We're Owen Healthcare, Inc., the nation's leading hospital pharmacy provider. We're making our presence felt nationwide with 270 locations in 41 states and with 2700 employees. Our 20% growth rate for the past 24 years has opened the door for advancement in our ITS (Information Technology Services) Department. We presently have 3 position openings to start in January 1994. All positions will be located in our Corporate Office in Houston, Texas.

As one of our Programmers, you will be responsible for performing enhancements and maintenance to existing programs, help develop and create new programs in various application areas, and develop and modify system and user documentation. You will work in a Novell LAN environment with our state of the art equipment on challenging assignments. All of our programmers are trained in Object Oriented Programming and work in a private office - not a cubical. Our department is made up of fun people with outgoing personalities who are very team oriented.

Qualified applicants should have a Bachelor's Degree in BANA, 0 - 1 years of work experience developing PC based relational database applications. Any knowledge or experience with OOP (Object Oriented Programming) or working in a LAN environment is a strong plus! All candidates should have excellent communication skills and a high degree of professionalism.

Owen offers excellent pay and outstanding benefits including: company paid medical, dental, and life insurance, an employee stock ownership plan; an onsite work-out weigh room facility; paid holidays; a credit union; a 401 K plan, tuition reimbursement and much more!

Sign up in the placement center by Noon on October 28, 1993. Preselection will be chosen from the overflow list.

Volleyball team squeaks past Rice

From Staff and Wire Reports

The Lady Aggie Volleyball team took a tough four-game match from the Rice Owls Wednesday night, winning on the road 12-15, 15-4, 15-13, 16-14.

A&M improved to 23-4 overall and 7-1 in the Southwest Conference. Rice dropped to 10-13, 0-8.

The Lady Aggies were paced by senior outside hitter Sheila Morgan, who scored 18 kills against the Owls, and senior middle blocker Amy Kising, who notched 12 kills and nine blocks. Kising led all players with a .476 hitting percentage. A&M sophomore setter Suzy Wente had a match-high 20 digs, tying A&M's best mark of the season.

A&M's next match comes Wednesday at G. Rollie White, facing the University of Texas, which gave A&M its only SWC loss Sept. 15.

Dodgers' Piazza named 1993 NL Rookie of the Year

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Mike Piazza, a 62nd-round draft pick, had one of the finest rookie seasons ever, was unanimously named National League Rookie of the Year on Wednesday.

Piazza, who won the Los Angeles Dodgers catching job during spring training, hit .318 with home runs and 112 RBIs. His average was the highest of any Rookie of the Year since the award began in 1947, and he was the first winner to drive in runs.

His home-run total is the second-most for an NL rookie ever, trailing only Frank Robinson's 38 for the Cincinnati Reds in 1956. The only other NL rookie with more homers was Walt Berger of the 1930 Boston Braves.

Piazza, the 1,389th player chosen in the 1988 amateur draft, came the sixth unanimous rookie winner, joining Robins, Orlando Cepeda (1958), Willie McCovey (1959), Vince Coleman (1985) and Benito Santiago (1992).

Atlanta Braves pitcher Greg Maddux was second with 12 second-place votes and four thirds in Baseball Writers Association of America. Jeff Conine of Florida was third with 31 points and Chuck Carr of the Marlins was fourth with 18 points.

Piazza was seventh in the league in hitting, sixth in home runs and fourth in RBIs. He tied for third on the NL rookie RBI list with Ray Jablonski of the St. Louis Cardinals. Berger holds the NL rookie record with 119 RBIs and Jimmy Williams drove in 10 runs for the 1899 Pittsburgh Pirates.

Piazza, 25, became the 10th Dodger to win the award and the second straight, following Eric Karros last year.

"We struggled but won 1-0 against them last time, and we know this match will be for the bragging rights of Texas."

Freshman goalkeeper Sunny McConnell said she agrees with Guerrieri that the rival Lady Longhorns need to be taught a lesson.

"This will be a bit of a grudge match," McConnell said.

"This time around we need to correct that mistake that was in the papers and let them see the real Aggie soccer team."

The tournament winner will be determined on a point system. Six points will be given for a win, three for a tie, one for a shutout, and one point for every goal scored up to three goals. A maximum of ten points can be achieved per match.

Going into the weekend, Guerrieri said he believes the first season has already been a success.

"There has a lot of great individual drive and lots of pride on this team," Guerrieri said.

"These players have a good sense of chemistry, and they seem to enjoy working hard for each other. Wins just come from that naturally."

this season.

"The team is doing real well, considering the inexperience factor and the number of freshmen we have running," Snider said.

"For myself, I think I am where I wanted to be this year."

Although he has set high goals for himself in the five mile run for the conference championship this weekend, Snider predicted the team would finish at fourth place.

"I think finishing in the top ten individually will be a good accomplishment for me," Snider said. "However, Texas, Rice and Baylor are almost assured to finish as the top three, so we will have to battle it out with Texas Tech and Southern Methodist for fourth place."

Coach Marcinkiewicz said he would be pleased with a fourth place finish from either team based on the inexperience and lack of funds for both programs.

"We don't have separate scholarships for track and cross-country, so we end up spending less money on distance runners than anyone else in the conference," Marcinkiewicz said.

"We hardly ever get any out-of-state runners - just Texans, but all these kids give a great effort."

wild and woolly pals.

Maybe they will move Disney movies to 10 p.m. like they have moved the Beavis and Butthead show.

Whatever they do, I never thought I'd see the day when Beavis & Butthead and Mickey Mouse were both dangerous threats to the young television/movie-viewing public at large.

Who would have ever thought it?

I guess everyone should just quit Texas A&M and blame Michael Jordan, who quit a successful professional basketball career because he has accomplished everything he wanted.

What's to stop us from "retiring" by saying that we've accomplished everything we've wanted?

I have gotten my share of good grades, I've been active in clubs and organizations, and I have met a lot of people and learned things about cultural diversity.

Whatever. Give me a break.

It is a sad statement for America when parents can't restrict what a 5-year-old watches on television and juniors in high school are studying the underside of a car instead of spending time thinking about where they might want to attend college in their near future.

The fact is that most people just don't want to accept responsibility for their own actions - it's always got to be someone else's fault.

It is not just Beavis and Butthead or kids trying to duplicate movie stunts, it's the majority of people who just can't stand to face the consequences of their actions.

For instance, everybody knows that some of the NCAA Division I schools pay their athletes, but the schools and the NCAA won't take the heat for the economic monster and money-luring tactics they have created in college athletics.

Hey NCAA, admit it!

Personally, I don't see why they just don't make paying athletes legal. If NCAA officials ever get off their butts and decided to investigate every major Division I program, there might not be any college football bowl games on or before New Year's Day because of the numerous violations, small or large, that the NCAA would find.

The schools should rightfully compensate the athletes for what they have earned and for the recognition and revenue the players generate for the school.

No argument - just pay the players.

If people would just admit their own carelessness and lack of thought, then maybe this country could take some steps of progress forward, instead of constantly moving backwards.

INTS

Bachelor of Arts Degree in International Studies

MOST COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT INTS

6. How many hours are required for this major?

Students pursuing this degree will complete a 36 credit hour major, with at least 12 credit hours at the advanced level.

7. What type of courses will I take for the major?

The major consists of three requirements: (1) core courses- 18 hours; (2) directed electives-9 hours; and (3) concentration electives-9 hours.

8. Will I be able to concentrate my studies in a particular area of interest?

Students will select a concentration (OPTION) in one area such as European Studies (EUR), Asian Studies (ASN), Latin American Studies (LAS), or a more broadly aimed interest in World Studies (WOR).

9. Am I required to complete a minor?

Students will complete a minimum 18 credit hour minor, with at least 9 hours at the advanced level. The minor is a very important component of the INTS Degree. Students will consult with the program Director in choosing a meaningful minor which will lead to a strong academic and professional Degree. Students in the INTS program usually have very definite plans of what they want to do after completing their degree. Some are opting for a minor in Marketing, Business Administration, Speech Communication, Journalism, Computer Science, and other areas which will make them particularly attractive in the international marketplace. Other students are using their INTS degree in preparation for graduate or law school.
