Wood makes transition to coaching

SPORTS

Former Aggie volleyball star joins staff as student assistant coach Jason Holstead

THE BATTALION

Page 8 • THE BATTALION

The 1994 Texas A&M vollevball team has a familiar face on the sideline this year.

After completing a outstanding four-year volleyball playing career at Texas A&M last season, Genny Wood stepped "outside the lines" to become a part of the 1994 coaching staff as a student assistant coach.

Wood, a sports management major from San Antonio, said her role as a student assistant involves a diverse range of responsibilities.

"My role is to be active in the practices, going up to each player and trying to help them with their technical skills," Wood said. "If they (the players) have questions, they will ask me for my opinion.

"In games, I keep track of passing in transition (statistics), and where we get our kills.

Wood, who developed into one of the best defensive players in the Southwest Conference last year, said sometimes it has been difficult to switch from being a player to a coach.

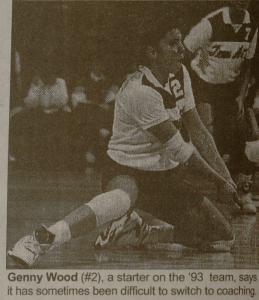

"It's difficult at times for me because sometimes I just want to put on the uniform and go out there and play myself," Wood said. "But I think I've adjusted well to it because I've realized that I'm not a player anymore and my role is to help out the team as much as I can."

Wood, a three-year starter for the Lady Aggies, led the team in digs for three consecutive seasons and was ranked in the top eight in the SWC for dig average for three straight years.

As a senior, she was ranked second in the SWC with a 3.37 dig average and helped lead the team to a second-round appearance in the 1993 NCAA tournament.

When comparing the 1993 and 1994 volleyball teams, Wood said this year's team is talented and only lacks game experience.

"Last year, we had four seniors on the team, (so) we were experienced in that way, but we weren't experienced with them(the new coaching staff), "Wood said. "(In terms of volleyball) skills, this year's team is great.

"Their youth and (game) experience are the only things that are really lacking, because their talent level is so high."

Head coach Laurie Corbelli said Wood brings several of her "playing traits" to the coaching side of volleyball.

"Her (volleyball) smarts that she had on the court (in terms of) her anticipation, when you have that as a coach, you can share that with your play-ers," Corbelli said. "I think she also brings enthusiasm and a youthful spirit to the team. "She is very steady (emotionally), and I think she brings that to the team because she there everyday ready to coach the team.'

Wood, who is scheduled to graduate in May, 1995, plans to coach a club team during the upcoming spring semester. After graduation, she hopes to find a coaching position on the college level.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) --- The San Antonio Spurs, saying they will not tolerate Dennis Rodman's outbursts, suspended the star forward without pay Tuesday, one day after he was ejected from his team's final exhibition game.

"We're just trying to get his attention as best we can," coach Bob Hill said. "We've pretty much planted our feet on the kind of team we want to have ... He needs to become a part of that.'

Spurs general manager Gregg Popovich said team officials will decide soon on the length of the suspension. He will be suspended at least in the third quarter. through Friday's season opener against Golden State.

"Making it indefinite will not fly," Popovich said. "That's just something that we can't do legally. So we've got to decide how ward him and one of the officials. "I thought it was directed at long the suspension should be." Rodman, 33, who led the me, the official thought it was

"He's suspended without ice. But those are the kind of pay," Popovich said. "If you were things we've just got to try and stay away from. He was fined $15,000 for not showing up on time for an exhibition game against Milwaukee on Oct. 20. Rodman had not been expected to play in that game because of back trouble.

Rodman said he considered the fine excessive and told a national television reporter, "If they want to trade me they can. That's just business.

Hill was hired this summer to replace John Lucas, who left to coach at Philadelphia. Popovich also joined the Spurs as general manager over the summer.

"I think Dennis's future is in Dennis's hands," Popovich said. "I'm sincerely hoping that will bring him back to the "It's not that it was going to fold. If it doesn't happen, it hurt anybody. It was a bag of doesn't happen."

> The downward spiral of one of the most ballyhooed programs in the history of college football continued in 1987, the first year of the otherwise forgettable David McWilliams era. McWilliams' Horns did go 7-5 in his rookie season, beating Pitt in the Bluebonnet Bowl 32-27, and finishing the year ranked 19th in the nation. Solace for the Longhorns with a Bluebonnet Bowl victory, and a ranking among the nation's second tier?

Hard to believe, but six years removed from a post-season victory, U.T. boosters were nonetheless hopeful for future promise.

Back to back losing seasons almost cost McWilliams his Longhorn life, however, a 10-2 1990 season merely postponed the inevitable. The Aggies' recent dominance over the Horns was temporarily halted, and Texas, for the last time, was back in Dallas on New Years' Day. The celebration, however, was short lived, as the mighty Miami Hurricanes rolled to a 46-3 victory. The Longhorns' per formance in the Cotton Bowl was a sign of things to come.

Two and a half seasons and no bowl appearances later, another coaching change appears to be on the horizon in Austin, as a return to past glory for the orange and white remains on hold.
