Help a student learn to read

Bryan Independent School District

As a HOSTS volunteer you work one on one with a child who has difficulty in reading. You do not need teaching experience, only the desire to help a child to learn. You can make a difference in a child's life by giving only 30 minutes once a week. Training and materials are provided. HOSTS is located on five elementary campuses: Jones, Bonham, Kemp, Navarro and Fannin.

To volunteer, contact Maria at 361-5212 or come by our table located in the MSC on tuesday or wednesday.

wrap up in full winter gear because the bleachers were covered with snow and the wind whipped through our stadium with fearsome speed; despite that we had to bring thermoses full of hot chocolate just to make it through the game, they were fun.

They were at night, after all. The weather didn't matter. I would have attended anything, just as long as it was under the lights.

There is something electric about playing at night. Feelings are intensified, the air is charged — it is just a lot more fun.

Part of the excitement of the t.u. game last season was that it was played after dark.

And the Louisville game — why do I remember it so fondly, and clearly?

Because I wasn't suffering from heatstroke. It was a night game.

Part of the excitement of Midnight Yell is that it takes place at Midnight. Would people still turn out for Noon Yell? Would it be any fun?

Well, of course it would, but it would lack the extra oomph that comes with the dark. There is something special about playing under the lights.

Unfortunately, we won't get to experience that something at Kyle Field this season. All of our home games are during the afternoon. And in Texas that simply isn't very safe. It may make for increased pop sales but it isn't good for us to be dehydrated and overheated.

I will agree that a crisp fall afternoon is also great weather for a football game but most of our home games are in September and October.

Crisp and fall don't enter our vocabulary until November and by then, we only have one home game left.

It would wonderful if the athletic department could take advantage of this once in a lifetime (we hope) opportunity.

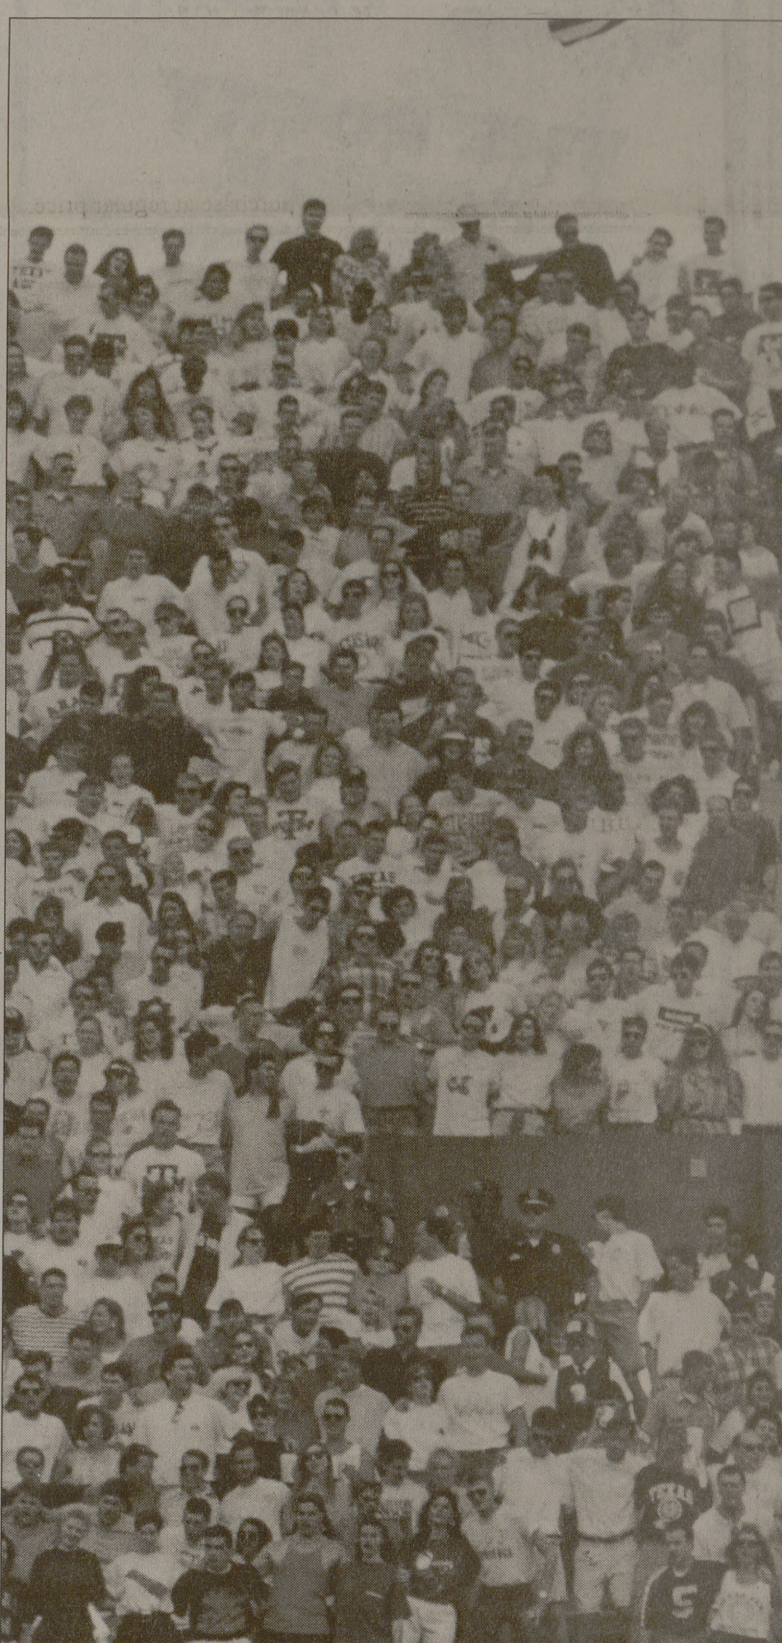

Do what we want while we can. Change the time of our games so that we can enjoy them under the lights, at night. Change them so that we don't have to worry about heat exhaustion.

Let's make our 100th year of football as fun as possible for everyone. Let's play at night!

Aggie Fact

September 10, 1977

Behind strong running by George Woodard (150 yards) and Curtis Dickey (139 yards), the No. 9-ranked Aggies demolish Kansas 28-14, in the season opener at Kyle Field.

Get the home field advantage with the 12th Man Checking Account

First American Bank knows the demands of college usually don't leave you a lot of time to worry about your banking needs. But we also know that cashing checks can sometimes be a hassle for students, especially when your money is in an out-of-town bank. That's why we designed the 12th Man Checking Account especially with Aggies in mind.

Using 12th Man Checking, you'll have the home field advantage that comes with using a local bank. And, with our five locations around the Bryan-College Station area, banking convenience is just around the corner.

But the benefits don't stop there. Unlike many other accounts, 12th Man Checking has no specified monthly minimum balance and requires an opening minimum of only $100. You'll also have quick access to your cash 24 hours a day with your First American Bank MPACT card.

So give the 12th Man Checking Account a try. It'll definitely give you the home field advantage.
