A&M soccer team beats Central Florida 4-2

By Mark Smith
THE BATTALION

The Texas A&M Lady Aggie soccer team recorded its seventh straight win Sunday with a 4-2 victory over the 10th-ranked Golden Knights of Central Florida.

The Aggies improved their record to 7-2 while UCF fell to 3-6. A&M head coach G. Guerrieri said he was extremely pleased with his team's performance against such an established program as UCF.

"We're absolutely ecstatic about the game," Guerrieri said.

"It's our biggest win ever and it comes against a team who is, year in and year out, regarded as one of the best programs in the country."

A&M took the lead first when freshman midfielder Jamie Csizmadia scored on a penalty kick 32:50 into the first period. However, UCF's freshman midfielder Amy Jones tied the game at one just six minutes later with a goal at 38:45.

A&M received another penalty kick with 5:25 remaining in the second period when the Golden Knights' senior forward Tiffany Schreiner was ejected from the game for slapping an A&M player which left UCF with just 10 players.

Despite the shortage in personnel, UCF mounted a charge. Central Florida junior midfielder scored on a free kick with 3:45 remaining in the second period to send the game into its first overtime.

The first overtime was scoreless. However, UCF's junior defender Stephanie Gringer was ejected during the period, leaving the Knights with just nine players on the field.

The Aggies sealed the game in the second overtime when freshman midfielder Sandy Edwards and junior forward Anna Whitehead scored within 15 seconds of each other.

Guerrieri said he was pleased with the team's progress for such a young program.

"(This victory) showed that our group of young players, most of who had never met before five weeks ago have really jelled into a nice team," Guerrieri said. "I'm really excited about it. The girls did a great job."

In the Aggies' first home game ever on Saturday, they beat Oral Roberts 11-0.

A&M outshot the Golden Eagles 48-0, the first time the Aggies have ever held an opponent to no shots.

the seventh-ranked offense in the nation.

The combination of Glenn and Mickens stymied Hill as he caught only three passes for 22 yards, and A&M shut down a Tech offense that had averaged 487 yards per game to only 169 yards.

Coming into the game, senior wide receiver Lloyd Hill needed only 57 yards to capture the all-time SWC career mark for receiving yards. Before the game, Glenn and Mickens said Hill wouldn't break the record against them.

"Lloyd Hill and Derrell Mitchell were our main focuses today," Mickens said. "We were really psyched-up for this game. Me and A.G. were always on them no matter where they lined up."

Mickens said that a third down play early in the third quarter was the turning point of the game.

"They ran a fade to Hill and I broke it up," Mickens said. "Coach Dykes said 'Great play, Ray-Ray.' Right there when he told me that, I knew we had it."

After the loss, Hill gave credit to the two defensive backs for their outstanding work in the secondary.

"A&M's cornerbacks played really aggressive and physical today," Hill said. "I haven't been covered that tough all season, and I was impressed with their speed and coverage ability."

Glenn, who said that he had constantly re-lived the 41-yard touchdown Hill scored on him a year ago, said that his interception in the second quarter of Saturday's game made him feel much better.

"I thought about it all the time," Glenn said. "I felt good about (the interception), but I felt better physically this week than I have any other week."

A&M defensive backs coach Trent Walters said that the play of his two cornerbacks was exemplary.

"They have a lot of poise, (and) I thought they played tremendously," Walters said. "They are small in stature but they don't know that."

"They don't realize that they are small, (but) they play like they are 6'2" all the time and that is what they have to do."

Texas Tech senior quarterback Robert Hall, who completed just 12 passes in 31 attempts for 106 yards, gave due credit to A&M's defensive backs.

"They are pro material, (and) they will be in NFL," Hall said. "They are really good corners."

"They came up in our face, they respected what we've done in the past, and they shut us down."

sophomore quarterback Corey Pullig for the Aggies' first touchdown at the end of the second quarter.

The score gave the Aggies a 10-6 lead.

A&M senior center Chris Dausin said from that point on, the Aggies were able to gain some momentum and take control of the play.

"At the beginning of the game, they were doing a lot of different stuff that we weren't used to," Dausin said. "When we came out in the second half, I think we were a lot more focused and we keyed up on what to expect from the defense."

Running back Rodney Thomas scored two touchdowns in the third quarter and a fourth quarter touchdown pass to running back Leeland McElroy capped off A&M's scoring.

If Tech did not burden the Aggies throughout the game, penalties did. Officials called a total of 12 penalties against A&M, resulting in a loss of 109 yards. This did not prevent A&M's offense from moving the ball as they gained a total of 405 yards.

The penalty flags were not the only things flying around the field. Tech fans welcomed A&M players by pelting them with tortillas. The traditional tortilla shower, which was started several years ago, took the players by surprise.

Glenn said he didn't know what hit him.

"I thought they were frisbees at first," he said. "I was moving out of the way because I thought they were hard."

"I didn't understand it, then I saw the writing on them. I thought it was funny."

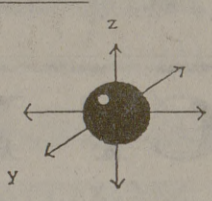

Slocum said he told the players they should eat the tortillas because the Raiders went to a lot of trouble to serve A&M a meal.

With the tortillas and Tech behind them, the Aggies can look forward to a long schedule of teams looking to dethrone the Aggies as they try to defend their consecutive SWC championships.

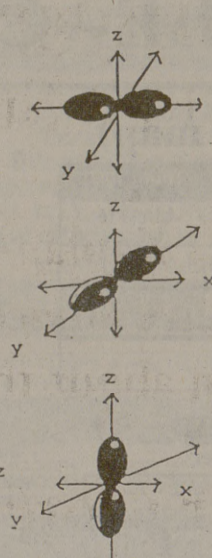

But Dausin said A&M's start against Tech provides some motivation for next weekend's matchup with Houston at Kyle Field and beyond for the 3-1 Aggies.

"It (the win) was awesome, especially when it was 31-6," Dausin said. "That's a pretty confident win there. We just need to work for the next week - so here we go."

Dallas boots Green Bay

The Associated Press

IRVING — Troy Aikman, Michael Irvin and Emmitt Smith were in Super Bowl form but it was 37-year-old placekicker Ed die Murray who gave the Dallas Cowboys something they've been missing, a field goal kicker.

Murray, signed two weeks ago, tied a club record with five field goals, including long-distance 48 and 50 yarders, on Sunday as the defending NFL champions climbed back to 500 with a 36-14 thrashing of the Green Bay Packers.

Dallas, which had lost its first two games thanks in part to poor placekicking by Lin Elliott, evened its record at 2-2 while the Packers, last-second losers in two games, fell to 1-3.

Aikman, who was in flawless form, hitting 18 of 23 passes for 317 yards, threw one touchdown pass.

Smith, making his first start after his bitter contract dispute with owner Jerry Jones, scored on a 22-yard run and had 71 yards on 13 carries.
