among boys than is true for girls," Wilson-Sadberry said. This trend is changing now that teachers are more aware of the needs of their students, she said.

"We hope because there is more knowledge, the teachers are more conscientious of the exposure they are giving to boys and girls," she said. "If girls are more reluctant, avenues are opened in more direct ways from the standpoint of engaging the girls in exercises and opportunities."

This additional encouragement, she said, can help girls in their future educational experiences.

The study of medical students' performance surveyed more than 10,000 medical students. The studies indicated that in 1988, 89.9 percent of white men passed the test. In contrast, 84.1 percent of white women passed while 78.9 percent of Asian-Pacific Islander women passed; 55.8 percent of Hispanic women passed; and 44 percent of black women passed.

through class, it hit me. The steamroller was back on the prowl, relentless in its torture of my poor body.

Lightheaded and drowsy, I slowly slithered like a drunken snake to my Latin class. The 50 minutes seemed to last an eternity. The steamroller was getting the best of me. Two and half hours later, after missing my final two classes of the day, I was fast asleep in my germ ridden, queen sized bed.

The curse of Coach Lombardi? Would all have been different had I taken time to readmore? The day ended up being a lost one. Not much studying and too much sleep. Not a Lombardi-esque day.

Tuesday... I woke up late, however, I was feeling better. On the shuttle bus journey to school, I cracked open "Motivation Lombardi Style." The book, a collection of quotations by and about Lombardi and his ability to inspire, began to have a profound effect on me.

Had I been a baby about my cold?(Hell yes!Ed) Could I have made it through the day and persevered? Lombardi could have.

He was the driving force behind the Green Bay Packers, winners of Super Bowls I and II. Arguably the greatest head coach in NFL history, Lombardi obviously left behind a legacy that included much more than just two Super Bowl rings.

Not only is Vince Lombardi football, he is people. Be you a football player, a student, or whatever, his "Lombardisms" live on to this day, serving to inspire all, even the feeble and weak minded like myself...

"The quality of a person's life is in direct proportion to their commitment to excellence, regardless to their chosen field of endeavor."

TCU's Davis, A&M's Allen

get SWC honors

FORT WORTH (AP) — A year ago, running back Andre Davis scored four touchdowns and a pivotal 2-point conversion in Texas Christian's 35-34 victory over New Mexico.

So, what could he do for an encore?

How about two more touchdowns, one a record-setting 87-yard romp, and a staggering 325 yards rushing, the third best total in Southwest Conference history?

"It hasn't really hit me yet," laughed Davis Tuesday, three days after the Horned Frogs raced to a 44-29 verdict over the Lobos in Albuquerque Saturday night.

"But I feel pretty good." The Associated Press honored Davis as the offensive player of the week for his 325-yard performance, which, incredibly, was not a school record.

Texas A&M's Dennis Allen, who had two interceptions in the Aggies' 36-14 victory over Oklahoma, was named SWC defensive player of the week.

Tony Jeffery rushed for 343 yards in a 48-31 victory over Tulane in 1986.

Davis, a 5-foot-10, 184-pound junior from Longview, admitted he was a bit happy and more than a little excited about his New Mexico caper. But, he said, there was a downside.

"It overshadowed the tremendous job the entire offensive unit did," he said.

Indeed, quarterback Max Knake passed for 36 yards and two touchdowns and receiver Chris Brasfield caught six of those tosses for 150 yards, including a 62-yarder for a touchdown.

Help a student learn to read

Bryan Independent School District

As a HOSTS volunteer you work one on one with a child who has difficulty in reading. You do not need teaching experience, only the desire to help a child to learn. You can make a difference in a child's life by giving only 30 minutes once a week. Training and materials are provided. HOSTS is located on five elementary campuses: Jones, Bonham, Kemp, Navarro and Fannin.

To volunteer, contact Maria at 361-5212 or come by our table located in the MSC on tuesday or wednesday.
