Johnson hoping Dallas can rebound from loss

The Associated Press

IRVING — Jimmy Johnson loves a good psychological challenge and he's got one with a Super Bowl team that has become star-crossed.
 "There's not a large margin of error now," the Dallas Cowboys coach said Tuesday. "It looks like our Jan. 2 game with the New York Giants is going to be a big ballgame. But we have to take care of business in the meantime."
 Johnson is into damage control after an agonizing 16-14 loss to Miami on Thanksgiving Day which ended on the crazy Leon Lett blocked field goal blunder.

 "It's been a very disruptive year," Johnson said. "It's been difficult for us to get on a roll like we did last year."
 Things haven't become so desperate that Johnson has referred to the psychology book "Flow," which he used during the Super Bowl. "I haven't had time to thumb through the chapters," Johnson said. "But this is a critical time for us. I think we will be fine and can still finish where we want to finish. But if we don't take care of business we'll be explaining what happened for the next six months."
 "We had a swagger coming into this season but it's not as big as it used to be," Johnson said. "I think we can get it back."

 Johnson said he's not concerned when the Cowboys have homefield advantage in the playoffs.
 "Our goal is to win the division, healthy, and be playing well when the playoffs start," Johnson said. "If we have to play on the road, we play on the road, no big deal. It doesn't make any difference."
 Dallas got into the Super Bowl in January after defeating San Francisco in the title game at Candlestick Park.
 The Cowboys are currently 7-4.

Jacksonville catches NFL franchise Men

The Associated Press

ROSEMONT, Ill. — The NFL took on a distinct Southeast tilt Tuesday, selecting longshot Jacksonville, Fla., to join Charlotte as its 1995 expansion teams.
 "The Southeast," commissioner Paul Tagliabue said, "is a terrific area for football, a real hotbed."
 So it will be the Jacksonville Jaguars playing in aqua shirts trimmed with yellow sleeves and black spots and an open-mouthed jaguar on the helmet.
 They joined the Carolina Panthers by beating out the old-line cities of St. Louis and Baltimore, as well as Memphis, Tenn. St. Louis and Baltimore each has lost teams in the past decade; Memphis was one of the favorites when the NFL first began discussing expansion six years ago.
 "Listen, in the NFL I'm not surprised about anything," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills. "You never go into any meeting with a predetermined view."

 Charlotte was chosen five weeks ago at a meeting in which the owners couldn't decide on a second team. This time they did because Tagliabue made up his mind to support Jacksonville on Monday.
 The expansion and finance committees went 10-2 for Jacksonville, with Robert Tisch of the New York Giants and Norman Braman of the Philadelphia Eagles supporting Baltimore.
 The final expansion vote was 26-2, with Braman and James Busch Orthwein of the New England Patriots voting against Jacksonville. Tisch's co-owner, Wellington Mara, switched the Giants to the majority.
 The Los Angeles Rams, Cincinnati Bengals and the Patriots all have indicated willingness to move. Baltimore is interested in the Rams and St. Louis in the Patriots.
 "We will follow our normal process for moving teams," said Tagliabue citing rules requiring owners to show they can do better in a new territory.

opponent and a fellow contender for the award.
 "I expect a lot out of myself and I look forward to doing better," Edwards said. "Hopefully, I'll just go out and play my game and help get a win for our team."
 Edwards also said that his team is focused on Kansas State.
 "I don't think we can be too serious as a team," Edwards said. "As a team, we need to be it up."
 Bern said that there are other things at stake besides the bragging rights of the two games.
 "The bigger picture is how they get their team to win a game," Bern said. "I think Dallas is one of the top point guards in the country and he will rise to the challenge."
 Senior forward Damon Johnson, who led the Aggies against Bucknell with 24 points and 14 rebounds, said that the team is prepared for a tough game.
 "They are a good team and very physical, but we're ready," Johnson said. "You have to be mentally prepared the same way every game, but I definitely think we are more focused than we were for Bucknell."
 Johnson also said that the Aggies will be much improved in their low post defense, something they had problems with in Saturday's 73-69 victory over the Blue Devils.
 "We worked on it a lot during practice yesterday," Johnson said. "You will see a definite improvement on post defense for our game."
 Senior forward Brett Mar who Bern said had the best season workout of any player will miss his second straight game with an aggravated flexor muscle. Bern added that the injury is far more serious than originally expected and as a result, a few of the Aggies' faces will get a chance to see their stuff while Murry heels.
 "(Joe) Wilbert, (Roy) Williams (Anthony) Burks will be thrown into the fire," Bern said. "It's going to be live or die by that."
 "It's something I don't like, but that's what we have to do."

picked up five steals.
 Branch said she was surprised by her totals because she did not think she had a good rhythm going.
 "I wasn't really feeling it tonight, but when they started double-teaming, I was always the one left open," Branch said.
 Defense was also a big key for A&M. The Lady Tigers managed only 16 first half points with a lowly .280 field goal percentage.

 After TSU got off to a quick start in the second half, A&M put the defensive clamps back on, outscoring their opponents, 33-8, over an 11 minute span.
 During that time, the Tigers went over five minutes without scoring a basket.
 Head basketball coach Lynn Hickey said she thought that although the game had many positives, it was no excuse for a let down.
 "We were running the break better, going inside better, plus doing a whole lot of little fundamental things better," Hickey said. "This week-end however is going to be another step up, and we'll be involved in two games like our first one (a 73-68 squeaker at Arizona State)."
 A&M will host the Lady Aggie Invitational this Saturday and Sunday.

blocking team.
 "They have some really big girls, so we're going to have to hit really smart," Kislung said. "If we play smart, we can beat them."
 A&M head coach Laurie Corbelli feels there are three key things to winning.
 "We're going to have to play very disciplined," Corbelli said. "We're going to have to make adjustments as soon as possible against their main hitters and hit smart against their big blockers."

 The Patriots are led by middle hitter Virag Domokos who is second in the nation in block average (1.90) and fourth in hitting percentage (.447). Setter Erin Batcher is averaging 10 assists a game.
 "They know how to win, and they are very athletic," Corbelli said. "They're probably not as athletic as the Texas team but very similar to Houston."
 "I'm expecting a lot of hard hits and a real big net game. I don't think the floor defense game is going to be too pretty or

Me (stepping in a puddle of grape juice): Yeah, Mom. I'll clean it up as soon as the game is over.
 Mom: All right, as soon as the game is over. But I want my new white carpet spotless when you clean it up.
 Dennis: Come on Dave, they haven't lost it yet.
 Loy Vaughn steals the ball and runs the length of the court for a dunk. Clippers by one.
 Me (punching the brick fireplace): Who in the world was he throwing that pass too? The Rockets couldn't beat a seventh grade 'C' team. Change the channel, Dad. I can't watch anymore of this.
 Knock! Knock! Knock!
 Jason (friend): We saw that the Rockets were blowing their lead so we came over to see how bad Dave is hurting himself.
 Hakeem Olajuwon hits a turn around jumper. Rockets by one.

bleeding yet? Don't tell me we've already missed the good parts.
 Mario Elie nails a three-pointer from the top of the circle. Rockets by two.
 Me (getting scalped by the ceiling fan as I jump): All right, we got the lead. Now all we have to do is figure out a way to lose this one.
 Gary Grant drives for the lay-up. Clippers by two.
 Dad: Jason and Rick, when you boys were walking in, did you happen to see the remote control in the yard? Did you look on the roof maybe it was there?
 Dennis: Come on Dave, they haven't lost it yet.
 Me: Would somebody hit him please. He's been saying the same thing since this column started.
 Olajuwon with the turn around, and the Rockets lead by two with seconds to go.
 Me (practicing acupuncture on myself): Ouch! Now watch the Clippers hit a three-pointer from half-court.
 Here we go. Mark Jackson is going to throw the ball in for the Clippers.
 Mom (holding remote control): Is this what you guys have been looking for?
 The official gives it to Jackson and he looks for ..... thank you Thighmaster.
 Mom (pushing the channel button): Did you guys know when I push this button a little red light comes on?
 Me (spontaneously combusting): Boom!
 Rick and Jason: Man that was the best ever. Do it again Dave do it again.
 Dennis: Come on Dave, they haven't lost it yet.
