Milteer, a wealthy member of the White Citizens Council in Georgia.

During a meeting in Miami on Nov. 5, 1963, Milteer says Kennedy is a "marked man," according to the police transcript. Kay had played the tape for The Associated Press three years ago.

When Somerset asks how an assassination would be done, the transcript says Milteer replied, "From an office building ... with a high-powered rifle." He explains that it would be easy to take a gun in pieces into an office building. And he dismisses Somerset's concern that an assassination would cause a furor.

"Hell, they'll pick up somebody within hours after, if anything like that would happen ... just to throw the public off," Milteer says on the tape.

Although Kay says he rushed the tape to the FBI, the information was never revealed in the Warren Commission Report on the assassination. There is no indication Milteer was interrogated until five days after the assassination. He professed no knowledge of the plot, the Miami police files say.

Neither Milteer nor Somerset was ever called by the Warren Commission. Both are now dead.

Federal authorities and congressional investigators reviewed the tape in the 1960s and 1970s, but never reported finding any link with the Kennedy assassination.

According to the police files, Somerset and Milteer met in Jacksonville, Fla., the day after the assassination, when Oswald was being held by Dallas police.

Milteer wouldn't tell Somerset how he knew of a plot beforehand, but said there was "a lot of money" involved and that Oswald would not disclose anything, Somerset related.

"He will just not say anything, and nobody has any worry," Somerset quoted Milteer as saying, according to his police debriefing.

Physics Society, said the study of radiation is important, as nuclear medicine is a growing field.

"Radiation is used because it is easy to find once it is in the body," Bolch said. "Extremely small quantities can be given to the patient, and they will not experience a massive dose of radiation exposure."

Radiation experiments are not conducted on humans anymore, but scientists are studying those who have been exposed to radiation accidentally to help the nuclear industry, Bolch said.

"A lot of what we have been learning has come from accidents," he said. "By studying the survivors of the Japan bombing and those exposed from Chernobyl, we can really benefit."
