Changes in the Aggie Ring Requirements

The Aggie Ring is the most personal and visible symbol of Aggie pride. For many years, The Association of Former Students has had the responsibility of protecting the spirit and integrity of the Aggie Ring. The challenge of this great honor and responsibility has led The Board of Directors of The Association of Former Students to approve the following policy changes regarding requirements for eligibility for the Aggie Ring, effective January 1, 1994.

Contingency Orders Will No Longer Be Taken - Ring orders will be accepted only after all requirements have been completed and are reflected on SIMS.

Requirement for Residence Hours Raised - The undergraduate residence requirement is raised from 30 credit hours to 60 (If an undergraduate student receives his/her degree with less than 60 hours, the degree being posted to the transcript will waive the 60 hour requirement.)

Undergraduate Student Requirements:
 The following requirements are effective January 1, 1994, except for all candidates eligible as of December 31, 1993, who must order their ring by the February 11, 1994 deadline:

- Must be a degree seeking student with 95 credit hours completed and reflected on SIMS (a passed course, which is repeated, cannot count as additional hours);
- 60 of your 95 credit hours must be in residence at Texas A&M University (will be waived if your degree is posted on SIMS);

Chiefs down Packers, remain first in division

The Associated Press

Saleaumua ran 16 yards for a touchdown early in the third quarter with a fumble stripped by Derrick Thomas from Brett Favre to set the Chiefs off on a 17-point run that gave them a 23-16 victory over Green Bay on Monday night.

Then the 6-foot, 300-pounder forced a fumble by Darrell Thompson that Tracy Rogers recovered in the end zone just as the Packers threatened to go ahead with just under six minutes left.

An interception by Martin Bayless, Kansas City's third of the game, ended Green Bay's final threat with 1:40 left.

The victory kept the Chiefs (6-2) in first place in the AFC West and ended a three-game winning streak for the Packers (4-4).

But it wasn't easy.

The Kansas City offense was limited to just 60 yards in the half and could have gone off trailing by more than the 9-3 score by which the Packers led. In fact, the defense produced those points, a 23-yard field goal by Nick Lowery set up by Kevin Ross' interception and 48-yard return.

Green Bay, meanwhile, failed on a first and goal from the two when Thomas forced a third down fumble and chose to kick a field goal on fourth down from the Kansas City one in the final minute of the half and settled for Chris Jacke's field goals of 23, 51 and 19 yards.

Then, on Green Bay's first offensive play after intermission, Thomas broke behind Favre and swiped at the ball, knocking it straight at the feet of Saleaumua. He grabbed it like a shortstop and rambled 16 yards into the end zone to give the Chiefs the lead.

Green Bay went three and out and the Chiefs, whose only first half score was set up by Kevin Ross' interception, drove 46 yards in 10 plays to make it 13-9 on a 34-yard field goal by Lowery.

The Chiefs made it 20-9 1:06 into the fourth quarter after a 76-yard drive, their only sustained offensive sortie of the night.

The key play was a 32-yard pass from Dan Krieg to J.J. Birden that put the ball at the Green Bay 4-yard-line. Krieg, subbing while Montana rested his pulled hamstring, was of 30 for 170 yards and was sacked four times three by Bryce Paup.

But 55 seconds after the Chiefs' touchdown Green Bay narrowed the score to 20-16.

Marcus Wilson returned the kickoff 55 yards to the 45. Then Favre found Sterling Sharpe for 21 yards then found Jackie Ham all alone for a 35-yard pass.

Seven minutes later it looked like it would be 23-20 Packers as Green Bay, aided by a 30-yard pass interference call against Dale Carr, moved to a first down at the Chiefs' 3.

But on second down, as Thompson charged toward the end zone, Saleaumua stripped him the ball came loose and Rogers fell on it. The Todd McNair's 48-yard run set up a 40-yard field goal by Lowery that finalized the game's 23-16 with 3:26 left.

coaches, telling you how good you are, nobody really knows who the national champions are," Thomas said. "I think a national championship team is a team that has all the pieces, like a strong defense, a good offense and good special teams.

"It's important for all those pieces to work together and it's important for all those players to work together. When that happens, then that is a national championship-type team. I think Texas A&M is one of those teams."

While the national championship may be out of reach this year, the Southwest Conference championship is just around the corner with another trip to the Cotton Bowl. But Thomas said he does not want to look that far ahead.

"Every time you win a championship, it's special," said Thomas who won two 2A Texas state championships at Groveton before coming to A&M. "Every time we win a game it's special to me."

"I take it one game at a time, but the team goal is definitely getting back to the Cotton Bowl."

Boston, Chicago, Seattle win

The Associated Press

BOSTON — The Boston Celtics had seven players in double figures Monday night and beat the Milwaukee Bucks 108-100.

Sherman Douglas led Boston with 19 points, Robert Parish had 18 and Dino Radja 15. Milwaukee was led by Eric Murdock with 22, while Frank Brickowski, Ken Norman and Todd Day had 16 each.

Milwaukee cut a 66-56 deficit midway through the third quarter to 99-95 with 2:13 left on consecutive baskets by Murdock and Norman.

Rick Fox, who had 12 points, sank two free throws before Milwaukee rookie Vin Baker's tip made it 101-97 with 1:44 left. Parish and Brickowski then traded foul shots, making it 102-98. Parish's two free throws with 20 seconds left clinched the win.

CHICAGO — The Chicago Bulls, depleted by the retirement of Michael Jordan and an injury to Scottie Pippen, needed neither Monday night in a 106-80 rout of the Atlanta Hawks.

The Bulls, who got 23 points from B.J. Armstrong, used a 41-13 surge in the second half to blow out the Hawks. Pippen was placed on injured reserve earlier Monday with tendinitis in the right ankle and missed his first game since the 1988-89 season.

The game was tied at 50 when the Bulls went on a 22-9 burst in the last 9:02 of the third quarter to open a 72-59 lead. The surge continued into the fourth, as Chicago outscored Atlanta 15-2 to lead to 87-61. Dominique Wilkins led the Hawks with 17 points. Pete Myers added 15 for the Bulls.

SALT LAKE CITY — Ricky Pierce made a 15-foot jumper with 11.5 seconds remaining, giving Seattle a 101-100 victory Monday night over the Utah Jazz in the SuperSonics' road opener.

The Jazz, losing for the first time in three games, had two final chances, but Sean Kemp blocked Karl Malone's shot from 15 feet out. Jeff Malone picked up the ball for the Jazz and missed from 21 feet just before the buzzer sounded.

Sam Perkins led Seattle (2-0) with 18 points, and Pierce added 16. Malone's 17-footer put the Jazz ahead, setting the stage for Pierce's game winner.

were virtually crushed between the fences and the surging masses behind them. This resulted in 73 injuries, six of those critical.

News clips of the carnage shocked the nation. The pictures were graphic. A girl was pressed against a gate pleading with a guard to open the gate because she was being crushed, but he seemed to ignore her. Football players were tearing at piles of students to retrieve the ones suffocating on the bottom. It looked more like a soccer match in Liverpool than a collegiate football game in Madison, Wisconsin.

The point is that there was no precedent for the measures taken at the Wisconsin game. If there were any previous situations that involved injuries or real problems caused by fans rushing the field, then the NCAA and most schools in the nation would have taken measures against it. But, they haven't.

The police were reported to have acted belligerently. One student said security guards hit and pushed them. They were hitting those trying to escape the pressure from the churning masses behind them.

Head of campus police, Susan Riseling, told security before the game to discourage fans from going onto the field, but to allow them on the field if large numbers of people begin to push through. Her orders were not heeded. But why should the students be discouraged at all? They should have been aware of the dangers near the fences.

Another question: Why have fences in the first place? They might have been intended to keep the fans off the field, but all they did was trap the students.

The fact is that the student body did try to rush the field which was against school policy. They acted irresponsibly and a lot of people got hurt. Their part in this tragedy cannot go unnoticed.

But the school policy itself needs serious evaluation. Wisconsin is the only school to suffer this kind of disaster. It is the only one with chain link fences and abusive security. They need to take some of the responsibility for this, as well.

Wisconsin could have had the memories of a celebrated victory similar to the ones Kansas State have now. Instead they only have the nightmares of a Halloween tragedy which could have been avoided.
