Cowboys' Newton jailed on DWI charge

CARROLLTON, Texas Dallas Cowboys offensive lineman Nate Newton was released from jail early Wednesday on a DWI charge after his vehicle collided with another car on Inter-

One woman was injured in the wreck late Tuesday night on I-35, Carrollton police said. They said Newton, 31, was uninjured but his 1993 Mercedes 600SL and the second vehicle were damaged extensively.

One witness told investigators that Newton's car was traveling at an estimated 100 mph.

"We have not been able to substantiate that speed," said police Sgt. Robbie Robertson. That's according to a motorist who observed the vehicle.

The Cowboys said the player practiced Wednesday and will play Sunday.

Azinger diagnosed with cancer

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico — Paul Azinger, the PGA champion and second-leading money winner on the PGA Tour, has a form of cancer in his right shoulder but hopes to be hitting golf balls again in about six months.

Doctors said Wednesday that the lymphoma in the bone of Azinger's right shoulder blade is 90 pecent curable and that they expect a full recovery. The overall cure rate for lymphoma is about 50 percent, according to the American Cancer Society.

The lymphoma was discovered after Azinger played the Skins Game during Thanksgiving weekend in obvious pain and with a clearly restricted swing.

He began experiencing pain in his back last month and very nearly withdrew from the Skins "My doctors are very optimistic that they have caught this early enough so that a full and complete recovery is expected,' Azinger said in a statement released Wednesday.
