competition pool, a diving tank, instructional tank and two jacuzzi spas.

There will be a snack bar and video game area on the first floor as well.

An outdoor area will feature another pool, a cool water spa, sand volleyball pits and basketball courts.

"The facility itself is very inviting," Corrington said. "It's very open and exuberant. It will draw students in and get them very involved."

The building will house a few classrooms, but most classes will still be held in G. Rollie White and the Read Building.

Joe Estill, manager of construction for the Department of Facilities Planning and Construction, said construction was slowed by heavy rain earlier this year.

"We've got just a little left on the outside structure," he said. "We feel like its moving along, and we feel that they can pick up the pace."

Estill said once the building is closed in and finishing work inside begins, weather will not be much of a factor.

"In the next three months, the outside skin will be completed," he said.

Corrington said A&M's recreational sports programs currently reach about 50 percent of the student body, and the number will greatly increase with the new facility.

"It will average about one and a half million visits a year," he said.

Corrington is also optimistic about the facility being completed on time.

"I'm pretty confident they will be done, and we'll get this operational by spring 1995."

The center will cost $36 million when equipment and furniture are added.

Klan

The Klansmen spoke in front of a Nazi flag and held up other flags, including the Confederate flag. Several had swastikas on their clothing.

Spence said he wants Lowe and Thomas Robb of Harrison, Ark., national director of the Knights, to step down. He leveled a threat at them Saturday.

"You pick the time, you pick the weapons, and I will take you out," the purple-robed Klansman said.

Earlier Saturday, Spence appeared at a rally in Athens in support of two white law enforcement officers who have drawn criticism from the NAACP for their videotaped arrest of a black man, who was shot while resisting their attempts to subdue him.

BONN.

AN EVENING — OF — MUSICAL BRILLIANCE

The city of Bonn has a definite place in musical history, having reared such geniuses as Beethoven and Schumann. But the city has also adopted the famed Orchester der Beethovenhalle Bonn.

Under the direction of Dennis Russell Davies, the 122-member German orchestra will open its United States tour at Texas A&M University with traditional works by Beethoven, Wagner and more. In addition, world-renowned pianist Vladimir Feltsman will demonstrate why he has been recognized as one of the greatest musical talents of the post-war era.

March 7, 1994 • 8:00 p.m. • Rudder Auditorium

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

UNFORTUNATELY, THIS IS WHERE PEOPLE ARE PUTTING TOO MANY RETIREMENT DOLLARS.

Every year, a lot of people make a huge mistake on their taxes. They don't take advantage of tax deferral and wind up sending Uncle Sam money they could be saving for retirement.

Fortunately, that's a mistake you can easily avoid with TIAA-CREF SRAs. SRAs not only ease your current tax bite, they offer a remarkably easy way to build retirement income—especially for the "extras" that your regular pension and Social Security benefits may not cover. Because your contributions are made in before-tax dollars, you pay less taxes now. And since all earnings on your SRA are tax-deferred as well, the money you don't send to Washington works even harder for you. Down the road, that can make a dramatic difference in your quality of life.

What else makes SRAs so special? A range of allocation choices—from the guaranteed security of TIAA to the diversified investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity—all backed by the nation's number one retirement system.

Why write off the chance for a more rewarding retirement? Call today and learn more about how TIAA-CREF SRAs can help you enjoy many happy returns.

Benefit now from tax deferral. Call our SRA hotline 1 800-842-2733, ext. 8016.

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

CREF certificates are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services. For more complete information, including charges and expenses, call 1 800-842-2733, ext. 8016 for a prospectus. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.
