The new museum is the only one of its kind in the southwestern United States, Robinson said.

there is an institute that is devoted exclusively to studying, preserving and presenting exhibits on the African-American heritage," Robinson and presenting exhibits on the African-American heritage, said.

Five exhibits will be on display for the museum's opening: Century Black Masters of American Art," "Elijah Pierce: Wood Carv-"Dream, Myth, and Reality: Contemporary Art From Senegal, er,' 'Contemporary Texas Black Artists," and artworks from the museum's Billy R. Allen Folk Art Collection.

Pieces include traditional African masks, quilts, collages, sculptures and oil and acrylic paintings.

Aside from its collections, the museum also houses a library and research center, an auditorium that can seat up to 100 visitors for perfor-mances and a children's center outfitted with 15 computers. An afterschool program for children and adults will provide instruction on black history, literature and art history.

"It's a center of celebration, a center of transformation and a center of enlightenment," Robinson said. "We hope that people get new information and change their attitudes."
