a child is abused, or witnesses a crime, the child gets dragged around through institutions, police stations and sits in hallways," McDonald said. "These children are interviewed and examined over and over, and it's very traumatic because they've already been dragged through hell."

McDonald explained Scotty's house keeps children from having to go through multiple interviews with different law agencies and admitting live court testimony in front of the abuser.

"Scotty's house provides a neutral location where the children can be interviewed in a setting appropriate to their age," McDonald said. "The people involved view the one-on-one interview through a one-way mirror — the whole idea is to pull the system together as a team interview."

Barone also said he was happy his team could help out by participating and providing role models for the children who showed up at the event.

"I respect our kids for coming out here," Barone said. "Everything that we do has a dual purpose," Barone said. "Kids tend to recognize the value that they have to the community and that is really positive. The players are role models which gives the kids some positive reinforcement."

The Aggie Angels also attended the benefit to help keep score of free throws, collect balls and help organize the participants. Tricia Vail, a senior Aggie Angel from Colleyville, said that she was fortunate to help contribute to his cause.

"I'm just pleased to be involved with an organization that can help out with the community and help best represent Texas A&M University."

Hamlin said despite the emphasis of his event focusing on the fund raiser, there was plenty of competition to go around between the players and coaches.

"The biggest story here is that the coaches slammed the players today; coach Barone made 76/100 even with a gusting wind," Hamlin said.

"The players seemed to think there was a discrepancy in some of the numbers written down, but we know who really won."
