By Alvaro Retailers report strong holiday weekend

(AP) The first weekend of 1994 Christmas shopping was a blast for retailers, their customers as consumers scooped up jewelry, big-screen TVs and other top-dollar items.

Several retailers said business was better than expected Friday and Saturday, with shoppers looking for frills even they searched for value.

The weekend's strong results, which indicated consumers are more relaxed this year about spending freely on Christmas, augured well for the rest of the season.

At Sears, Roebuck and Co., "1994 was the best two-day Thanksgiving effort in our history," said John Costello, senior executive vice president of marketing. Sears had strong sales across a wide range of categories, including jewelry and wide-screen TVs.

At R.H. Macy & Co., sales for all of Thanksgiving week were up about 7 percent, gain chairman Myron E. Ullman III described as "pretty good."

Fine jewelry and men's sportswear were particularly good performers, rising by double-digit percentages from year earlier.

Women's sportswear, which lagged throughout the fall because the weather was warm, picked up now that the weather has turned cold, Ullman said.

Smaller stores also did well. The International Council of Shopping Centers said sales from specialty stores at 26 malls around the country rose 10 percent Friday.

"We were looking at a great season. We didn't know it was going to be quite this good," said John Konarski, the trade group's research director.

Jewelry sales were very strong, rising an unexpected 17.7 percent, Konarski said. He noted "people defer this kind of purchase" if they're uncertain about the economy and their own finances.

Companies that track sales also reported gains.

MasterCard said it authorized $726.6 million in sales Friday, up 36.2 percent from a year ago. And TeleCheck Services Inc., used by retailers to help approve consumer checks, reported sales paid for by checks rose 5.7 percent Friday from year earlier.
