success for the Lady Aggies is how the top part of his lineup fares as well as improved doubles play.

Freshman Nancy Dingwall and sophomore Wilson Pate are the team's top doubles combination. The duo enters the road trip with a 21-2 overall record and a 2-0 mark in the SWC.

Dingwall, 24-4 in doubles play and 23-7 in singles, is on pace to become the most successful freshman in Texas A&M history.

Her doubles mark is already a freshman school record and if the season ended today, her .857 winning percentage would set another A&M record.

Dingwall and her teammates will play their next four matches, all against SWC teams, on the road before returning home in two weeks to close out the regular season against Texas April 14 and South Carolina April 17.

"If we play at the level we've been, we'll be in good shape,"

- Bobby Kleinicke, head tennis coach

A&M led until the sixth inning when the Lady Roadrunners took the lead.

But the Lady Aggies then rallied together to rally in the seventh inning. Shortstop Jennifer McFalls had a base hit to right field and second baseman Merry Mapp had a single.

Rightfielder Barbi Tucker laid down a sacrifice bunt to advance the runners. Stout delivered a game winning RBI with a base over the third base line to McFalls and Mapp.

In the second game, the Lady Aggies scored first when Stout walked and Catcher Beth Gerber moved Stout to second on a sacrifice bunt. McFalls reached second base on an error by the center fielder as Stout scored.

In the third inning, UTSA's Lara Barnett had a single to right field and Luke reached first on a bunt choice and an error by A&M's baseman Gina Perez.

First baseman Mya Trueblood had a home run in the fifth inning, give the Lady Aggies the lead in what they never looked back.

No. 22 men's tennis challenges ranking, FSU this weekend

By Nick Georgandis

Despite losing their first match on March 26 to the fourth-ranked University of Texas squad, the Texas A&M men's tennis team became the 22nd-ranked team in the country, and will try to improve that ranking this weekend.

Friday, the Aggies will host Florida State, with whom A&M including a stellar 13-3 this spring.

As big a jump as the pair has already made, they are expected to move up even higher because of their upset of UT's Chad Clark and Trey Phillips, the second-ranked doubles pair in the nation.

Weaver, the 1993 SWC Player of the Year, continues to lead the Aggies with consistent brilliance.

"Everything starts with Mark Weaver... but we've gotten good play from everyone."

- David Kent, head men's tennis coach shares its No. 22, at 1:30 p. m. at the Omar Smith Tennis Center.

Saturday the team will go right back to work as they host former Southwest Conference rival Arkansas and its highly ranked singles player Marcus Hilbert.

A&M senior Mark Weaver improved his singles' rank to 25th in the nation this week.

He has compiled a 22-8 record this year, including 12-4 this spring.

The doubles team of Weaver and senior Bernardo Martinez jumped from 34th to 29th in the national doubles rankings. The duo is 19-8 this season, in-

Head tennis coach David Kent said that while his top player is the straw that stirs the Aggie drink, all of the players have done their parts this season.

"Everything starts with Mark Weaver at the top of the line-up, but we've gotten good play from everyone," Kent said. "This is a very unselfish team, and they do whatever it takes to win. This team wasn't ranked very high in the preseason rankings, but they have really come together this spring."

The Aggies (15-1 overall, 1-1 in the SWC) will return to SWC play next weekend when they travel to Baylor and Southern Methodist.
