Palestinians in Jericho after strife with Israel

The Associated Press

JERICHO, Occupied West Bank — Forty Palestinians in camouflage uniforms proudly marched through this West Bank town for the first time on Thursday, winning a showdown with Israeli troops trying to block them.

The guards formed columns and attempted a legged step. They were out of formation quickly and apart.

The new civil guard unit appeared too ill-equipped to maintain order during the transition period in which Israel will begin withdrawing the Gaza Strip and West Bank.

Hassan Asfour, spokesman for the Palestinian negotiating team, said during talks in Egypt Thursday that the Palestinians would need a force of more than 25,000 officers for all of the occupied lands.

Bikeways

In a subsequent item, the Council approved the Creation Bike Loop and the Brazos College Station Bike Map as options for the Statewide Transportation Enhancement Program to compete for federal money available for building bikeways.

"The Bikeway Master Plan vision of how bikeways will be in the future," said Ed Harsh, transportation planner for the College Station. "The loop is a small part of the plan."

The Bike Loop is a combination of bikeways approximately 10 miles in length. It is composed of bike paths, lanes and routes will provide connection access between Texas A&M University, many apartments and neighborhoods, Post Oak Mall, city parks and the Amtrak station.

Those in favor of the plan were pleased with the actions of the Council. "It was wonderful to see support from all segments of the community," said Hausen, "those with objection support the Master Plan."
